LOW COMEDY MILAN

The Mercenary Adventurer Will Command the Shah's Cavalry.

TRUE STORY OF SERVIA'S BARGAIN WITH THE EX-KING.

English Army Officers Retired by Court-Martial—English Elections—Balfour's Prediction—French Miners Growing Desperate—Obsequies in Honor of Lord Lytton—Parisian Gossip—Foreign.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—Many stories are told in connection with the recent renunciation by ex-King Milan of all his rights in Servia and his position in the Servian army, but it is a question whether any of these stories contain more than a grain of truth. La Paix to-day has a story which, if true, shows that there was no foundation for the rumors that the reason for the ex-King's action was his desire not to be trammeled with the cares of State and to be able to spend his time in Paris. By the terms of his abdication in favor of his son Alexander, now the boy ruler of Servia, it was provided that in the event of the death of King Alexander Milan would return as King of Servia. By the renunciation of his legal rights in Servia upon the payment to him of a lump sum of money, literally selling of his birthright, Milan gave up all claim to the throne. La Paix's story has it that the Shah of Persia has appointed Milan Commander of the Persian Cavalry. It adds that the ex-King will shortly proceed to Teheran, the capital of Persia, to organize the cavalry forces of the Shah.

BALFOUR'S PROPHECY.

HE DECLARES IRELAND WILL NEVER HAVE A SEPARATE PARLIAMENT.

GLASGOW, Nov. 28.—The Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, who visited this city for the purpose of being installed as Rector of the University, being the principal speaker at a Conservative meeting held here, declared very positively that Ireland would never attain her desire to have a Parliament in Dublin. In the course of his remarks Mr. Balfour said the differences which separate the Conservative and Liberal parties are more profound at the present time than they have ever been before in the memory of two generations of British statesmen. He declared that during the last five years the Unionists had had to fight for principles which were heretofore supposed to be under the guardianship of both parties. The Unionists, he said, would ever be found on the side of order and loyalty. They would deal with crime promptly and effectively. They believed that society was founded on certain principles of law and morality, and that if in obedience to political inducements they relaxed their hold on these principles, they would do the country the most profound injury.

Later in his speech Mr. Balfour said that whatever the success of the Government's policy in Ireland it at any rate had been a sincere policy. The first duty of the Government was to see that the laws were obeyed, and by wise administration and a lavish expenditure of money to endeavor to increase the happiness of the people in every part of Her Majesty's dominions. In conclusion Mr. Balfour declared that no matter what the future might bring forth it would never bring home rule to Ireland.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

A UNIONIST ELECTED IN EAST DORSET—LIBERAL GAINS.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The election for a member of Parliament to represent East Dorset, to succeed the late Mr. C. H. Bond, Conservative, has resulted in a Unionist victory. The vote was as follows: The Hon. Humphrey Sturt (Unionist), 4,421; the Hon. Pascoe C. Glynn (Gladstone Liberal), 4,070; Unionist majority, 351. At the last election Mr. Bond, Conservative, received 4,317 votes to 3,662 votes received by the Hon. P. C. Glynn, Home Ruler. There are about 9,800 registered electors in the division of East Dorset, which went Liberal in 1885 by a majority of 697 and Tory in the following year by a majority of 8[illegible].

The Liberals, it may be added, have been very successful in recent elections in constituencies in which changes occurred at the last general election. On this occasion the Liberals lost seventy-nine seats. Of these eight have since been recovered, and the Liberals have recovered six—North St. Pancras, North Bucks, Carnarvon District, Norwich, Loughborough and Stowmarket. In the Seventh, South Dorset, the Liberals were beaten by only forty votes.

In addition, three of the seats which the Liberals gained at the general election have since become vacant and the Liberals have retained them all, namely: The Exchange division of Liverpool, Leith, Elgin and Nairn. Finally, it will be recalled, at South Molton on Nov. 14 the Liberals won another victory, the Gladstonian candidate, Mr. Lambert, being returned by a majority of 1,212 over the "Dissentient" Liberal Unionist, Mr. Buller, the result of the polling being 4,222 votes for Mr. Lambert and 3,101 for Mr. Buller. At the previous election at South Molton Lord Lymington (recently elevated to the peerage on the death of Lord Portsmouth) received 4,041 votes to 2,822 received by Mr. W. H. Walker, a Home Ruler. The Hon. Pascoe E. Glynn, the defeated Gladstonian candidate for East Dorset, is the gentleman who successfully contested that seat in 1885, but who was defeated by Mr. Bond, the Conservative.

ARMY OFFICERS CASHIERED.

RESULT OF THE INQUIRY INTO THE MASSACRE AT MANIPUR.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The names of Capts. Boileau and Butcher have been removed from the list of officers in the British army, as the result of a long inquiry into their action at the time of the massacre at Manipur, on March 28 last, when Chief Commissioner James W. Quinton, Agent St. C. Grimwood, Col. Skene, in command of the Commissioner's Goorkha escort, and a number of British officers, together with nearly five hundred native soldiers in the British service were killed. Chief Commissioner Quinton, it will be remembered, had been investigating some serious troubles which had occurred among the chiefs at Manipur, and was holding a durbar or conference with the chiefs with the view, it was afterward shown, of arresting the most turbulent, those who had previously deposed the Rajah of Manipur. The Manipur chiefs, however, got wind of the Commissioner's intentions and suddenly the British residency and the Goorkha camp were fiercely attacked by Manipuris, who killed 470 of the Goorkha escort in addition to a number of British officers and civilian officials. It was upon this occasion that Mrs. Grimwood, the wife of Political Agent Grimwood, escaped in company with Capts. (then lieutenants) Boileau and Butcher and others from the general massacre and made her way, after enduring terrible hardship, to Lakhipur.

The investigation shows that Capts. Boileau and Butcher failed to do their duty after Col. Skene was killed, it being inferred, from the brief statement just issued from the Horse Guards, that the disgraced officers might have rallied the Goorkhas and have turned the tide of battle against the rebellious natives.

LYTTON OBSEQUIES.

THE PARISIAN WORLD OF LITERATURE AND ART HONOR HIS MEMORY.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—The obsequies of the Right Hon. Edward Bulwer Lytton, the British Ambassador at Paris, who died suddenly in this city on Tuesday last were held to-day in the English church. The ceremonies, which were very impressive, were attended by an immense number of people. Among those present besides the family of the dead statesman and author were many of his personal friends, men who have won high positions in the literary world, all the members of the diplomatic corps at present in Paris and a large number of the members of the French Senate.

The church was crowded in every part by those who had gathered to pay their last token of love and esteem to the man who had so long been a favorite in the political, social, literary and artistic worlds of the French capital. Hundreds of persons were unable to gain admission to the church, and they contented themselves with reverently baring their heads as the body of the Earl of Lytton was carried past them.

The celebrated French painter, M. Leon Bonnat, has just finished a portrait of the Earl and this picture was placed upon an easel which stood at the head of the casket as it laid in the church.

After the services at the church the body was conveyed to the railroad station en route for England, where it will be interred. The route followed by the cortege from the church to the railway station was lined by 6,500 troops, who had been detailed for this duty by the French government.

Five thousand persons have called at the British embassy and inscribed their names as a mark of respect to the dead ambassador.

A DESPERATE SITUTION.

THREATENING ATTITUDE OF STRIKING FRENCH MINERS—PARIS NEWS.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—A dispatch at noon to-day from Lens, in the Pas-de-Calais, the center of the mining district, where about 40,000 miners are out on a strike, says that the situation is growing more desperate hourly. The strikers are openly threatening to use dynamite as an argument in their favor if the companies do not soon come to their terms. It is expected that Dr. Paul LaFargue, the newly elected Socialist deputy for Lillie, will arrive in the strike district to-day or to-morrow. It is said that the Perfect of the Pas-de-Calais has received instructions to cause his arrest if he incites the strikers to violence.

At the meeting to-day of the International Emigrant Commission, at the Hotel Des Societes Savantes, M. Jules Simon presiding, a resolution providing for international protection of emigrants was adopted.

Maj. Frederick Brackett, special foreign agent of the United States to the conference, during the discussion of the resolution, referred to, dwelt at length upon the care and protection afforded to emigrants in the United States and denied that they were subjected to any ill-treatment at the barge office or elsewhere in New York. Continuing Maj. Brackett fully described and warmly praised the new emigration depot at Ellis Island, paying particular attention to the medical and sanitary arrangements at the new landing place for emigrants.

The Temps, commenting on the Mongolian insurrection, says that whatever decisions the other powers may take, France cannot and will not abandon her interests in the East. The Temps hopes that Chinese diplomacy will not succeed in sowing among the powers a feeling of discord that might affect their diplomatic action, as it hopes them to find means to exercise an efficient influence at Pekin.

The Railways Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, has appoved a bill to extend the railways in Southern Algeria to Tunis. It is believed that this railway extension will furnish effective means to subdue the tribes harrassing the frontier.

GENERAL FOREIGN.

THE CZAR EN ROUTE TO ST. PETERSBURG—NEWS IN BRIEF.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 28.—The imperial family have started from the Crimea on their return journey to this city. Crowds of ragged and starving peasants wait at the stations along the route to present petitions to the Czar imploring help. The Gendarmes are unable to prevent the people from assembling. Reports from some of the famine-stricken provinces say that the peasants are burning the hay and straw of their landlords.

The Russian Government now perceives the disadvantage, if not folly, of pouring forth millions for famine relief before winter is well begun. The realization of this want of foresight has resulted in efforts to restrain and regulate relief contributions, but it is now too late to resort to restraint, and action in that direction will only have the effect of inciting the famished peasants to revolt.

The latest news from Saratoff and Kazan is to the effect that famine and typhus are increasing. The Government has added large districts in Korsk to the famine list. Five thousand horses and 8,000 cattle have been slaughtered in Veronesh in one month on account of the lack of fodder.

A BELSHAZZAR FEAST.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—In a speech delivered at Wolverhampton, Rt. Hon. J. H. Morley, Liberal member of Parliament for New Castle upon Tyne, described the recent Conservative banquets as "Balshazzar's feasts," and said that the writing was plainly visible on the wall. The speeches of Lord Hartington, Mr. Goschen and Mr. Chamberlain, continued Mr. Morley, proved that the Tories had captured and absorbed the Unionists.

CHOSE THEIR MASTERS.

TANGIER, Nov. 28.—At a meeting of various tribes in the Oasis of Touat, the possession of which is disputed by France and Morocco, it was decided to accept the protection of Morocco in order to insure the independence of the tribes and to save them from French aggression.

MARCHING ON PEKIN.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—A dispatch from Shanghai says that the rebels have captured Chao-Vang, and this message confirms the news cabled to the effect that the rebels are marching on Pekin.

The rebels are receiving reinforcements every day and now form a wild and dangerous army of desperate men.

DON'T LIKE CRITICISM.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 28.—There is expressed in certain quarters here the feeling that Mexico should resent what are considered attacks on this Republic published in certain American newspapers and also resent the publication in the United States of revolutionary news from Mexico.

BRIEF BITS.

M. De Giers, the Russian Foreign Minister, speaking at the banquet given to him in Berlin, declared that he was anxious to retire from public duty, but the Czar wished him to retain office.

MURDER MOST FOUL.

A Farmer's Wife Dies in Defense of Her Honor.

LOUIS HARRISON, THE ALLEGED CRIMINAL, UNDER ARREST.

Badger Workers Taken In—College Funds Disappear—A Drunken Father's Brutality to His Helpless Family—The Eden Musee Mourns the Disappearance of Gurgens—Minor Criminal Matters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A woman has been murdered in Atlantic Highlands and armed men are searching the surrounding country for the murderer. Near the outskirts of the village, upon a small farm, lives Charles T. Leonard, his wife and three children. The husband, besides cultivating the farm, occasionally works for his neighbors. Yesterday a farmer living some distance away sent for Leonard to help him kill some hogs. Leonard left early in the morning. When he returned late in the afternoon he found his children crying near the house. "We can't find mamma anywhere," they said when they saw him. Mr. Leonard thought at first that his wife had gone out to call upon a neighbor. When he asked his children how long the mother had been gone all they could say was, "Mamma went out a long time ago." He waited and waited, but she did not come. The dishes were on the table and the water in the kettles upon the stove was cold. Leonard grew alarmed and began to search the premises. At last he found her horribly mutilated body at some distance from the house. A small rope was fastened in a tight noose around her neck. The cord had sunk deep into the flesh and the face was discolored and distorted. One side of the woman's head was crushed in. The murderer had struck her upon the head, and then fearing that she might still live, went to the clothes line, cut off a few yards, formed a slip noose and drew it tight about her neck.

When the husband realized that his wife had been murdered he hurried to the nearest neighbor and gave the alarm. A crowd of farmers and villagers rushed to the scene. Some laboring men who were working in the neighborhood of the Leonard farm remembered that they had seen a farm hand named Louis Harrison that afternoon not far from Leonard's house. He had blood upon his clothes and hands, they said. Many of the neighbors are killing hogs at this season and it is not an uncommon sight to see a farmer with blood upon his clothes, so the men said nothing to Harrison, who was walking rapidly up the road. As soon as the villagers heard the story they decided that the blood upon Harrison's clothes and hands was human blood. They went to the place where he had been working, but he was not there and the people knew nothing of his whereabouts. The railroad station was watched. Telegrams were sent out with a description of Harrison and horsemen were sent out over the country roads in all directions. Up to midnight Harrison had not been found.

Little is known about Harrison in Atlantic Highlands. He is a native of Loraine, and a short time ago went to work on a farm in the village. He is described as about 30 years old, 6 feet high, dark, with gray eyes. The murdered woman was 25 years old. It is not believed that she had any enemies among the villagers, and the general belief is that the murderer assaulted her, and, becoming frightened at her resistance, killed her. The Coroner will hold an inquest to-day.

Word was received here this morning that Constable Johnson had arrested the murderer, Louis Hariot, on board the steamboat Minnie Cornell at Keyport, upon which he intended to leave for New York. Late last night the Coroner of Navesink commenced the inquest. The jury was selected and the body viewed by them. A contusion was found on the forehead, which had evidently been inflicted by what is known as a fish-plate joint, used in the construction of railroad tracks. A rope was found wound tightly around the neck. The woman's face was almost unrecognizable on account of the discoloration. Mrs. Leonard was highly respected. Her maiden name was Grover. She was 38 years of age and had three children.

Hariot, the murderer, is a native of Loraine, and about 22 years of age. It is evident that he attempted to outrage Mrs. Leonard and that, the woman resisting, he struck her with the piece of railroad iron referred to and then strangled her with the rope.

COLLEGE FUNDS MISSING.

THE FEMALE PRINCIPAL DISCHARGED FOR KLEPTOMANIACAL TENDENCIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Mrs. E. S. West, who for six years was the lady principal of Rutger's Female College at No. 56 West Fifty-fifth street, and who for a much longer period has been regarded as the personification of goodness, stands convicted by her own confession of converting the funds of the college to her own use. There is proof that by most original and unique methods she has taken more than $3,000 which should have gone in the treasury of the institution. But the aggregate loss through her is known to be much greater, although the exact amount cannot be stated. Certain, it is, however, that the drains upon its resources were so heavy that the life of the college was actually menaced at one time. The discovery was made recently that Mrs. West had taken $300 from the primary funds. When confronted with the facts she denied having taken the money and offered to resign, but at the same time she made so plausible an explanation that a majority of the trustees were inclined to regard her action as an error rather than a fault, and she was allowed to retain her position. After this discovery there were more developments. They came so rapidly that they trod upon each other's heels, and finally on Oct. 7 last the lady principal was summoned before a meeting of the trustees and summarily dismissed. "I am now waiting," Mrs. West says, "the leadings of Providence regarding my future movements." Dr. George W. Sampson, the President of the college, admitted yesterday that Mrs. West's connection with it had ended for the above reasons. He said he was inclined to regard her as a sort of kleptomaniac. He was reluctant to talk about the matter, for all relations between her and the institution had ceased when she left it.

A HIGHBINDER VICTIM.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—The highbinder feud, which has been raging in Chinatown for some time, resulted in another murder last night. Ah Wah Keong, a cigarmaker, was shot and killed, and before he died he identified Ah Sing, who had been arrested on suspicion as the man who shot him. It is probable that more murders will follow, as Chinese societies kill man for man and the police anticipate a general battle.

A DRUNKARD'S BRUTALITY.

WEST BRANCH, Mich., Nov. 28.—Three miles north of here in a small clearing lives James Benson, a rough lumberman with his wife and three children. He has always treated his family shamefully, but his latest mode of punishment exceeds all former for brutality and has resulted in his confinement in the County jail and numerous threats of lynching by his enraged neighbors. Lately Benson came home in an intoxicated condition and immediately raised a disturbance because his wife had not supper prepared. He knocked the woman insensible. Then procuring a long clothes line he bound her firmly to a heavy bedstead. His three children, aged 1, 7 and 6, respectively, were treated in a similar manner. Then he locked up the house and returned to his debauch. His wife and three children remained bound for twenty-four hours, when passing neighbors heard their cries and released them. They are all in a serious condition and their wrists and ankles are raw from the pressure of the rope. The youngest child will probably die.

IN SELF-DEFENSE.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 28.—A quarrel of six months' standing ended yesterday with the death of one of the parties to it. Some time ago charges were preferred against Wm. P. Parker, Captain, and F. B. Glenn, a Sergeant of Police, which were carried into the City Council. Glenn resigned but Parker held on. Finally the Council abolished his office and the abolition took effect yesterday. Parker was drinking heavily up to yesterday and met in front of the City Hall George Albright, a policeman, who had testified against him. Parker drew his pistol and placing it against the man pulled the trigger, but struck a defective cartridge. He then struck the man over the head with the weapon. Albright implored him not to commit murder, but Parker swore to kill him. Then Albright drew his pistol, and as Parker raised his pistol again Albright shot three times. He is very much disturbed over what has occurred, but all witnesses testified that there was nothing else for him to do.

DEFAULTER JURGENS HAS FLED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Ernest A. Jurgens, ex-Manager of the Eden Musee, who, in company with his assistant, M. F. Reynolds, was forced to resign his position a month ago under charges of alleged defalcation, has fled the country. Manager Crane, who succeeded Jurgens, said last night that Jurgens had fled, and that his defalcation would amount to $15,000, or in that neighborhood. M. F. Reynolds, who was alleged by Jurgens to be involved in the matter, is still in the city. He denied all charges of dishonesty on his part, and said that he would make a statement at the meeting of the Musee directors, which occurs next month.

LOTTERY OFFICIALS UNDER BOND.

HURON, S. D., Nov. 28.—A telegram from New Orleans to Weston Sterling, United States District Attorney of this city, says that the officers and directors of the Louisiana State Lottery, against whom indictments were returned at the recent term of court at Sioux Falls, have been required to give $2,000 bail each to appear at Sioux Falls at the next term of court for trial. A writ of removal was granted by the District Judge, but he refused to make it for trial at the December trial, as requested by Attorney Sterling. Many of them have given bonds for their appearance.

INCENDIARY IN CUSTODY.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 28.—The mysterious fire which destroyed the house of Mrs. Jas. Kines near Calverton has been unraveled. Detectives working on the case suspected a farm hand named Lee Halpin, who had reported the fire from a distance. He was arrested and brought here. On the way he confessed that to secure money he murdered Mrs. Kines with a billet of wood, and then to keep the three children quiet he killed them the same way. The next day he set fire to the house to hide the crime.

WITH AN AX AND HATCHET.

LIMA, O., Nov. 28.—Joseph Wolph and John Miller, two farmers, fought to the death at Wapakoneta yesterday, the trouble being a dispute over line a fence. A week ago Wolph built a fence on a line with Miller's barn to keep his stock on his farm. Wolph asserted that the fence was exactly on the boundary line. Miller armed himself with an ax and commenced to demolish the fence, when Wolph appeared with a hatchet and a fight ensued. Their skulls were broken. It is impossible for either of the men to recover.

RIOTING RAILROAD MEN.

ST. MARYS, O., Nov. 28.—A riot which will cost the lives of three men, and perhaps five, occurred at Yorkville on the Chicago & Erie road yesterday. The trouble was between a crew of trainmen and a car-load of Italian laborers. They have been trying to get at each other for some time, and yesterday succeeded. Missiles and weapons of every kind were used, and when the fight was over three Italians were found badly hurt. Two brakemen were wounded.

KILLED HIS BROTHER.

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 28.—James Hanley, 25 years of age, stabbed and killed his young brother, Patrick, late Thursday night. The killing occurred in the kitchen and the slayer immediately fled. When their sister, who had gone to the city to bring Patrick some linen so he could accompany her to a wedding, returned, she found him dead on the kitchen floor, almost hacked to pieces. James was arrested yesterday and placed in jail.

A VILLAINOUS TRAMP ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Frederick Albrecht of Hackensack was assaulted by a tramp yesterday who struck her and knocked her down. Just as he did so she screamed and a lineman near by came up. The tramp showed fight and the lineman yelled for help. The tramp was then chased a quarter of a mile and almost beaten to death. He was finally lodged in jail very badly damaged.

MADE FALSE ENTRIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—William Cutajar, a customs broker, is under arrest for making false entries, by which he is charged with having defrauded the Government out of about $50,000.

MINOR CRIMES.

Lorenzo Perez, a Mexican, was hanged late yesterday afternoon at Midland, Tex., for murder.

George Moxey (colored) was lynched yesterday at Many, La., by a mob. Moxey was charged with criminal assault on a little white girl.

The trial of Col. Geo. H. Snyder for killing his wife at San Marcos, Tex., has gone to the jury. He is supposed to be demented, and every effort is being made to have him appear so.

Leonard Lochner, the street car driver shot by boy bandits at Dubuque, Io., several days ago, died last night, and Hanson, the 17-year old boy who did the shooting, is not at all concerned over the matter.

A double killing occurred near Weatherford, Tex., yesterday. The victims were A. S. Freeman and William Rivers, both well-known citizens of Parker County. A quarrel over a dog caused them to kill one another.

An old man named Hector, living at Birmingham, Ala., was found with his skull crushed in a manner not yet explained. His room-mate was dead drunk when the thing occurred and cannot tell anything about it.

The murderer of Starling Williams of Butler, Ga., has been found. The Williams boy was found in White Water Creek last Sunday and his property has since been found in possession of Louie Welch. Welch has made a confession implicating others.

At Mansfield, La., yesterday afternoon Gus Simmons and Frank Garrett were hanged for the murder of an unknown white man. Both men walked to the gallows without a tremor and even chatted pleasantly while the black cap were being adjusted.

Deputy United States Marshal C. A. Hoover of San Antonio yesterday gave bond to answer a charge of assault to kill, preferred by his wife and her father. Hoover and his wife have been separated, and the trouble occurred over the possession of their child.

Joseph Miller, who was traveling overland in a wagon with his family, was shot from ambush at a point twenty miles from China Springs in McLennan County, Tex. His wounds are not fatal. It is supposed some one opposed to settlers in that district did the deed.

A gang of burglars was caught at Leavenworth, Kan., yesterday, who gave the names of Wm. Reed, Frank Wilson, Thos. Flanegan, Ed Burke and C. Gibson. One of them was shadowed and he joined the rest. Tools of all kinds were found in their possession, and some of them are wanted in Kansas City.

KIDNAPPERS IN JAIL

An Alleged Principal in the Kansas City Crime Under Arrest.

THE CHILD RETURNED AND THE REWARD PAID OVER.

An Audacious Crime Rivaling the Charley Ross Affair—Two of the Participants Now Under Arrest—Attempt of a Michigan Mother to Get Possession of Her Children—Other Cases.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—The mysterious King, alias Dennis, alias Spinole, who, it is said, returned the kidnapped Beals child, was arrested to-day at 4 a. m. He is the chief conspirator in the abduction and was undoubtedly the man who delivered the child and obtained the $5,000 ransom last night. He was entering the house at 1531 Park avenue, where Lizzie Smith, alias Lizzie King, was captured last night when he was arrested. He had opened the back door when a policeman who had been placed there in expectation that he might return placed him under arrest. At the police station King was searched. No money was found upon him. There was a 38-caliber revolver in his hip pocket, but he did not attempt to use it when arrested. King had little to say. He replied to a question as to his part in the abduction: "I know nothing about it. The woman can tell you everything." He refused to say whether it was he who returned "Junior" Beals and received the $5,000 reward.

Albert King and Lizzie King, alias Lizzie Smith, were brought before Justice Worthen this morning charged with the abduction of the son of David T. Beals, David T. Beals, Jr. They plead not guilty to the charge. Their bond was fixed at $5,000 for Albert King and $3,000 for Mrs. King. They could not give bond and they were committed to the County Jail. Their case is set for next Wednesday.

While the family of David T. Beals, the millionaire banker of this city, were celebrating Thanksgiving at their dinner, the only son of the house, David T. Jr., who went by the name of "Junior" Beals, mysteriously disappeared. His nurse, Lizzie Smith, was also missing which immediately caused the grief stricken parents and the police to come to the conclusion that she had kidnapped her charge. All Thursday night and yesterday morning the entire police of this city worked on the case without success, and the parents had given up hope of securing their son without negotiating with his captors, the result of which was that the elder Beals had the following notice prominently inserted in evening papers:

$5,000 RANSOM.
To Whom It May Concern: Return my child, receive $5,000, and no questions asked.
(Signed) D. T. BEALS.

At 7 o'clock yesterday evening a man of strange appearance presented himself at the front door of the Beals mansion. He told the servant who answered the bell that he must see Mr. Beals immediately. Mr. Beals went to the door. The man said that he was a detective, that he had found the abductress and her accomplices; that they had the lost child in their possession, that they demanded $20,000 ransom, and that he was prepared to deliver the child to its parents for that amount. Mr. Beals declined to pay the sum, and stuck to his original offer of $5,000. It was finally agreed that the detective should deliver the child for that amount. Mr. Beals told the police and detectives that he had pledged his honor that the deliverer of the child should not be arrested while engaged in the carrying out of his part of the contract, and ordered them positively not to interfere with his plans, and they did not.

At 10 o'clock a ring at the bell brought Mr. Beals to the door. He saw his lost child in the arms of the ruffian who had bargained for the delivery of the child. Mr. Beals, who had drawn $5,000 in bank notes early in the afternoon in order to be ready to fulfil this part of the bargain, counted out the money before the eyes of the man and placed the money in the outer pocket of the latter's coat. At the same time the masked man placed in the arms of the overjoyed father the lost child, who was sleeping soundly, ignorant that he was being returned to his anxious parents. The joy of the parents can not be told.

Very little is known of Lizzie Smith, the abductress. The first trace of her in this city was found when she and two men, one of whom is here known as Albert King and who is supposed to be her husband, rented a cottage a month ago at No. 1528 Lydia avenue. Albert King bought the furniture for the cottage on the installment plan and signed his name to the notes for future payment. Of the other man practically nothing is known. The trio had occupied the house only a week. Mrs. King answered an advertisement for a waitress by Mrs. Beals. She was engaged, giving her name as Lizzie Smith, without references. At the same time the Lydia avenue cottage was vacated, and all trace of the occupants, excepting Mrs. King, was lost. It is supposed that the masked man who secured the $5,000 ransom was Albert King, the principal accomplice in the crime.

Mrs. King was arrested Friday night, but refused to be interviewed by any of the newspaper men. King has not been arrested and it is not positively known that the other man figured at all in the crime. Every effort was made to secure some information from "Junior Bees," but he is too young to speak plainly. He was asked who carried him away.

"Lizzie," he lisped.

"But where did she take you?"

"Riding," the boy replied.

"And what did they do with you?"

"'Nanas," and that was all the boy could tell; enough, however, to convict Lizzie Smith of one of the most cruel crimes on the calendar.

Mrs. King acknowledged her identity. She told a very thrilling story of the abduction. She said that Thursday evening she went out to the veranda to get the evening paper, which was delivered there every day. As she was going into the house she saw two men approaching the house. She thought they were visitors and opened the door to let them in. After they mounted the steps one of them thrust a revolver into her face and ordered her to go into the house and get Mr. Beals' boy. She was so thoroughly frightened, she said, that she obeyed the order scarcely knowing what she was doing. When she took the boy to the door the two men wrapped a shawl about her head, carried her down the driveway to a carriage at the gate, thrust her into a cab, drove her about for some time and then turned her adrift. Her story does not hold water at all, and she does not attempt to explain its many discrepancies.

The police ascertained from the letters found in "Lizzie Smith's" trunk that she had been recently in Denver. From the Denver police it was learned that she and the man, Albert King, who passes for her husband, had been released from a penitentiary in Colorado on Aug. 13 last, after having served a term of five years for horse stealing. The Denver police say they are a well-known pair of crooks.

There is more mystery in the case.

Although it was not until 5:30 o'clock this morning that Albert King, the leading conspirator, was taken to the Police Station, it is asserted to-day by Manager Applesheimer of the Pinkerton Agency, that King was arrested by policemen at 10:30 last night and was mysteriously detained five hours. If this be true he was arrested at the house on Park avenue, where he had taken quarters and where the Smith woman was also found only a few minutes after he had received the ransom of $5,000 from Mr. Beals. Yet it is declared that no money was found upon him, and the question is, what became of the ransom and why was not his arrest promptly reported?

A COMPLICATED CASE.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 28.—Miss Mary Sheehan, who was married at Sharpsburg yesterday to Charles Parker, was formerly named Julia Mary Mitchell. She had her name changed by the court and came into possession of $40,000 worth of Sharpsburg property. The father of the girl turned her over to his sister, named Gibbons, living at Saltsburg, when the child was 4 years old. The Gibbons family had a son, who next to Mary Sheehan, was heir to the property of Thomas Sheehan. The family moved to Leavensworth, and one day the child Mary Sheehan was kidnapped and finally placed in a St. Louis orphan home. She was adopted by a Mrs. Mitchell and the girl took the name of of Julia Mitchell. She saw a notice of the death of Thomas Sheehan in 1887, and she believed it was her father. Her mother identified her and she claimed the property at the death of her mother in 1889. Garrett Gibbons contested her claim. The case was carried to the State Supreme Court, and in the compromise she came into the Sheehan property.

TRIED TO STEAL HIS CHIED.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Nov. 28.—George Lawrence, a miner, created a sensation here yesterday by attempting to abduct his 6-year-old son from his wife, who recently obtained a divorce from him with the custody of the child. The scene occurred in the office of Flanigan & Booth, where the child had gone with his uncle, Albert Frye, one of Joplin's wealthy mine owners. Lawrence drew a revolver and demanded his son, and for a time bloodshed seemed imminent. The police came in time, however, to prevent any shooting. Mrs. Lawrence still has the child.

ABDUCTED HER TWO CHIDREN.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Amanda Corson yesterday abducted her two children, aged 9 and 5 years respectively, from her husband, William H. Corson, who was holding the little ones pending a decision of the court. The couple were recently divorced and have been conducting a hot legal battle for the children.

BOTH WILL DIE.

James McGee of St. Louis Shoots His Wife and Stabs Himself at Joliet, Ill.

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 28.—A few weeks ago Mrs. James McGee and John Solomon, purporting to be man and wife, came here from St. Louis. Mrs. McGee subsequently went to St. Louis and brought back her children. Her legal husband secured track of his family and came here in search of them. He found them and caused Solomon's arrest. This morning McGee had an interview with his wife, at her lawyer's office, and the meeting not being satisfactory he fired five shots at her, one striking her in the forehead and going through her mouth. He then ran down stairs, where he stabbed himself seven times in the breast and slashed his throat from ear to ear. Both will die. McGee is an employe of the United States Express Co. in St. Louis. The man who caused the trouble was a boarder.

A BAD GANG BROKEN UP.

Six Notorious "Badger" Workers Captured by New York Officers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—One of the worst gangs that ever robbed a man by the "badger" game was broken up last night by Inspector Byrnes' detectives. It was composed of six notorious thieves—two women and four men—all of whom are locked up in police headquarters. Within the past six weeks Inspector Byrnes received two complaints from men, who refused to give their names, that they had been accosted on the street by women, enticed to some house, the location of which they failed to give, and had been robbed.

Detectives O'Brien, Grady, Vallelli and Hanly were detailed on the case and soon settled upon Jennie Jones, alias Alice Oates, who robbed a Southern bookmaker named Burton of $1,000 a year ago, as one of the guilty parties. They traced her to No. 147 East Twenty-sixth street, and last night, assisted by Detectives McCusky and Crowley, arrested the lookout, Mike McCarthy, alias "Wreck Donovan," and made a raid upon the house shortly after the Jones woman had entered with another victim.

The gang had two parlors on the first floor. They were connected by a passage way about six feet wide, on either side of which were narrow alcoves, which served as hiding-places for the male members of the gang until the time came to rob the victim that had been enticed into the rear parlor. The door of the room was apparently a sliding door, but one side of it was on hinges and could be opened outward quickly and noiselessly. When the detectives broke into the room they found William Ferguson, alias Billy Devere, an ex-convict and railroad thief, in the front room. In the alcove were "Tim" Oates, the leader of the gang, who has served three terms in States prisons for picking pockets, and "Jack" Walsh, who has also done time. In the back parlor were the Jones woman and the intended victim. He gave his name as Charles Henry, and said he was in the coffee business in Cincinnati and was stopping at the Hoffman House. When asked if he had been robbed he opened his pocketbook and found that $35 was missing. The money was afterwards found in another pocket where it had been hurriedly thrust by the thieves when the detectives broke into the room. When leaving the house with the prisoners the detectives met Annie Davis, the other member of the gang, on the steps with another victim and took her into custody. The gang has been operating at the place for about a month. The leader, Oates, is an adept in his line, and only a few months ago went to England with a female companion and succeeded in "badgering" a wealthy Englishman out of £400. Oates fled with all the money, but the woman was arrested and is now awaiting trial.

At the Hoffman House last night it was said that there was no Charles Henry stopping there. If he does not appear against the prisoners in the Jefferson Market Court it is probable they will escape with simply the annoyance of having their well-established business broken up.

Murdered a Whole Family.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 28.—Lee Heflin and Joseph Dye, the two men arrested in Fauquier County charged with the murder of the Kines family, near Calverton on the 9th inst., were brought here to-day for safe-keeping, Judge Keith having given the order yesterday evening. Heflin on the way admitted to Detective Smith that he had committed the horrible crime and exonerated Dye. Later in the day Heflin made a full confession, the text of which is the same as published soon after the tragedy. He gives no reason for the deed except "foolishness."

The crime was the murder of widow Kines and her three children. The house was burned to conceal the crime, but when the half burned bodies were found it was evident that they had been murdered before the place was set on fire.

Murder and Suicide.

MARSHALLTOWN, Io., Nov. 28.—D. C. Thomas, an employe of the Brittain Packing Co., shot and killed John Herkridge at a boarding-house this morning, then suicided by shooting himself through the head. No known motive for the murder. Thomas was recently divorced from his wife, and it is thought he was insane. Herkridge leaves a wife and three grown children.

A Fugitive Arrested.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 28.—George L. Prince, alias John D. Prince, advance agent of the Juch Opera Co., was arrested here last night charged with being a fugitive from justice from Maryland. He will be taken to Baltimore to-day.

HE IS NOW INSANE.

The Head of the Embarrassed Firm of Field, Weiss, Lindly & Co.

SECURITIES AMOUNTING TO $1,000,000 ILLEGALLY HYPOTHECATED.

Sidney Dillon Calls the Transaction "Criminal Borrowing"—Assignee Gould in the Dark as to the Condition of Affairs—Edward M. Field's Mind Unhinged by His Financial Troubles.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The suspicion that the firm of Field, Weichers, Lindley & Co., which failed yesterday, had rehypothecated the securities held by them on a loan of $600,000 and amounting to $1,000,000, developed into a certainty this morning. At the Stock Exchange $80,000 of Union Pacific, Denver & Gulf Consolidated first mortgage fives were sold out under the rule on the account of the firm.

Upon hearing of this fact, Judge Dillon sent for Assistant Secretary Burnham of the Stock Exchange, and had a conference with him at his office. Sidney Dillon was present. Mr. Burnham was notified that the entire list of securities are not a good delivery and was requested to post the notice.

A meeting of the Committee on Securities was hurriedly called by Secretary Ely and they came to the decision that the securities would not be a good delivery and posted a notice to that effect and sent word to the various banks.

LISTS OF THE SECURITIES.

The securities named in the protest sent to members of the Exchange include: One thousand shares of Texas Pacific Railway stock certificates, 100 shares of Oregon Short Line, 100 shares of Utah & Northern, first mortgage bonds of Union Pacific & Gulf, Oregon Railway & Navigation, Union Pacific, Denver & Gulf consolidated 5 per cent first mortgage bonds, in all amounting to about $1,000,000.

Mr. Sidney Dillon was met on Broad street, hurrying to his office. He spoke about the notice and said: "Their hypothecation of these securities is what I term criminal borrowing. I don't think there can be any milder view of their action taken. We have been endeavoring to get the matter settled before and have offered several times to pay the loan, as we have had the money deposited at Drexel, Morgan & Co. for some time. It is only drawing 2 per cent interest there and we wanted to get it out. I called at their office this morning and found them all so flustered that they could give me no information whatever."

At the office of Field, Weichers, Lindley & Co. the assignee, Mr. Chas. W. Gould, was seen. In reply to questions he said: "I really don't know in what condition things stand. I have been preparing to take an inventory of the securities and other assets. As to the reported re-hypothecation of the Union Pacific securities I really don't know anything about it, but I surely cannot believe that such a thing has been done."

FIELD IS INSANE.

In regard to the condition of Mr. Edward M. Field, the senior member of the firm, Mr. Gould said: "I called at Mr. Field's house this morning, but did not see him. I saw his physician, however, and learned from him that Mr. Field's condition is very serious. Arrangements are being made to send him to a private insane asylum. Mr. Cyrus W. Field is also very ill of nervous prostration. I tried yesterday to talk with Mr. Field, but found his mind wandering, and he was totally incapable of talking intelligently. His symptoms are not those of an acute maniac, but he can't fix his mind on anything."

A conference between the counsel for the Union Pacific, Mr. Gould and members of the firm will be held this afternoon. At the Produce Exchange this morning the Field, Lindley, Wiechers & Co. failure was a general topic of discussion. The disposition was one of sympathy. There was an official call at 11:30, but no business was transacted, and it was currently understood that all the grain contracts of the firm had been settled up. As far as speculative options go, the outstanding obligations of the firm have had no appreciable effect on the grain market. A prominent member of the Produce Exchange, who saw Mr. Lindley this morning, said:

"The papers had a statement this morning that the firm was short of November corn in Chicago, but Mr. Lindley denies this flat-footed."

Mr. John P. Truesdell, who was a partner in the original firm of Tefft, Truesdell & Field, when spoken to this morning said: "Mr. Field is unquestionably an insane man. I sincerely hope, however, that it is but a temporary aberration."

This afternoon Mr. Wm. Field told a reporter that his father was not as ill as was generally thought. "My father is somewhat prostrated," he said, "but at present we have no fear of the outcome. He is not in bed, but lies down upon a sofa, occasionally rising and sitting in a chair. In my opinion father will be all right again in a few days."

PROVIDENCE TOOL CO. ASSIGNS.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 28.—The Providence Tool Co. has made a general assignment. This concern failed in 1882 and paid 50 cents on the dollar to assured creditors. On Nov. 6 attachments amounting to $88,000 were placed on property still held by that corporation, and the assignment is the winding up of the old company's business.

FLASH LITERATURE.

A Subject of Discussion Among Post-Office Inspectors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 28.—Several topics of general interest have been discussed at the meetings of Post-office inspectors in this city, among them the reclassification of mails, involving the circulation of what the inspectors call "flash literature," which now passes as second-class matter. According to the report of the committee in charge of this topic, there is a large amount of English reprints and French productions now passing through the mails that comes clearly within the scope of the law prohibiting the mailing of obscene literature. The committee in its report suggested that publications of this class be prohibited from the mails, because they debauch the minds and morals of youth. The inspectors also discussed 1-cent postage, and will recommend the reduction of postage on first-class matter. The subject of Post-office robberies and letter-box depredations come particularly within the province of the inspectors. Besides suggesting other means of legislation, a recommendation will be made calling for a detail of men especially adapted for criminal work. They will also recommend that the local authorities be allowed to offer in their discretion rewards for the apprehension of criminals.

CONSUL TO BERMUDA.

The President has appointed William K. Sullivan of Illinois, Consul of the United States at Bermuda.

HE BLESSED THEM.

Cardinal Gibbons at the Sisters' Hospital This Morning.

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE AFTER THE SERVICE OF MASS.

The Sisters Gather Around the Cardinal and Receive His Benediction—Brilliant Forenoon Picture in the Archiepiscopal Residence—A Courtly Gathering of Ecclisiastics—Jubilee News.

The snow was falling in thin, crisp flakes at 7 o'clock this morning and a cold north wind swept down over the city at that hour, when a carriage driven by a white-haired coachman rolled through the gates of the Mullanphy (Sisters') Hospital and passing up the broad drive came to a halt at the portico entrance. There were no passers-by in that rather thinly settled northern quarter of St. Louis—Grand avenue and Montgomery street—and the scene at the hospital as the solitary carriage stopped there was a quiet and peaceful one. The coachman sprang to the ground and reaching the carriage door threw it open, bowing his head as he stood to one side for its occupant to pass out.

THE CARDINAL'S VISIT.

Descending from the carriage there appeared a figure which meant unmistakably a visitor for the good sisters of the hospital of a priestly dignity, such as its walls had never known before. The figure was that of a frail and delicate prelate, quick of movement and yet of a quiet dignity that bespoke high rank. Above a pale face and thoughtful brow there rested the red cap which only Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church can wear, the one especially distinctive badge of their rank as princes of the church. A close-fitting tunic or gown of black covered the shoulders and body of the early morning visitor to the Sisters' Hospital, reaching to the knees. Below this tunic of black there showed the red robes of a Cardinal, the vivid hue of the garment reaching down to and touching the shoes of soft leather which made the footfalls of the wearer almost inaudible. In one hand the visitor clasped a small book, and from one finger of the hand there gleamed the "Cardinal's ring," the jewel that is reverently kissed by the devout who are fortunate enough to kneel beneath the benediction of a prince of the church.

It was His Eminence, James, Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, who thus reached the Sisters' Hospital in the snow of an early winter's morning, and "the American Cardinal" had come to serve mass for the good sisters. The visit was in compliance with a promise which His Eminence had made before leaving Baltimore, and only one day had been allowed to pass since his arrival in St. Louis until the promise was fulfilled. And as the noise of the carriage wheels ceased the wide doors of the hospital were opened and the Mother Superior of the hospital appeared and welcomed her great guest, who passed quickly into the hallway and parlors where a group of the good sisters were waiting. Hardly had the Cardinal arrived, however, than other carriages also came into sight and in a few moments the court in front of the hospital was well filled with vehicles, the occupants of which, invited to attend the memorable mass, entered the hospital promptly on arrival. At 7:30 o'clock, with a Cardinal as celebrant, the mass was celebrated in the dimly lighted hospital chapel, and the most imposing ceremonial that a St. Louis religious institution has ever known was recorded.

BLESSING THE SISTERS.

But it was in the parlors of the hospital after the mass that there was witnessed the most striking scene of the Cardinal's morning visit to that place. Standing just within the open doorway of the parlor the figure of the Cardinal, in its picturesque robes of deep black and vivid red, looked like a framed picture stepped down from some ecclesiastical wall. Led by the Mother Superior the Sisters, one by one, approached the Cardinal as he stood thus, and one by one also received his blessing, kissed the ring upon his finger and withdrew.

It was almost 8:30 o'clock when this beautiful ceremony began, however, and Cardinal Gibbons' engagements elsewhere for the day were even then pressing upon him. It was evident that there would not be time to go through the ceremony of blessing the sisters one by one.

"I will have to leave you," said His Eminence, turning with a gentle smile to the Mother Superior. "I will bless all these waiting sisters together. It is just as well."

Then, as the heads of the gathering Sisters of Charity in his front were reverently bowed upon their robes, the slender prelate extended his hands, and in a low voice pronounced a benediction upon him. As he then passed through the group, past the open doors and to his carriage, the last words that reached his ears were the fervent thanks of the Mother Superior for the great honor he had done the Sisters' Hospital. The Cardinal was then driven rapidly south on Grand avenue on the return to the archiepiscopal residence.

A PICTURESQUE RECEPTION.

From the dim lights and peaceful hush of the Sisters' Hospital in the early morning to the scene at the Archiepiscopal residence from 10 o'clock onward to-day was a change almost dramatic in its contrasts. The stately home of the venerable Archbishop of St. Louis to-day was a picture of churchly dignity and of a certain magnificence and impressiveness of costumes and personnel courtly in extent and rich coloring. Outside, the rumble and whirl of carriages was incessant, all apparently bound for that one focal point of interest, and the line of visitors was practically endless. Within, the parlors, halls and stairways were a picture of variety and contrast in ecclesiastical garb, such as St. Louis has never known before in its history. Beginning with His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons, in his princely robes of black and red, with the Cardinal's red cap still resting above his brows, the picture comprised in turn a group of Archbishops in full canonicals, headed by the aged Archbishop Kenrick and his beloved pupil, Archbishop Ryan, who arrived last night, then several Monseigneurs of the church with their papal cravats furnishing the one dash of color against the otherwise somber black of their attire, next a goodly attendance of priests in their plain black robes, and finally, brushing against all this picture of churchly costuming with its significance of dignity and sacredness, the worldly costumes of the devout faithful who were the morning's visitors to the impressive scene. The Cardinal remained principally in the east parlor of the residence, Archbishop Kenrick in the apartment immediately adjoining it on the south, while Archbishop Ryan for a time received some personal visitors in the west parlor. Other Archbishops and priests, however, were also in both parlors, or passing and repassing through the halls and up the broad staircase, and the picture was a continually changing and ever brilliant one, well calculated to make an indelible impression on the minds of visitors. His Eminence, the Cardinal, was in a most gracious and accessible mood, and as almost every visitor who called solicited and received the papal benediction at his hands, His Eminence was kept busy. It added to the picturesque atmosphere of the scene that every few moments the Cardinal's gentle voice could be heard as he gave this benediction with outstretched hands.

"God bless you, my child."

Up to noon the Cardinal had not left the archiepiscopal residence after having returned from the Sisters' Hospital. He has several engagements for this afternoon, however, and may endeavor to fill them if not too fatigued by his exertions during the forenoon.

WELCOMED BY ST. LEO'S CHIMES.

Yesterday Cardinal Gibbons visited the Convent of the Visitation on Cass avenue and Nineteenth street and promised the Sisters to celebrate mass there at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning. After a short stay at the beautiful Visitation Convent, His Eminence was next driven to St. Leo's Church, corner of Mullanphy and Twenty-third streets, where he called on Rev. J. J. Harty, the pastor. A beautiful incident of this visit was that as the Cardinal arrived at Father Harty's residence the new chime of bells of St. Leo's pealed a welcome to the distinguished visitor. It was "the christening of the bells," as they have just been placed in St. Leo's, and the welcoming strains to Cardinal Gibbons were the first peal that they have sounded. After the mass at the Visitation Convent to-morrow morning, His Eminence will breakfast with the sisters of that institution.

THIS EVENING'S RECEPTION.

At 7 o'clock this evening a dinner and informal reception will be tendered by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Kerens to His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons, Most Rev. Archbishop Kenrick, Most Rev. Archbishop Ryan and some ten or twelve other distinguished prelates who have come to the city to attend the jubilee exercises. The Kerens residence in Vandeventer place has been beautifully decorated for the occasion. This is the only evening of the jubilee season that the Cardinal and Archbishop were free and Mr. and Mrs. Kerens concluded to give them and other distinguished prelate a dinner. The invitation was accepted and the host and hostess have made ample preparations for their reception.

The Very Rev. Dr. Maguire, Superior of the Sulpician Seminary at Baltimore; arrived Thursday evening with the Cardinal's party, and was met at the depot by Rev. J. T. Foley who took him immediately to the Holy Angels' rectory where he will remain during the Jubilee. He brings an illuminated address from his institution to Archbishop Kenrick. His coming is significant in view of the recent rumors about the new seminary for St. Louis.

The prelates arrived yesterday in considerable numbers at the Union Depot, where they were received by those whose guests they will be during the jubilee season.

Cardinal Gibbons had a busy day yesterday. He celebrated mass in the Archbishop's Chapel. Later in the morning he paid a visit to the Visitation Convent on Cass avenue, accompanied by Very Rev. Magmen, C. S., Superior of the Sulpician Seminary in Baltimore. The remainder of the day was spent in receiving visits from prelates at the residence of Archbishop Kenrick, on Lindell boulevard. Archbishop Ryan arrived last night and was met by a large number of the old parishoners of St. John's Church, among them were: Charles P. Chouteau, Pierre Chouteau, C. C. Maffitt, Wm. Maffitt, Arthur Lee and Wm. H. Lee. Vicar-General Brady and a number of resident priests made up the party. The train was some minutes late, but the Reception Committee waited patiently.

Canon O'Hanlon of Dublin arrived yesterday morning and spent the day with Vicar-General Brady.

The following priests who have come to participate in the Kenrick jubilee registered at the Southern this morning: Father McGinty, Denver; James McGolrick, Duluth; John Shanley, Fargo; W. C. Homer, Duluth; H. McMahon, Oconomowoc.

Rt. Rev. Richard Phelan, Bishop of Pittsburg, and Vicar-General S. Wall of the same province arrived this morning and will be the guests of Rev. Father Fenion, rector of the Church of the Visitation, Taylor and Easton avenues. Bishop Phelan will participate at the pontifical mass at 10 o'clock to-morrow and Vicar-General Wall will speak on the jubilee.

Laymen Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the laymen of the Executive Committee in charge of the Kenrick Jubilee arrangements was held last night at St. John's Library, Sixteenth and Chestnut streets. It was decided that the balance of the expenses of the celebrations over the amount which would be contributed would be taxed pro rata on the lay members of the committee. Mr. R. C. Kerens was elected master of ceremonies at the concert to be held in Music Hall on Tuesday evening. Mr. H. J. Spaunhorst has charge of issuing the tickets to the concert. Mr. Spaunhorst has an office in the Granite Building at Fourth and Market streets. Each member of the Executive Committee is entitled to ten tickets. Those contributing $10 or over, are entitled to three tickets. Those donating $5 to $10 will get two tickets, and those giving $5 or less will receive one ticket.

Dunn's weekly report on the state of trade this morning declares that all industries are active and flourishing, with an improvement noted in various branches of commerce and good indications of still greater progress. Banks gained from the interior $74,000, from the sub-treasury and gold imports, $900,000; net gain, $974,000. For the third week of November forty-three roads gained in earnings $461,923 or 8.43 per cent. The Commissioners of the Western Traffic Association have reduced the commissions allowed the Southern Pacific on emigrant traffic, making commissions via all lines uniform. The Soo and the Canadian roads continue to refuse to advance rates from the seaboard to St. Paul, although the navigation is closed, and insist on a 25-cent differential, although entitled to only 10 cents. The Chicago and St. Paul lines must therefore permanently lose this important traffic or make lower rates to regain it.

The heaviest snowfall in many years is now reported throughout the Northwest, and the fall is much heavier than four or five years ago, when in January and February following many roads in the Northwest not only made no net, but actually showed a deficit, owing to increased operating expenses caused by snow and cold.

The following is the bank statement for this week:

Reserve, increase	$1,559,600
Loans, increase	3,848,400
Specie, increase	619,100
Legals, increase	2,188,800

AMONG THE BROKERS.

A Declining Market—Stocks Sold and Prices Obtained.

There was not much trading on the Mining Exchange and the bears had a decided advantage.

Central Silver was the stock most dealt in, and showed the sharpest decline. The market opened strong, 31¼ being bid, but there was an immense amount of stock for sale at that quotation and, after 1,500 shares had been disposed off, bidding dropped to 30, 500 shares changing hands at that price, and then the stock struck the glide. One hundred shares brought 27½. At 25, the sales aggregated 500 shares; 600 shares were sold at 22½, 100 at 21¼, 300 at 20 and 500 at 18¾. At this point there was a rally and 1,300 shares were sold at 20, which price was bid at the close.

Elizabeth opened at 90, but only 100 shares could be sold at that figure, an equal amount brought 88¾, and 300 shares sold at 85. The stock then recovered slightly, 800 shares selling at 87½.

Mickey Breen rose from 4 to 4½, and 500 shares brought the latter quotation.

The following quotations were made on the Mining Exchange:

New Fast Transatlantic Line of Steamers—Miscellany.

QUEBEC, Nov. 28.—Sir George Baden Powell, one of the British commissioners in the Behring Sea affair, is now interesting himself in the establishment of a fast Canadian transatlantic steamship service. He has seen Premier Abbott and members of the Cabinet in the matter and has visited Quebec and inspected the docks and other facilities. President Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific Railway states that the new steamship line will ere long be an established fact. The vessels will run in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Mr. Van Horne believes that passengers from Europe via the St. Lawrence, will be landed by his through line in Chicago within a few hours of the time that those via New York will be disembarked at the latter port. The present intention is to have the new line running between Liverpool and Quebec before the opening of the World's Fair, and to compete with American railways for a share of the travel in connection therewith. It is stated that the Government subsidy will be made $1,000,000 per year for an efficient service.

INTERNAL DISSENSIONS.

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Nov. 28.—The Herald publishes an editorial in which it says: "The time has come for the Canadian people to consider whether we should not at once adopt measures of retaliation against the Government of Newfoundland in view of the persistent refusal to extend to Canadian fishermen privileges which we have so generously extended to their people. The Bond Government has violated the solemn pledges given to the Canadian imperial Government and has done all that could be done to provoke the most bitter retaliation on our part. It is undoubtedly the duty of the imperial Government to pass an act overriding and annulling the Newfoundland bait act, and in the meantime Canada would replace the duty on Newfoundland fish landed here and place all possible restrictions upon its transshipment through our ports."

NO FOUNDATION FOR IT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A special from Ottawa, Ontario, says there is no truth in the statement sent out Thursday night that the imperial Government has notified Newfoundland that her bait act is unconstitutional. The constitutionality of the act is virtually established by royal assent. Retaliation is the only measure of relief in the hands of the Dominion Cabinet. This, however, is not likely to be used, as it might fan smouldering fires of the annexation movement in Newfoundland.

IRISH FACTIONS WARNED.

No Further Funds From America Unless Differences Are Settled.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The Sun this morning prints the following: The conference of Irish-Americans on Thursday night, at which resolutions were passed warning the people that "they will receive no further support, moral or financial, from this country until they call a halt in the war of factions and reunite the forces now engaged in the work of self-destruction," was the first step of the adherents of Parnell in the United States to show that they were for Union. About 100 men from nine States were present. Almost all of them were members of the Cronin wing of the Clan-na-Gael. Michael Breslin of this city, one of the men who organized the conference, said to a Sun reporter yesterday: "Although most of us were Clan-na-Gael men, we are supporters to a certain extent of the Parliamentary movement. Twelve years ago Parnell, Davitt and John Devoy, a member of the Clan-na-Gael, held a conference, at which Parnell agreed not to do anything to injure the Clan-na-Gael, if that body would not try to hinder the Parliamentary movement. That agreement was kept by both sides. The Clan-na-Gael is waiting to see if the Parliamentary action produces the results it has promised. If it does not, the Clan-na-Gael will resume its old and well-known line of action. The Clan-na-Gael is a secret, physical force organization. "The Parliamentary people on the other side," said Mr. Breslin, "have been acting disgracefully. If the factions don't unite, nothing can be accomplished. We are giving them a good trial and at the same time keeping our organization alive."

It is said that what may be called the Alexander Sullivan wing of the Clan-na-Gael has issued a secret circular among the camps of the United States in harmony with it, stating that as the Parliamentary agitation has been unsuccessful, it is time to return to the physical force policy. The circular is said to advise that to begin the work 15 per cent of the funds in each camp be sent at once to an officer of the body.

BLAINE IN PHILADELPHIA.

The Premier Will Return to Washington To-Day—Political Points.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 28.—Secretary Blaine was still at the Stratford Hotel here at 11 o'clock this morning, but declined to be seen. It was stated at the hotel that he would leave some time to-day for Washington, but at what hour was not known.

Claus Spreckels, the Hawaiian sugar king, who resides at the Stratford Hotel, held a conversation of about half an hour's duration with Mr. Blaine this morning, after which the Secretary of State took a cab and drove out.

Mr. Blaine returned to the hotel about 11:55. He remained there only a few minutes, when he entered his cab and was driven to Pennsylvania Railroad station, where he boarded the 12:35 express for Washington.

ANTI-HARRISON MEETING.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 28.—A meeting attended by over fifty prominent Republicans of the State is being held at the Grand Hotel to-day for the avowed purpose of organizing the anti-Harrison sentiment in the State and crystalizing it into a solid phalanx in support of Blaine at the Minneapolis convention. Among those present are Oliver T. Morton, Clerk of the United States Appellate Court; Otto Gresham, ex-Congressman White of Fort Wayne, four members of the Republican State Central Committee and twenty-five editors of Republican papers. Harrison Tincher, the recognized spokesman for the meeting, says the organization has sub-organizations in every county and congressional district in the State.

DID NOT LEAVE MISSOURI.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—A morning paper stated that Gov. Francis would leave to-night for Washington City. This is a mistake. The Governor is at the Capitol, and will remain until Tuesday, when he goes to St. Louis to welcome Archbishop Kenrick to the great jubilee to be given in honor of his fifty years of service in the church.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Nov. 28.—A call has been issued for a mass meeting of citizens to take action toward the securing of the National Democratic Convention for this city. A number of leading Republicans have volunteered to do all in their power to aid in the gratification of this ambition.

OBITUARY.

Death of John A. Rizzini at Richmond, Va.—The Record.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 28.—John A. Rizzini, a veteran journalist, died here last night, aged 59 years. He suffered a stroke of paralysis three years ago. He served in the First Virginia Regiment during the war and was at one time the Vice Consul of Italy in Richmond.

COMMODORE ROUCKENDORFF.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Commodore W. Rouckendorff, on the retired list of the navy, died at the Grand Hotel yesterday morning after a brief illness. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1817.

HERR CHRISTIANBERG.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 28.—Herr Christianberg, the noted Danish radical leader, is dead.

Woman's Humane Society.

The Woman's Humane Society had an unusually large and interesting meeting on Monday. There were a greater number of cases of cruelty to children than ever before, showing the good work the society is accomplishing, and the necessity for it in such a field. Mrs. Blennerhasset-Adams was present and expressed in an earnest manner her belief in woman's work and faith in its ultimate achievement.

A letter was read from the great actor, Mr. Florence, written to the society a short time before his death, in which he spoke in his own great tender-hearted way of his sympathy with such a cause, and the satisfaction he experienced in its success, and in closing requested, in his characteristic modesty, not to "give this to the public'" as it was "a little affair between the society and himself."

Mrs. Cynthia Dozier was proposed for membership.

The society meets at the Lindell every Monday at 4 o'clock.

TO THE WATER'S EDGE.

Two Children Fatally Burned—The Casualty Record.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The WORLD's Valparaiso special says that the American clipper ship Rappahannock was burned to the water's edge on the night of Nov. 11, while at anchor in the harbor of Cumberland Bay in the northern part of the South Pacific Island of Chief Juan Fernandez. Capt. Dickinson, his wife and crew escaped. They will be sent to San Francisco. The Rappahannock left Liverpool on Aug. 29 last, and was bound for San Francisco with a valuable cargo of merchandise. Spontaneous combustion is supposed to be the cause of the fire.

STREET CAR AND ENGINE COLLIDE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—An accident that almost brought with it wholesale slaughter occurred yesterday at Fortieth street and Ashland avenue in the Town of Lake. At that hour a Switching Association engine, in charge of George Porter and Michael Burke, ran into a street car filled with passengers. No one was killed. The car was reduced to splinters, all the passengers shaken up and the following seriously burned by the car stove: Mrs. Daly, James Kennedy, Anthony King, John Marshall, Mrs. O'Neill, Mrs. Reno and three children, Frank Schall, J. Stain, Mrs. Terry and baby. The accident, it was claimed by the passengers on the car, was due to the carelessness of the engineer and fireman of the engine.

VICTIMS OF A LANDSLIDE.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 28.—Two men instead of twelve or fifteen, as previously reported, were killed by the land slide on the Northern Pacific Railroad, near Canyon, Wednesday night. Five men were injured and two who were carried into the river have not been accounted for. The dead are: Anderson, aged 32; Charles Johnson, aged 28, both married. The injured are: John Miller, back injured; John A. Kolund, left arm badly broken; Pans Graham, wrist sprained; William English, contusion of knee, ankle, hip and abdomen, probably injured internally. None of the injured are married. The missing are Christian Erickson and J. Potell.

UNDER A COAL PILE.

NYACK, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Ira Davis, aged 19, was buried yesterday afternoon beneath a mass of coal at the pier of the Erie Co. at Piermont. The accident was caused by the giving away of a crib which separated coal bins. Two other workmen were taken out badly injured. The accident was caused by removing the coal from one side of the crib.

The three men crushed under the falling coal crib were dug out late last night. Ira Davis, aged 19, is dead. Hardie, ribs crushed in, and Patrick Cochrane, badly mangled, are still alive. No other bodies were found in the ruins.

TWO CHILDREN FATALLY BURNED.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Mouk of Metamora went to church, leaving their 4-year-old daughter, Lizzie, in charge of the house and her 3-year-old sister. The children began playing with the fire and the flames communicated to their dresses. The neighbors, hearing their screams, came to their rescue, but were too late to save the children's lives.

STEAMERS COLLIDE.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 28.—The White Star steamer Tauric, bound out for New York, collided with the British steamer Baltimore in the Mersey to-day. Both vessels sustained some damage. The vessel which was in collision yesterday with the bark Harmonic was the coasting steamer Helen Braig. Contrary to first reports the steamer is not seriously damaged and no lives were lost.

STRUCK BY A LOCOMOTIVE.

ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 28.—Samuel Campbell, Jr., aged 24, son of Samuel Campbell, a stock broker of New York, while driving with a friend across the tracks of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad at midnight Thursday, was struck by a locomotive and fatally injured. A friend, whose name is unknown, escaped from the buggy.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

AKRON, Nov. 28.—An engine on an extra freight blew up on the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus Railroad, two miles south of here yesterday. John Byron, engineer, of Millersburg, and George Parker, fireman, of Fair Oaks, O., were instantly killed.

AN ENTIRE CREW DROWNED.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 28.—During a heavy fog on the Mersey last night an unknown steamer ran into a bark, supposed to be the Harmony, off the lightship. The steamer was so badly damaged that she sank almost immediately, and her entire crew was drowned. The bark lost her mast, and her hull was seriously damaged. She is now anchored off the bar, near the lightship.

TRAGEDY AT A WEDDING.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 28.—A bloody tragedy was enacted last evening on Capt. D. G. Purse's Deptford plantation, which resulted in the killing of Adam Berrien, a youth of 18 years. The killing was the result of a general fight at a wedding on the plantation. The fatal blow was struck by Henry Niles, a young man 22 years of age. He was taken in charge by the authorities.

A LAUNCH RUN DOWN.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—A passing steamer ran into a steam launch which was crossing the River Tyne at Shields this morning and crushed the launch to pieces. A number of workmen were on board the launch. Three of them were killed, the others were rescued.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION.

HARTFORD, Ky., Nov. 28.—The boiler at the saw mill of S. B. & A. Keeton, at Goff's Crossing, Ohio County, exploded, killing Scott B. Keeton, the engineer, and badly injuring Monroe Emery and two children.

NEARLY ASPHYXIATED.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 29.—Herman and Albert Voght and their families, who live in the same house on the South side, nearly lost their lives by asphyxiation on Thursday night, caused by the leaking of a gas pipe.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED HIS BROTHER.

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 28.—James Mulcahey, aged 16, son of ex-Sheriff James Mulcahey of Commercial Point, this county, was killed by his brother last evening by the accidental discharge of a shotgun.

A Grain Blockade.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 28.—There was a tremendous jam of grain laden vessels in Buffalo harbor yesterday. It was the greatest in the history of the port, and the amount of grain afloat is estimated at 3,000,000 bushels. The elevators are full, the railroads have a short supply of cars and if the grain is not moved more rapidly than at present half the tonnage in port will be compelled to lay up with the cargoes intact. Grain shippers here are much pleased with the decision of Supt. Hannan to keep the Erie Canal open till Dec. 5.

"Sheeney" Armstrong Pleads Not Guilty.

The mail robber who claims to be "Sheeney" Armstrong, who has been in jail here for some time, was arraigned this morning in the United States District Court. The indictment was read, and he pleaded not guilty. He was captured in Atlanta, Ga., and sent here immediately. No time has been set as yet for the trial, as the Post-office inspectors are still accumulating evidence.

TO CONTROL RATES.

Great Tonnage Pool Contemplated by Transcontinental Roads.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 28.—A morning paper says: The formation of a tonnage pool to include all freight between Chicago and the Atlantic seaboard, has already been favorably considered by the trunk lines. Its approval by the general managers of the Chicago east-bound lines at their meeting Tuesday makes the ratification unanimous. All that remains for the meeting at New York next Tuesday is to work out the details. Concerning these there is a difference of opinion, and whether they can harmonize is a question. One vital question to be settled is whether the pool shall be open or "blind;" that is, whether the business shall be apportioned among the various lines at percentages previously agreed to, or whether the question of distribution shall be left entirely to the Chairman or Commissioners' pool, the members being unacquainted with the proportions to be allotted them, and to blindly divert freight to whatever road they may be directed. The scope of the proposed pool is also an unsettled question. If the wishes of some of the members are considered it will embrace, not only freight originating at and passing through Chicago, but the traffic of every other gateway between Chicago and St. Louis. But whether confined to Chicago or extended to all gateways, the organization, if formed, will become the most powerful factor of the kind in existence.

HOME OF THE BLIZZARD.

Wintry Blasts Blowing through the Woods of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The snow storm to-day is the heaviest that has ever visited Chicago in a corresponding month. At noon it had, by almost half an inch, deposited more snow than, according to the records of the Signal Service, has ever before fallen in the entire month of November. Cold, high winds are blowing, ZERO AT DULUTH.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 28.—Dispatches from fifty points indicate that the temperature is at zero at Duluth to 10 deg. below at Hallock. A heavy damp wind is blowing and it will be much colder. The great snowstorms in Northern Minnesota and North Dakota last week have forced threshers wholly to suspend operations.

FIFTEEN BELOW.

BOONE, Io., Nov. 28.—A cold wave struck this city this morning, the mercury touching 15 degrees below zero. No storm or wind.

SIX BELOW.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 28.—Weather clear and cold, six below zero. At St. Paul 10 below zero is registered. There is a strong north wind.

Cut a Water Vein.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 28.—Reports from the Ontario mine state that a drain tunnel has been cut into a large water vein. The water came forth in an immense volume, carrying all before it. Loose timbers were carried to the mouth of the tunnel, and a 20-inch pipe was so completely washed out that it was necessary to tie it to the remaining timbers of the tunnel. The tunnel to a length of nearly two thousand feet is under water all the way from six to twelve inches, and operations are completely blocked and cannot be resumed in less than seven to ten days. Ten thousand gallons are flowing per minute.

They Are Thankful.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 28.—According to custom, the Governor pardoned two State prison convicts on Thanksgiving Day. The fortunate men are Charles A. Beggs, who was committed in 1881 on a life sentence for murder in the second degree in killing Charles Slaison because of jealousy on account of Beggs' wife, and Thomas Mullen, who was sentenced for life in April, 1882, for murder of the second degree, in killing his wife.

Died of Hunger in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A man of pleasing address who had been a Confederate soldier died of exposure and hunger here recently. He was broken down from nursing a sick wife and was unable to work. Being without means he had to leave his boarding-house and wandered about until he died.

Deaf for a Year

Hearing Restored and Catarrh Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Three years ago, as a result of Catarrh, I lost my hearing entirely and was deaf for more than a year. I tried various medicines and physicians, but without improvement. I could Distinguish No Sound.

I was intending putting myself under the care of a specialist when some one suggested that possibly Hood's Sarsaparilla would do me some good. I began taking it without expecting much help. To my surprise and great joy I found when I had taken three bottles that my hearing was returning. I kept on taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Till I had taken three more, when I stopped. It is now over a year, and I am troubled very little with Catarrh. I consider this a very remarkable case." HERMAN HICKS, 30 Carter st., Rochester, N. Y.

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE.

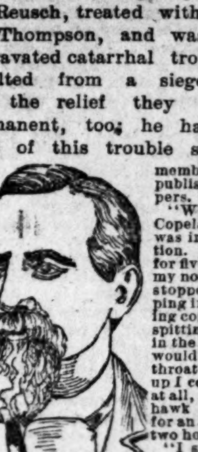

Mr. Silas Reusch Tells His Own Experience,

And Recalls the Case of His Father Which Was Attended by the Same Results Some Months Ago.

"I am the second in our family to testify from personal experience that Drs. Copeland and Thompson can effectually cure chronic catarrh."

The speaker was Mr. Silas Reusch of 3001 Rappahannock street, city.

"Some months ago my father, Mr. Gustav Reusch, treated with Drs. Copeland and Thompson, and was relieved of an aggravated catarrhal trouble which had resulted from a siege of la grippe, and the relief they gave him was permanent, too; he has had no return of this trouble since. You remember his statement was published in the daily papers.

Mr. Gustav Reusch.

"When I went to Drs. Copeland and Thompson I was in a frightful condition. I had been troubled for five or six years with my nose and throat; nose stopped up, mucous dropping into my throat, causing continual hawking and spitting. This was worse in the morning. When I would get out of bed my throat would be so choked up I could hardly breathe at all, and I would have to hawk and gag, sometimes for an hour and a half and two hours to clear it.

"I suffered from heavy headaches over the eyes and in the back of my head and at the base of the brain, and frequent sharp, driving pains all through my head that would

ALMOST BLIND ME.

Roaring and buzzing noises filled my ears, and my hearing was very seriously impaired. I could not understand an ordinary tone of conversation.

"I had sharp shooting pains in the chest and shoulder-blades, palpitation of the heart and terrible smothering spells when it would be at all.

DIFFICULT TO BREATHE

"The last few years my trouble became very serious. Night sweats came on and my flesh would be cold and clammy, my appetite failed and the food I did eat my stomach would not digest and consequently gave me no strength.

I LOST WEIGHT RAPIDLY.

"Sleep did me no good. I would get up mornings more tired than when I went to bed. I was nervous, irritable and miserable all the time. Had no ambition to do anything. I tried a number of good physicians but got no relief, so that when I went to Drs. Copeland and Thompson I was very much discouraged. I am happy to state, however, that in my case, as in thousands of others, they were successful.

Mr. Silas Reusch, 3001 Rappahannock Street.

"I improved steadily under their skillful and intelligent treatment and now am all right. The noises in my ears are gone. My hearing is as acute as ever. I have gained twenty-six pounds in weight. Appetite is good and I sleep sound and refreshingly.

"The doctor advised me to continue a little longer to be positive the trouble is entirely eradicated, and I am taking his advice. But I never felt better in my life than now."

FROM REPRESENTATIVE MEN.

"Last August I completed a course of treatment with Drs. Copeland and Thompson and was cured of catarrh of the head, throat and stomach, from which I had suffered incessantly for three years. I simply want to say that their cure was permanent and lasting. I have had no return of the trouble since and with proper care never expect to."

DRS. COPELAND AND THOMPSON—Gentlemen: My object in writing these few lines is to express my gratitude and complete satisfaction at the successful and intelligent manner in which you are treating my catarrhal trouble. You are perfectly welcome to any use you may desire to make of this letter, and I only hope it may be of some benefit to you and the public.

"When I first called on Drs. Copeland and Thompson my appetite was so poor I could not eat enough to keep my strength up. My nights were sleepless. Under their treatment I gained 7 pounds in four weeks. I eat well and sleep soundly now. I most cordially and fully indorse and recommend them to my friends as skillful and successful physicians."

"I suffered for twenty years. Was treated by a number of the best known specialists and tried all the patent medicines I ever heard of, but to no avail. Drs. Copeland and Thompson have given me more permanent relief in a few months than all the others together. Their treatment is the most pleasant and the most satisfactory in result. I can conscientiously recommend them."

CRUISE OF THE ALABAMA

A LONG BUT UNSUCCESSFUL SEARCH FOR A GOLD LADEN STEAMER.

An Exciting Engagement With the United States Steamer Hatteras in Which the Alabama Came Off Victorious—Prizes Taken by Semmes.

Through late files of papers taken from our captures we learned of the fitting out of a formidable expedition for the invasion of Texas under Gen. Banks, who planned the tranportation of his troops by sea to the harbor of Galveston. This would necessarily require a large fleet of transports, accompanied by vessels of war as an escort for protection. The harbor of Galveston, as is well known, does not admit of ships of large size, consequently the fleet of transports would be obliged to anchor in the outer roadstead, and it would take some time to land troops, horses and artillery by lighters of less draught.

Capt. Semmes had planned to intercept and attack this fleet at their anchorage, and steaming through the midst of them at the hour of midnight after a fatiguing day's work, when soundly sleeping, pour in upon them from both our batteries such a destructive fire as to cripple and demoralize them if not destroy their entire fleet.

The vessels of war escorting the fleet would prove poor protection, as we meant to accomplish our purpose and be out of their way before they could get up steam and pursue us. This was our object in dispatching our coal ship to the Arcas Keys, where we proposed to meet her, thoroughly overhaul our ship, practice our men at target firing and take in a full supply of coal before proceeding ourselves to Galveston to intercept the expedition.

THE WAIT FOR GOLD.

We then approached the east end of Cuba where the California steamers pass and repass on their way to Aspinwall, the homeward bound steamers bringing in gold in large quantities. As it was too soon for our proposed plan of attack on the fleet off Galveston we thought it would be time well spent to lie in wait and capture a California steamer, with millions of gold being transported to New York. From this point we could intercept everything going through the passage and did overhaul many neutrals. About the 5th of December we captured a little American schooner called the Union bound to a port in Jamaica. Her cargo being of no value, we placed our prisoners of the Parker Cooke on board and took a ransom bond, allowing her to proceed on her voyage.

At this season the atmosphere was so transparent that we had in constant view during the day the islands of San Domingo, Jamaica and Cuba and at night the brilliant light on the east end of Cuba was a signal which we could readily hold our position.

It was time for the steamers to put in appearance. Our officers and men were all on the qui vive, many volunteers going aloft with glass in hand to scan the horizon. It was not until Sunday, Dec. 7, that the long desired cry of "sail ho!" came from the mast-head to greet the welcoming ear. When the hail of the officer of the deck "Where away" was made tho reply came "Broad on the port bow," and all visions of California gold vanished like the mist of early morning before the sunrise. It was the wrong direction for the homeward bound. We were quite concerned lest it should be a vessel of war. Her rapid approach soon developed her character, being brig-rigged and showing a great deal of hull out of water. This was satisfactory evidence that she must be the outbound steamer for California.

We lost no time in getting up a good head of steam and preparing the ship for action. We hoisted the United States colors and as the steamer rapidly approached she hoisted the same. We now attempted to lay across her bows and fired a blank cartridge to bring her to.

Her decks were crowded with passengers, men, women and children. Upon report of the gun they scampered below. The steamer, no doubt, suspecting our nationality, increased her speed and steered for the Cuban coast to reach the marine league. She had the advantage of us in her headway under steam. We gave chase, and finding she did not mean to stop we threw a solid shot over her decks, which proved an excellent shot, taking a chip out of her foremast. This had the desired effect and she stopped instantly.

THE STEAMER ARIEL.

We steamed alongside and sent a boarding officer on her who soon returned and reported her the American steamer Ariel from New York with 500 passengers on board, mostly women and children, besides marines and some naval officers going out to the Pacific Squadron. The Ariel proved a prize difficult to dispose of, so the Captain concluded to hold her some days in hopes of taking a less valuable prize and, transferring the passengers and crew, to be able to burn this ship. To secure her from escaping, however, we sent an engineer on board to take from her a part of her machinery, thus disabling her.

Our boarding officer reported all confusion and alarm on board among the ladies. Upon his return to take charge of the steamer he soon quieted them with the assurance that no ill would befall them, nor would they in any way be molested. They became so reconciled and so won by his courteous manners that the next morning, in bidding them adieu, he was denuded of his bright Confederate navy buttons, they being kept as mementos by our fair prisoners. During the night, while in company with the Ariel, we sighted a ship and gave chase. She, however, proved to be a foreigner, and upon our return to our prize, in stopping the engine, a part of our machinery snapped, thus disabling us from moving by steam. At daylight Capt. Semmes sent for the captain of the Ariel to come on board. I took him at once to the Captain's cabin guarding him from entering into any conversation with the officers or crew that he might not learn of our disabled condition. Capt. Semmes then told him that the chase we had boarded that night had reported to him that the yellow fever was raging in Kingston, Jamaica, at which port he had intended to land his passengers and crew and then burn the steamer, but he could not carry out this plan. Humanity forbade that he should land helpless women and children in a pest-stricken city, and therefore, he would give him a proper ransom bond he would allow him to proceed on his voyage and return the machinery which was taken out."

To this proposition the Captain gladly assented and papers were drawn out to that effect.

A TRUE PROPHET.

In my conversation with the Captain of the Ariel I found him to be an exceedingly pleasant and cultivated gentleman, strongly imbued, however, with the belief that our cause was a hopeless one, and that the United States in her great strength and superior advantages was bound to be victorious in the end.

To this I would not agree at the time, but subsequent events proved him a true prophet.

We hoisted our propellor and put the Alabama under sail, shaping our course for the north side of the island of Jamaica. As the sea was smooth and we were out of the line of commercial traffic. Our engineers went vigorously to work. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon them for the skill and workmanship and the promptness with which they made all necessary repairs. Mr. Freeman, chief engineer, was a thorough machinist. His first assistant, Mr. B... was an admirable workman, skilled in his profession, while Mr. O'Brien, our third engineer, was a very talented young man. With such a corps, the Alabama was always ready for emergencies. In a few days repairs were made complete and we were again ready for the vicissitudes of our perilous cruise. As we were not, however, in great haste and were, besides, a little desirous of overhauling a California steamer on her homeward-bound passage, we continued under sail, falling into the track she would most likely take, and continuing it till we reached Cape San Antonio. But the fates were against us and we failed to sight the long looked for steamer.

We now gave up our search for gold and turned our attention to the more important matter of carrying out our plans for the encounter with the Banks expedition. Steering to the southwest and westward, and carefully feeling our way along the Yucatan banks we entered the Gulf of Mexico. Upon approaching our appointed rendezvous, taking in coals, we sighted a bark standing in the same direction as ourselves. Upon her nearer approach she proved to be the Scotch Captain and the good ship Agrippina. We had made the voyage from the east end of Cuba without sighting a sail, and

In my conversation with the Captain of the Ariel I found him to be an exceedingly pleasant and cultivated gentleman, strongly imbued, however, with the belief that our cause was a hopeless one, and that the United States in her great strength and superior advantages was bound to be victorious in the end.

To this I would not agree at the time, but subsequent events proved him a true prophet.

We hoisted our propellor and put the Alabama under sail, shaping our course for the north side of the island of Jamaica. There the sea was smooth and we were out of the line of commercial traffic. Our engineers went vigorously to work. Too much credit cannot be bestowed upon them for their skill and workmanship and the promptness with which they made all necessary repairs. Mr. Freeman, chief engineer, was a thorough machinist. His first assistant, Mr. Brooks, was an admirable workman, skilled in his profession, while Mr. O'Brien, our junior engineer, was a very talented young man. With such a corps, the Alabama was always ready for emergencies. In a few days our repairs were made complete and we were again ready for the vicissitudes of our perilous cruise. As we were not, however, in great haste and were, besides, a little desirous of overhauling a California steamer on a homeward-bound passage, we continued under sail, falling into the track she would most likely take, and continuing it till we reached Cape San Antonio. But the fates were against us and we failed to sight the hoped-for steamer.

We now gave up our search for gold, and turned our attention to the more important matter of carrying out our plans for the encounter with the Banks expedition. Steering to the southwest and westward, and carefully feeling our way along the Yucatan banks we entered the Gulf of Mexico. While approaching our appointed rendezvous for taking in coals, we sighted a bark standing in the same direction as ourselves. Upon her nearer approach she proved to be the old Scotch Captain and the good ship Agripinna. We had made the voyage from the east point of Cuba without sighting a sail, and thus were we favored in making our secret approach on Gen. Banks' expedition.

On the 5th of December we got under way with the Agripinna—she under orders to proceed to England and report to Capt. Bulloch, who had arranged for supplying us with coal at various points specified, while we proceeded under easy sail for Galveston, the papers having announced that Gen. Banks would disembark his army there on of about the 10th of January.

On the 11th of January we sighted the shipping off Galveston, but to our surprise and disappointment our lookout reported five ships only, and they unmistakably men-of-war from their square-yards and general appearance. We were at a loss to account for this change of programme, and while carefully studying out the nature of procedure the lookout at the masthead relieved our anxiety by hailing that "a steamer from the fleet was standing out for us."

We were now about twenty-five miles distant when we wore ship, placing her head off shore to gradually decoy her off to greater distance, as Capt. Semmes at once decided to engage her. We continued under topsails until the steamer showed her hull to be of some size, although not of the build of the ship of war of the present date. Up to this time we were laying under banked fires, the water sufficiently warm to get up steam in fifteen minutes, which we proceeded to do, lowered our propeller, furled our topsails snugly and cleared ship for action. The sun was setting, and a peculiar feature of these low latitudes is that immediately after sundown it grows dark, there being little or no twilight. The steamer was now approaching us very rapidly, and shaped her course so as to round to under our starboard quarter, heading in the same direction that we were. When securing this position and about 100 yards distant, both ships stopped their engines. She hailed in a clear and distinct manner through a trumpet, "What ship is that?" Capt. Semmes said in reply, "Her Britannic Majesty's ship Petrel." I got up in the rigging and in a clear tone of voice through my trumpet replied as directed, also asking, "What ship tha was?" He replied in a studied and uncertain voice. I repeated, "What ship?" I could only make out the United States ship—and not the name. He then said clearly, "I will send a boat on board," and immediately lowered a boat, all of which we heard distinctly. Capt. Semmes then turned to me and said: "Mr. Kelb, let him know, sir, who we are and commence the action." I turned to the battery and instructed the gunners to train upon the enemy and at the name of Alabama in my hail to pour in a broadside. I then mounted the rigging and in a clear, loud voice hailed the enemy through my trumpet: "This is the Confederate States steamer Alabama," when our gunners, ready for the work, poured in a terrible broadside, every shot of which I could bear strike the enemy. They were equally ready at their guns and at once replied, but not with the accuracy with which we fired, their shot passing over our heads and cutting away our rigging. The action was now kept up with great vigor—the two vessels under slow headway with a smooth sea. It was perfect target practice—our men cool and enthusiastic in their work. Every shot from our battery I could see strike the enemy and explode. At that short distance we used shell, which was doing fearful havoc.

The vessels were now approaching each other, so near indeed that I with my revolver stood on the rail and fired all the shots from my cylinder, being near enough for effective work with a navy revolver.

"CEASE FIRING!"

The enemy continued to fire high, not disturbing the work of our battery in the least, while our shots were rather low, firing sometimes below the spar deck and consequently not as destructive of life, but their engine room was literally knocked to pieces. Capt. Semmes now called out to me, "Mr. Kelb, cease firing, the enemy has fired a gun to leeward." This order was promptly obeyed. Our men cheered wildly.

There seemed to be great confusion on board the steamer and there came from her a hail: "We are on fire in three places and sinking rapidly." Steaming as near alongside as was prudent, we rescued every living soul on board, the first boat bringing Capt. Blake, who reported his command the United States steamer Hatteras. Knowing that the Federal fleet must have heard the guns during the engagement and that they would soon be in pursuit of us, all lights were now put out except the binnacle, which was closely screened. Just at this time our lookout reported "a light ahead," which assured us that our suspicions were correct. It took but a few minutes to transfer our prisoners, and all being reported safely on board, in less than ten minutes the Hatteras went down. We now shaped our course for the Yucatan Passage under steam, and saw nothing more of the enemy's fleet, satisfied with the victory won in our first conflict, and under the very eye and in hearing of the Federal fleet.

Suit Against the Lungstras Dye Co.—An Unlawful Entry Case.

The case of Mrs. John T. Percy against the Lungstras Cleaning & Dyeing Co. for $75 damages, which she claimed was done a piano cover while being cleaned by the defendant, was called for trial in Justice Carroll's court to-day. The defense asked for a dismissal on the grounds that they did not hold themselves responsible for injuries done to articles undergoing cleansing or dyeing, and they so stated on their business cards. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant should inform persons of this fact, and not be content with a statement on the card. Evidence was taken on the point, which was taken under advisement, and the case was continued.

In the case of Henry Peltier against J. W. Coffey for $100 damages claimed for unlawful entry, tried before Justice Slevin to-day, the plaintiff was given damages for the full amount. According to the evidence Peltier rented the house, 719 Rutger street, from Coffey. Peltier left the house but did not take all his property. Coffey took possession of the key in the absence of Peltier and refused to give him possession, and he brought suit.

Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, beginning at 8 a. m. to-day, for Missouri: Colder; northerly winds, and generally fair weather; continued cold and fair Sunday.

The storm central in this vicinity has moved eastward to the coast, while a high barometer and cold wave has sunk southward from the Dakotas, and now covers the country between the Rocky Mountains and the Lakes as far south as Indian Territory. The temperature has fallen from 20 to 33 degs. in Kansas and Western Missouri. The temperature is below zero as far south as Southern Iowa, and below freezing to the southern limits of Missouri. Light snow has fallen everywhere between the Rocky and Allegheny Mountains, north of Missouri.

Weather forecast for twenty-four hours ending at noon Sunday for St. Louis: Light flurries of snow to-day, followed by generally clearing weather; somewhat colder to-night; northerly winds.

CAPRIVI has not resigned and neither is BISMARCK.

THE limit on express delivery greatly limits the value of the express service as a transportation agency.

THE friends of Mr. MILLS should bear in mind that a Speakership term by misrepresentation is more of a disgrace than an honor.

THE New Year's Ball will be WARD MCALLISTER'S greatest effort, greater even than his efforts to master the English language.

FONSECA has lost his job and is like the man whom the mule kicked—he is not near so handsome as he was, but he knows a great deal more.

GEN. GRANT would make an excellent Secretary of War, but the important question is, can he prevent a coalition of the Alliance and Democratic forces in the Northwest?

THE Democratic Convention should be brought to St. Louis if for nothing else than to offset the effect of the Prohibition Convention, which is expected to make a raid on our water supply.

EX-SPEAKER REID it is said, will occupy a leading position on the Republican side of the fifty-second Congress. It is easy to acquire such a position when the class is composed of "me and another boy."

MR. ROOSEVELT is being investigated by a committee appointed by the Postmaster-General for the purpose. But he will be whitewashed. Any man with limber convictions is sure of a white coat from this administration.

THE Brazilians can afford to be magnanimous to poor old FONSECA, who is probably more of a blunderer than a villain. Magnanimity to defeated enemies is a good cement for the building up and strengthening of republics.

"GEN." PALMER is still fighting the Southern Confederacy. He did not accomplish much when the war was raging, but in peace he is full of military prowess. How long will the Grand Army tolerate and promote these wordy ruffians?

GOV. HILL has another reason for staying in Albany till the end of his term. He is needed to prevent the Republicans stealing the Legislature, which they seem bent upon doing. JONES is not equal to the task, and it isn't certain he is a Democrat.

OUR brilliant naval department is now engaged upon the puzzling problem of how to make a vessel with an irresistible tendency to turn over a useful addition to the navy. This is the condition of the new cruiser Philadelphia. Of course by taking away her masts and a deck or two and placing her armament in her hold, she may be made to sit straight, but unfortunately that is not all that is required of a cruiser.

A RULE EMPHASIZED.

To-day's Globe-Democrat contains a condensation of the witty and interesting article on the game of poker written by the late WILLIAM J. FLORENCE, which was sent to the POST-DISPATCH from New York, and published in full on Thanksgiving Day. To-day's Republic contains an article, clipped from a San Francisco paper, describing Prof. R. L. GARNER'S studies and discoveries in the language of the ape family and his plan to prosecute his researches in Africa. Prof. GARNER fully described his discoveries in this line of scientific investigation in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH of last Sunday, and his plan of occupying a cage in the Gaboon country to study the gorilla language was detailed in the Friday POST-DISPATCH of last week.

We do not refer to these delayed repetitions in the columns of our esteemed contemporaries of information printed in the POST-DISPATCH to give them pain or to discourage them in their efforts to keep within sight of the journalistic procession, but merely to call attention to the well demonstrated fact that the procession in these parts is led by the daily and SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. These particular instances merely serve to emphasize the general rule maintained by the POST-DISPATCH of publishing the news, and the news is here used in the broadest sense of the term as including all information of fact, and of progress and achievement in the world's work, in advance of its competitors.

We care more for results than the processes of journalistic enterprises. We are willing to let others indulge in blatant trumpeting about special dispatches and the labor and cost of securing them as long as we print the information in advance of the others. We regard the publication of the news as of more importance than the publication of wearisome details about newsgathering. We are content in short to "get there first" and to have the public recognize the fact.

THE records upon which depend the titles to $250,000,000 worth of real estate in St. Louis are stowed away on iron shelves in various apartments of the Court-house, where their preservation is a matter of extreme difficulty and continual uneasiness to the Recorder. They are liable to damage or destruction from a variety of accidents, which would involve property-owners in endless litigation and ruinous difficulties. There should not only be better provision for their safe keeping at the Recorder's office, but to make assurance doubly sure attested duplicates should be kept stored in some other safe place specially provided for them. A fire-proof building at Jefferson City for the preservation of duplicate records of all the counties in the State should be provided by the State, in view of the liability of such records to destruction by fire at the various court-houses.

ONE of the first things the new House should attend to is the thorough investigation of the collusion and perversion of law by which the Patent Office has given to the Bell Telephone Co. a virtual extension of its monopoly for seventeen years. This has been done by holding back a patent applied for by EMIL BERLINER in 1877, and not issuing it till 1891, when it turns out to be the property of the Bell Telephone Co., and the only thing that can operate as an extension of that company's telephone monopoly, which would run out in a year or two under its old patents. Congress should not stand still and permit our Patent Office and patent laws to be used for the oppression and robbery of the people by a concern whose history from the beginning has been a scarlet reflection on the administration of our system of patent rights.

THE Kenrick jubilee celebration will be the most picturesque and interesting church ceremonial ever seen in America. The presence of Cardinal GIBBONS, a possible future occupant of the throne of St. Peter, adds to the dignity and importance of the occasion, and the ceremonies will never be forgotten by those who witness them. To-morrow's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH will contain a complete account of all the ceremonies with many illustrations, covering every detail and leaving nothing to be desired. It will be a valuable souvenir of an historical event. Besides this there will be other important church news of more than usual interest, and a fine variety of Sunday reading to amuse and instruct all sorts of people.

MR. CLARKSON is not the unquestioning believer in the campaign of finance that his friend, Mr. QUAY, would like to have him. For some time past the Iowa statesman has been advocating the introduction of ideas into political canvasses. He deplores the fact that the press of the country is almost altogether in the hands of the Democrats and that Democratic thought is imbibed too freely, owing to its accessibility. But it may be confidently affirmed that if there are any ideas in the Republican party they will utter themselves. It is their habit. If there is no utterance it is safe to conclude that there is nothing to utter and a campaign of finance is the only thing left. As between the two men as practical politicians, Mr. QUAY is unquestionably correct in his views.

As A correspondent in the People's Forum to-day points out, under the old-fogy and wrongful express delivery limit the express service, while costing three or four times as much, offers little advantage over freight service. In other words, the business which the express companies get on the ground of certain and rapid delivery is obtained under false pretenses.

What Congress Should Do.

From the New York WORLD.

Congress should pass a bill to put binding-twine on the free list, with no incumbering provision. The Senate would not venture to defeat that, though it would pretty certainly defeat a comprehensive tariff reform bill of Democratic construction including that provision. It should pass another bill making the raw material of iron manufacture free; another doing the same, or something like it, for the woolen-cloth makers; another repealing those extra duties on woolen cloths which were imposed avowedly as compensation to the manufacturers for the duty on raw materials, and perhaps some others.

If bills of this kind are passed by the House the Senate will pretty certainly accept them. The Republican majority there is small and is difficult to hold together for high protection even when a comprehensive bill is under consideration. It could not be held together in opposition to measures of relief like these, involving the vital interests of the Northwestern farmers in the one case, of New England manufacturers and their workmen in another and of the great mass of the people in others.

Pelf or Patriotism.

From the New York WORLD.

The number of pensioners has increased from 207,000 in 1871 to 676,000 in 1891. The increase last year was 138,000, which is more than half the whole number on the list in 1880, fifteen years after the close of the war. There are over 500,000 new claims pending. The cost of pensions this year will be $150,000,000. This is an increase of $100,000,000 within ten years.

The cost of pensions is now more than double the total expenses of the National Government in the year before the war. It is equal to the cost of two of the greatest standing armies in Europe. It absorbs one-third of the national revenues.

To suppose that this work of claim agents and demagogues can go on indefinitely is to imagine the people indifferent to the burdens of taxation or to the honor of the soldiers who saved the Union, not for pelf but for patriotism.

Mills' Fool Friends.

From the Springfield (Mo.) Democrat.

The next important political event will be the election of Speaker of the incoming House of Representatives. Mills should have been chosen without serious opposition, and would unquestionably have been but for his ostentatious uneasiness. By the blundering of himself and friends he has succeeded in antagonizing the friends of silver by unnecessarily and in an exceedingly impolitic manner belittling the latter, and the result is a counter rallying around the Crisp standard and his probable election. Mr. Mills' campaign has been one of self-sufficiency not at all in accord with the American idea, whether in politics, business or society.

Right Bold, Safe and Glad.

From the New York WORLD.

Judge Holman's Delphic utterance, "It is better to be safe than to be sorry," is valuable chiefly in the application made of it. The idea that it is "safe" for a party to conceal or to disclaim its principles, or to try to win upon false pretenses, or simply to get the offices, is not brilliant, and the Judge probably meant nothing of that sort. If maxims are in order it is more to the point to say that "It is better to be brave than to slink," or "It is better to be right than wrong." The Democratic party now bids fair to be right, bold, safe and glad in 1892.

The Extra Session.

From the Marshall Democratic News.

Gov. Francis ought to show a little more spinality and decide at once whether or not we are to have an extra session of the Legislature. Time enough has been consumed in talk.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

The Express Nuisance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your position against the non-delivery of goods by the express companies is timely and admirable. It is on their part a petty evasion of duty and obligation and destroys pretty much all the advantage the public expect in shipping by them—as a matter of fact their service is but little more expeditious than that of the fast freight lines, which now are most admirably organized, and who have of late undertaken to make house delivery of goods at a small advance charge. Now the express companies charge $3.50 to $4 per hundred weight between New York and St. Louis, and take say three days to do it. If they dump parcels in a down-town warehouse and send you a postal that compels you to go down-town and arrange for the delivery to your house at an extra charge the value of express service is about done for. There is little of the goods and parcels sent where it is at all material if it take three or four days. The convenience of a prompt house delivery and freedom from all further care is what prompts people in using them. Now, the fast freight lines will deliver your parcels at from 75 cents to $1 a hundred, and say a slight house delivery charge extra. The "Star Union" and the "Merchants' Dispatch" Lines are giving an excellent and ever improving service. The writer has been using them for two years with great satisfaction. They take now only four or five days and their charges, as you see, are only about one-fourth and not very much difference in time. Let the public use them, and after a while these express monopolies, as they think themselves, will not say "the public be d——d." OLD TIMER.

The Express Gouge.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your remarks in regard to express deliveries and their extortion are right and to the point. Keep it up and let those Eastern managers and their Eastern Superintendent learn that their small Eastern ideas find no footing in this great Western country.

Let them understand we are no one-horse country town, but a progressive city of half a million.

If the commission men on Third street want their goods in time for the early morning trade, they must send to the depot for them, the express companies taking their own time to deliver.

I have been in the commission business over twenty years, and in my opinion no improvement has been made in that time. What we want in St. Louis is a Western man with broad Western ideas as superintendent of one or two of the express companies.

THE ENGLISH CASE.

Judge Normile on the Effect of the New Indictment.

THE VENUE IS AGAIN VESTED IN THE CRIMINAL COURT.

Detective Tracy Accused of Putting a Few Bumps on a Phrenologist's Head—A Money Lender Charged With Fraud—Pearl McDonald of Pleasant Hill, Ill., Supposed to Be Here.

Judge Normile overruled a motion for a change of venue this morning in the case of Cecil M. English, charged with murder in the first degree, for killing Thomas A. Fitzgerald, on March 24, 1890. When English was called for trial, after many continuances, he filed an affidavit through his attorney, Marshal McDonald, declaring the inhabitants of St. Louis to be so prejudiced against him that a jury in this city would not give him a fair and impartial trial. The case was sent to St. Louis County, and two months ago, on the day it was to be tried, English was rearrested and a new indictment issued by the October Grand-jury. Why this was done Circuit Attorney Clover refused to say. He held that the new indictment quashed the old one and restored the case to the docket of the St. Louis Criminal Court. Mr. McDonald claimed the contrary. He maintained that he secured a change of venue because the people of this city were prejudiced against English for killing Fitzgerald, and having secured a change of venue on this ground, the new indictment issued on this same charge did not take the case out of the jurisdiction of the County Court, it being necessary that a new charge should be preferred to take it from the court.

Judge Normile in overruling the motion said it had not been properly made. The new indictment on the old charge, he said, restored the case to the St. Louis Criminal Court as there is now no charge of murder against English in St. Louis Courts, the indictment on which he went to St. Louis County on a change of venue having been quashed. He inferred that the proper way to proceed would be again to file an affidavit declaring the people of St. Louis to be prejudiced and against English as though it were a new case.

Warrant for a Detective.

Prof. William Warburton Tedford, late of Calcutta, India, phrenologist, scientist and philanthropist, secured a warrant against Detective James Tracy this morning charging that officer of law with assault and battery. Last Saturday Detective Tracy was sent to a boarding-house at Fifteenth and Olive streets to see Prof. Tedford and ask him some questions as to his business here as a "phrenologist, scientist and philanthropist." The professor, it is said, cuffed Tracy on the ear for his inquisitiveness and a gory set-to ensued from which the professor emerged with a bloody face and five cuts on his head and cheeks, where Tracy's bare knuckles had struck him. He was arrested and taken to the Four Courts. Last Monday he was charged with resisting an officer and disturbing the peace. Mr. Chappell of 3676 Olive street appeared at the police court last Monday and swore out a summons for Dr. Tedford charging him with trespass. He was tried on this charge yesterday. It developed in the testimony that his wife owned the house 3676 Olive street and it was charged that he tried to secure possession of her home by having Mr. Chappell move out. Mr. Chappell refused to go on Mr. Tedford's notice, as his wife did not sign it. It is charged that he called at the house Nov. 20 and ereated a disturbance, and on this act is based the charge of trespass. He was fined $50 yesterday by Judge Morris on the evidence. This morning he and his attorneys, Bentley & Peabody, called on Mr. Dierkes and secured the warrant against Tracy for the beating he gave the doctor last Saturday. The charges of disturbing the peace and resisting an officer are still pending.

A Missing Girl.

Joseph Concannon of 2631 Walnut street called at the Four Courts this morning and requested the police to aid him in finding Pearl McDonald, a pretty girl, 17 years of age. She has been missing from her home in Pleasant Hill, Ill., for weeks. On Sept. 14 she went to visit some friends in Delhi, Ill., and remained there until Oct. 1. When she left she said she was going home, but nothing has been seen of her since. Several letters written from this city were received from her by her parents. In them she said she was living with a widow lady here, and had gone to work. She had a pleasant home, she said, and would not return to her parents. The girl refused to give her address, and told her parents to send all letters to the General Delivery Department of the Post-office here, and she would get them. Mr. Concannon, a friend of the family, was asked by the parents to locate the girl, and he has tried, but failing to do so he called on the police for assistance. The police should have no trouble in finding the young lady as nature has marked her in a very peculiar manner. One of her eyes is blue, the other is brown. She is five feet tall, weighs about one hundred pounds, has light hair and a light complexion.

Sentenced on Pleas.

Two sentences were imposed upon prisoners arraigned in the Criminal Court this morning when they entered pleas of guilty to the charges preferred. Frank Doyle was charged with burglary in the second degree and larceny for stealing a coat and vest valued at $15 from the room of James Lawler at 1107 North Ninth street. He said he was drunk at the time and did not know what he was doing, but would plead guilty to petit larceny as the property was recovered. His punishment was fixed at three months in the Workhouse.

Thomas O'Malley was charged with burglary in the second degree and larceny, and but for the kindly services of Attorney Jesse McDonald, who interceded with the court for him, he would have been compelled to serve a long term in the penitentiary. O'Malley was charged with burglarizing S. W. Adler's store, 921 Olive street, and stealing a lot of cigars and a mandolin. About three weeks ago Attorney Furling, without the knowledge or consent of young O'Malley's parents, saw him in jail and he agreed to plead guilty to grand larceny. When he did so he was sentenced to the Penitentiary for three years. Jesse McDonald, knowning there were mitigating circumstances in the case, explained them to the court. The result was the setting aside of the three-year sentence and the imposition of a sentence of six months.

A Money Lender in Trouble.

Fred A. Seifert, the attorney and money lender, whose office is at 515 Pine street, is charged with fraud in a warrant sworn out this morning by William Gwynn, W. N. Manley and J. Q. Keene, all employes of the Western Union Telegraph Co. In swearing out the warrant Mr. Gwynn said he borrowed $20 from Seifert and gave him a note for $24 payable in twelve days, agreeing to pay $4 interest for $20 for the twelve days. The note was indorsed by W. N. Manley and J. A. Keene, two friends of Gwynn. It was not paid in twelve days, but Gwynn says he paid $12 on account soon after it became due, and $7 more shortly after the first payment. Seifert, he claims, called Monday when the note was due and collected the face value of it, $24, Manley being under the impression that Gwynn had refused to pay it. It is charged that Seifert also called on Keene, but that gentleman refused to pay the note. On this statement of facts the warrant was issued. Seifert was not seen but it is said that he makes a defense of his action by saying Gwynn agreed to pay $4 interest on $20 for twelve days and as he did not pay his note when due the same rate of interest should rule. In that case Mr. Gwynn and his indorsers are still indebted to Seifert though they claim to have paid $43 for the $20 borrowed three months ago.

Sincere Thanks.

The ladies of St. Margaret's Hospital Association desire to express to Mr. Sol Smith Russell and his excellent company their sincere thanks and an assurance of grateful remembrance for the highly enjoyable performance on Monday evening, and to the Opera-house management, the public and the press for their generous encouragement and help in support of the work undertaken for the relief of the suffering poor.

THE DESTITUTE.

Aid for the Budde Family—Another Case of Poverty Reported.

A charitably disposed person who refused to give her name left a basket of delicacies and 50 cents in money with Detective O'Neil at the Lafayette Police Station yesterday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Budde of 1217 North Fifteenth street, whose destitute condition was reported in the columns of this paper. The articles were promptly turned over to the family and were thankfully received.

Mrs. Sophia Moore and her four small children, living on the northwest corner of Daggett and Macklind avenues, are sick and in destitute circumstances. Her husband is confined in the City Hospital with a broken arm. The police report the family worthy of any assistance given them.

Order of the Iron Hall.

The entire order in this city is enjoying quite a boom. The percentage of increase this year far excels any year since its organization. A great deal of this increase can be credited to the Board of Deputies, which has been, and is, doing splendid work with its entertainment committees. Only seventeen assessments will be called for 1891, also one-seventh of the reserve fund for the Supreme sitting first being called for two years.

Branch No. 158 met last Saturday evening with a good attendance. Five candidates were initiated and six applications presented. The lodge is enjoying a membership of over three hundred now. At its next meeting the Modoc Degree will be given to twenty-five new members who wish to join this side issue. A big time is guaranteed all who attend. Saturday evening, Dec. 5, will be election of officers. All members are requested to attend; refreshments will be furnished by the Modoc Committee. Branch 434 gave a hop last Monday evening at their hall, 2801 Franklin avenue; the hall was beautifully decorated; at 12 o'clock the supper march was played and all adjourned to the new elegant dining-room, where refreshments were served. This branch meets every Monday. Branch 108 met last Saturday evening with about seventy-five members present. This is the banner branch of South St. Louis; it had four initiations and five applications presented; the members are now doing good work. Branch 93 are doing good work; they have fifteen applications on file; several of the members will receive their $1,000 within a short time as their seven years have expired, and all go in again.

Congressman Tarsney on the Speakership.

Congressman John C. Tarsney of Kansas City is in the city to-day, and will leave to-night for Washington to get on the ground early and watch the contest for the Speakership. Mr. Tarsney, like all other members of the Missouri delegation, excepting Mr. O'Neill of the Eighth District, is a strong Hatch supporter. Mr. O'Neill still clings to Mills, and says he will do so to the end of the caucus.

Speaking of Col. Hatch's chances Mr. Tarsney said: "Mr. Hatch will receive all but one of the Missouri delegation and some scattering votes from elsewhere on the first ballot. If the contest is drawn out and there are the three or four ballots without a choice being made, Col. Hatch will stand a very good chance of election. Geographically he is well situated and his splendid record in Congress makes him well fitted for the speakership.

Wilder Brigade Monument.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov.—Gen. Wilder's brigade of mounted infantry, famous in the Army of the Cumberland, will be one of the first to mark its position on the battlefield of Chickamauga. The Park Commissioners have granted permission to the brigade to place its monument at the side of the Widow Glenn's house, the advance position gained by Wilder after Sheridan was driven from his position of the right wing of the Federal forces. A suitable tablet costing $700 will be erected, of which amount Gen. Wilder will give $400, and the Executive Committee of his brigade is now asking for designs in marble, granite and bronze. The selection will be made and the monument erected so that it can be unveiled and dedicated on the next anniversary of the battle, when the Society of the Army of the Cumberland will meet.

Looking for Lost Millions.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The Board of Directors of the Standard Gas Co. met yesterday in secret session to consider the case of the former President of the company, Wallace F. Andrews, who is charged with having appropriated $3,000,000 worth of the common stock of the company. The negotiations are still progressing, looking for a settlement of the matter outside of the courts, the directors being willing to accept $3,000,000, which Mr. Andrews has refused, thus far, to give. If the case is brought to court—and a majority of the directors are of the opinion that it will be—there promises to be revealed a choice lot of scandal concerning Andrews' relations to certain Assemblymen who facilitated his efforts to secure the passage of an act authorizing the Standard Gas Co. to lay its mains.

A Stricken Family.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The daughter of Cyrus Field who married Daniel A. Lindley, a partner in the failed firm, is very sick. Mrs. Lindley has been ill for some time and the death of her mother aggravated her illness. Her husband intended to take her to Lakewood, N. J., but her strength failed on the journey from Dobbs Ferry and she was compelled to stop at the Everett House. Lying at the point of death, it is feared she may be in ignorance of the sorrows which are multiplying about her father. The elder Mr. Field was brought from Ardsley, his country home, to his home in Gramercy Park yesterday morning. He lies in a critical condition, overwhelmed by the misfortunes so closely heaped together.

Carondelet Jottings.

Charles Simon, a laborer, while unloading boxes on Broadway and Robert avenue yesterday afternoon fell off his wagon, receiving a severe scalp wound. Dr. Starkloff dressed the injury and had the man removed to his home, 7709 Vulcan street.

Last evening Messrs. Theo. Klinge, Will Johnston, John Lyons, Geo. Johnston and Dr. Kennerly, members of South End Council, Royal Arcanum, visited North End Council for the purpose of being initiated into the mysterious degree of hay-maker. This degree will be introduced into South End Council in the near future.

The parishoners of SS. Mary and Joseph's Church will hold a meeting to-morrow morning at the school hall to complete arrangements for the participation in the torchlight procession. It has been decided that the members of SS. Mary and Joseph's Church and St. Columbkill's Church will give a parade here prior to taking train for the city.

The funeral of Mrs. James Dalton, who died last Thursday morning, took place at 10 o'clock this morning from St. Columbkill's Church. Solemn high mass was held, the Rev. Father Jones officiating. The remains were interred in Mount Olive Cemetery. The funeral was largely attended by friends and relatives. The deceased was an old resident here.

Messrs. Edward Powers and Hoyet of Centralia, Mo., are visiting friends here.

Mr. Ed Miller returned yesterday from New York.

The Mikado Glee Club will give its annual mask ball to-morrow at Turner Hall.

THE COURTS.

Another Suit Under the Anti-Trust Law—Under the Dome.

Circuit Attorney Ashley C. Clover filed another mandamus suit in the Circuit Court this afternoon against the Paulus & Williamson Architectural Co., whom he charges are carrying on business in opposition to the new State trust laws. Mr. Clover stated that nothing new was contemplated in this case and that he intended to file it with the rest, which took place several days ago, but in some way the papers were mislaid. The result was the delay in filing the suit.

In filing the suit the State will make the same fight in every case, which has already been explained in this paper.

Charges Desertion.

Mrs. Anna Bullard filed a suit for divorce to-day against Wm. W. Bullard. They were married, Sept. 21, 1882, in Vincennes, Ind. and lived together until July 7, 1887. Mrs. Bullard charges her husband with abuse, drunkenness, failure to support and desertion. There was a child born of the union, Richard, aged 6 years, whose custody she asks.

Suing the Missouri Pacific.

Mary Breeden, a colored woman, is suing the Missouri Pacific Railway Co. to-day in Judge Withrow's court for $3,000 damages for a broken arm, which she alleges she received by a fall from a train at the Union Depot. The accident occurred July 7, 1890, on an excursion to Creve Cœur Lake. The plaintiff alleges that she was standing on the platform and the train gave a jerk, causing her to fall off.

Court Notes.

COTTAGES BURNED.

Four Residences Destroyed at Oakcliff, Tex.—Other Fires.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 28.—Four cottages burned in Oakcliff last night valued at $4,000. One was owned by W. M. Gill, two by C. E. Moman and two by Mrs. Redding of Waxachie, Tex. The losses partially covered by insurance; cause a defective flue.

BAGGING FACTORY BURNED.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 28.—Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the head of the boiler in the bagging establishment of Peter Young, 816 and 818 South Front street, blew out, the live coals setting fire to the building, which inside of an hour was completely destroyed. Three firemen, Barney Barrett, Abe Lacey and George Crilly were slightly injured by falling walls. The adjoining houses, which are mostly small two-story affairs, were damaged by water. The loss on the fire could not be accurately discovered, owing to the absence of Mr. Young, but it is thought to be in the neighborhood of $40,000.

IRON MINES ON FIRE.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 28.—The Hematite shaft of the Lake Superior Iron Mine caught fire at midnight, the men all escaping by another opening. The fire department is trying to prevent the spread of the flames, which are on the fifth and sixth levels and in the shaft.

FREE TRADE WITH HAWAII.

Such a Treaty Agreed to and Ready for Signature.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A special from Washington says Dr. Mott Smith, a member of the Cabinet of the Queen of the Hawaiian Islands, who came to Washington sometime ago to secure a modification of the reciprocity treaty between Hawaii and this Government, has concluded his work. His efforts have resulted in the negotiation of an entirely new treaty, which provides for absolute free trade between the two governments. The treaty has been signed by Dr. Smith and by the representatives of the United States through whom the negotiations were carried on. It has been in the possession of the President for several days, but has not yet been signed by him.

BLACK DAMP.

It Almost Causes the Death of One Illinois Miner.

COLLINSVILLE, Ill., Nov. 28.—Richard Lindley, a pit boss in the Hines Bluff mine of the Consolidated Coal Co., met with an accident yesterday which almost cost him his life and which has left him in a very weak condition. About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon he disappeared and a search was instituted by Supt. Fletcher, Pit-boss Caleb Jones, Peter Grieves and a number of citizens. The search was prosecuted until 12 o'clock at night, when he was found almost suffocated by black damp. According to his story he went down to inspect the air courses in his shaft and while down there was overcome. He will recover after a few days' rest.

George Kennan Ill.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 28.—A dispatch from San Francisco says: George Kennan, lecturer and writer on the Siberian exile system, who is here now, is a victim of nervous prostration. For months he has been working fifteen hours a day on his new book about Siberia. It has made heavy drains on his energy, and for several weeks he has been traveling and lecturing at the same time. The result is that his nervous system is wholly shattered, and insomnia has secured a grip which he cannot shake off.

Fell From a Car.

Mrs. Johanna Murrigan, a widow living at 2906 North Broadway, stepped from a Broadway cable car in front of her residence this morning, and before she could cross the tracks a cable going north struck her. She was knocked off the track to one side and fell on her head. When taken to Dr. Edward Brock's residence at Ninth and Salisbury streets her spine was found to be severely injured, and she was bleeding profusely from a serious scalp wound.

Vacation for Steamships.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Several of the big steamship lines will lay off their fast steamers in January. These have been doing good service during the "rush" season and need a rest. The White Star Line will lay up the Teutonic and the Majestic for a time. The Adriatic will take the place of the Teutonic on Jan. 13. The Inman Line will lay off the City of Paris and the City of New York early in the year. The Hamburg-American Co. have already issued the order for the temporary withdrawal of the Augusta Victoria and the Columbia.

A Woman Fatally Injured.

Mrs. Johanna Morrigan, a widow with four children residing at the northeast corner of Broadway and Wright street, was knocked down and probably fatally injured by a Broadway cable car at Broadway and Tyler street at 8 o'clock this morning. She stepped off a southbound car and was struck by the northbound car. She was dragged by the car and received a severe scalp wound and was badly injured about the spine. She was taken to the private surgical home of the syndicate street-car system, Ninth and Salisbury streets, where Dr. Edward Borck attended her injuries.

Postmasters' Convention Probable.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Postmaster Hale of Minneapolis called upon Postmaster Van Cott yesterday. The subject of how to handle the mail when a large convention is in session in the city was discussed. Postmaster Hale said that it was probable that a branch office would be established in the convention hall in Minneapolis during the holding of the Republican National Convention.

For Sweet Charity.

On the 1st and 2d prox the annual sale of hand-embroidered and home-made articles of use and ornament will take place at the residence of Mrs. George Castleman, No. 2739 Locust street, for the benefit of the St. Louis Children's Hospital. The ladies in charge will conduct the sale from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., and will add to it social features which will make it the event of its kind of the month.

A Wagon Knocked Out.

About 6:30 o'clock last night, motor car 122 of the Mound City line ran into a wagon on Glasgow and Sullivan avenues and completely demolished it. The wagon was owned by Theodore Klockenkemper of 2551 Sullivan avenue, and was driven by August Raffel. Raffel was thrown into the street but escaped injury.

Howard Walter.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 28.—Mr. Howard Walter of the firm of Walter, Tucker & Co., bankers and brokers, No. 50 State street, died last night, aged 46. He had been a member of the Boston brokers about twelve years.

A Small Blaze.

A still alarm was given about 4 o'clock this morning to Engine Co. No. 23 for a fire in Switzer & Murphy's candy factory, No. 11 North Main street. Damage, $60. The fire was caused by hot ashes falling from a stove.

Mrs. E. S. Bowen, sister of Archbishop Ryan of New York, arrived last evening and is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Maguire of 3920 Windsor place.

Mr. F. L. Marshall,

Representing the POST-DISPATCH on 'Change, will be on the floor during business hours and will call on merchants who desire to make use of the POST-DISPATCH market reports. Telephone 284.

WANTED A CAUCUS

Combine Democrats Asked to Consu[lt] With Noonan Councilmen.

THE THREE PROMISE THE FOUR TO S[UB]MIT TO DICTATION.

Councilman Anderson's Story of the La[te] Attempt to Split the Anti-Administr[a]tion Party—President Walbridge Su[r]prised That His Vote Caused Misunde[r]standing—The Comfort Story.

The combine in the council is just as so[lid] as it ever was, but things have been happe[n]ing in the last few days to make people th[ink] it is not. A weak effort to break it was ma[de] this week by an attempt to induce both t[he] Democrats and the Republicans to cauc[us]. In both cases the propositions came from t[he] Mayor's party in the Council and each w[as] rebuked.

Councilman Chas. E. Wehner, finding th[at] Councilman Albert Arnstein was going to [be] absent last night and would thus weaken t[he] combine by one vote, passed the wo[rd] around among the Noonan faction sho[rtly] before the meeting that he wo[uld] introduce a resolution call[ing] for a report from the committee on all nominations except those of Water Comm[is]sioner and Fire Chief. President Walbri[dge] and Councilman E. F. W. Meier have b[oth] declared that these nominations shoul[d be] acted on, and depending on their two vot[es] added to the Noonan five, Councilm[an] Wehner thought he could pass the res[olu]tion. President Walbridge voted for [the] resolution, but Councilman Meier went w[ith] the combine, and the resolution was lost b[y a] tie vote—6 to 6. President Walbridge's v[ote] was well understood by those of the comb[ine] who understand his position, but oth[ers] have never taken the trouble to underst[and] it, and were tremendously scared for a wh[ile], so much so that after the meeting they ga[th]ered in the Secretary's office and expres[sed] indignation.

PRESIDENT WALBRIDGE'S STATEMENT.

President Walbridge said to-day tha[t he] was very much surprised to hear that [his] vote had been criticised at all. "I could [vote in] no other way and be consistent," said [he]. "I have said again and again that I am in the combine for any such narrow pur[pose] as to fight the Mayor. I am in it to susta[in a] principle and that means in this case th[e con]tention of Holman and Lind[...]. It is entirely indefensible [to] suspend action on the other nominat[ions] of the Mayor, and when a resolution was [in]troduced expressing that idea, of cours[e I] voted for it, although it was a surprise to [me]. I do not understand, after all I have s[aid], how my position can be misunderstood."

THE COMFORT STORY FALSE.

"Was there any authority for the use [of] your name in connection with the story [that] the Council was to be organized with Comfort as secretary?"

"Not the least," said the President, wa[rm]ly. "I have never contemplated s[uch] a change, nor could it receive the assist[ance] of my vote, if it was proposed. I cannot [think], however, that the report is worthy of [seri]ous consideration even. I have not the [least] idea that Mr. Comfort is engaged in an [at]tempt to get the office. In fact, I doubt [very] much if he would take it, if he could get [it]."

AN ATTEMPT TO CAUCUS.

Councilman William T. Anderson tu[rned] away from the wheat pit wit[h a] bundle of telegrams in his hand [to] say that it was easier to make rumors [than] to get votes. "I have nothing to say in [criti]cism of Walbridge's position," said he. "I understand what he wants, and I know [he is] with us. I wasn't one of the scared ones [last] night. They can't scare me so easily. [...] they were trying all sorts of schemes [this] week to fool us and get us [to] pull apart. They tried first [to] get us Democrats to go into a caucus [with] them and run things in the Council with [the] Democrats agreeing to let the four com[bine] Democrats dictate what should be d[one]. Well, we saw that scheme quick eno[ugh]. They wanted to get us down and ge[t] themselves, and wanted to get an easy [way] of lifting themselves. We didn't go i[n, of] course. Then they went to the combine [Re]publicans and tried to get them [to] caucus, telling them that the Democrats [were] going to caucus, and that they ought [to do] the same thing to protect themselves. [The] Republicans didn't fall into the trap, ei[ther]. Oh, no, there's no fear of Walbridge. He['s all] right."

"What do you think of his position on [the] held-up nominations?"

"We are not holding up the nominatio[ns]," said Councilman Anderson, quizzically. "[We] are investigating them. We will report [them] all, after a while."

Assembly Legislation.

Councilman Wehner has introduced a [bill] making fortune telling unlawful, the pe[nalty] being a fine of $500.

The new bill of Manager Robert McCul[loch] consolidating the Cass avenue, Nor[th] Central and Union lines, has been intro[duced] in the Council. It provides for no tra[nsfer] and leaves out the Seventh street track [which] was to be built.

The ordinance appropriating $6,000 [for] Poorhouse repairs will be acted upon a[t the] Council's next meeting.

The House has refused to concur i[n the] Council amendment of the garbage bi[ll by] which the salaries of the Inspector[s of] weighers were reduced and the appoint[ments] made subject to the Council's approval. [The] Council refused to accede, and a confe[rence] committee will be appointed.

The House adopted a resolution asking [the] Board of Public Improvements to mak[e the] Iron Mountain Road take up the tracks i[t] laid illegally over city streets.

The Council Committee on Public Imp[rove]ments has reported unfavorably the bill [pro]viding for a statue of Gen. Sherman in [front] of the new City Hall. The members o[f the] committee say it will be time enough to [...] of that when the hall is built.

The Council last night defeated th[e bill] putting granite on Chestnut street, bet[ween] Twentieth street and Jefferson avenue. [The] bill was a part of Gen. Turner's granit[e sys]tem. It was opposed, as all of these bill[s, by] by the property owners, ex-Councilma[n] D. Comfort and Harry M. Snyder a[mong] them, and Street Commissioner M. J. Mu[rphy] said it would be just as well to put asp[halt], which is cheaper, on the street.

Couldn't Prevent the Sprinkling.

The sprinkling bill will go to the Co[uncil] from the House almost as it came fro[m the] Board of Public Improvements. Del[egate] Tom Kaye has made a hard fight to hav[e the] committee that has the bill cut out the Gr[avois] road and the Clayton road, but he had C[hair]man Huber and Delegates Alt, Haggert[y and] O'Brien against him on every vote [and] had to give up. The Gravois road, wi[thout] sprinkling, would be one cloud of dust [in] summer. There are several cemeteries [on it] and a dozen funeral processions pass o[ver it] every day. The property which will h[ave to] pay the sprinkling tax, however, is o[wned] principally by people who do not live o[n the] road, and they protested strongly a[gainst] the sprinkling. So did the owners wh[o] have to pay for sprinkling the Clayton [road] which is a park drive over which hundr[eds of] pleasure parties pass every day.

The committee struck out that clau[se of] the bill that provided for sprinklin[g the] Columbia Bottom road as far out a[s the] Chain of Rocks, and made the sprinkling [end] at a saloon on the other side of Baden.

Mr. Scullin Need Not Transfer.

Having received an opinion from City C[oun]sellor W. C. Marshall that the Assembly [can]not make one street railway transfer [to] another, the House of Delegates has [aban]doned its intention of compelling Ma[nager] John Scullin to transfer passengers fro[m the] Jefferson avenue road to the Union Depo[t and] Mound City lines. Before his bill al[lowing] him to change the power of the Jeff[erson] avenue line is passed, however, some o[f the] members will try to make him provide [to ex]tend the line to Arsenal street. This [is a] pet project of Delegate Henry Siegmund [and] all the other delegates from the sou[th] part of the city are inclined to help him [gain] his point.

WANTED A CAUCUS.

Combine Democrats Asked to Consult With Noonan Councilmen.

THE THREE PROMISE THE FOUR TO SUB MIT TO DICTATION.

Councilman Anderson's Story of the Last Attempt to Split the Anti-Administration Party—President Walbridge Surprised That His Vote Caused Misunderstanding—The Comfort Story.

The combine in the council is just as solid as it ever was, but things have been happening in the last few days to make people think it is not. A weak effort to break it was made this week by an attempt to induce both the Democrats and the Republicans to caucus. In both cases the propositions came from the Mayor's party in the Council and each was rebuked.

Councilman Chas. E. Wehner, finding that Councilman Albert Arnstein was going to be absent last night and would thus weaken the combine by one vote, passed the word around among the Noonan faction shortly before the meeting that he would introduce a resolution calling for a report from the committee on all the nominations except those of Water Commissioner and Fire Chief. President Walbridge and Councilman E. F. W. Meier have both declared that these nominations should be acted on, and depending on their two votes, added to the Noonan five, Councilman Wehner thought he could pass the resolution. President Walbridge voted for the resolution, but Councilman Meier went with the combine, and the resolution was lost by a tie vote—6 to 6. President Walbridge's vote was well understood by those of the combine who understand his position, but others have never taken the trouble to understand it, and were tremendously scared for a while, so much so that after the meeting they gathered in the Secretary's office and expressed indignation.

PRESIDENT WALBRIDGE'S STATEMENT.

President Walbridge said to-day that he was very much surprised to hear that his vote had been criticised at all. "I could vote no other way and be consistent," said he. "I have said again and again that I am not in the combine for any such narrow purpose as to fight the Mayor. I am in it to sustain a principle and that means in this case the retention of Holman and Lindsay. It is entirely indefensible to suspend action on the other nominations of the Mayor, and when a resolution was introduced expressing that idea, of course I voted for it, although it was a surprise to me. I do not understand, after all I have said, how my position can be misunderstood."

THE COMFORT STORY FALSE.

"Was there any authority for the use of your name in connection with the story that the Council was to be organized with Mr. Comfort as secretary?"

"Not the least," said the President, warmly. "I have never comtemplated such a change, nor could it receive the assistance of my vote, if it was proposed. I cannot see, however, that the report is worthy of serious consideration even. I have not the least idea that Mr. Comfort is engaged in an attempt to get the office. In fact, I doubt very much if he would take it, if he could get it."

AN ATTEMPT TO CAUCUS.

Councilman William T. Anderson turned away from the wheat pit with a bundle of telegrams in his hand to say that it was easier to make rumors than to get votes. "I have nothing to say in criticism of Walbridge's position," said he. "I understand what he wants, and I know he is with us. I wasn't one of the scared ones last night. They can't scare me so easily. Why they were trying all sorts of schemes last week to fool us and get us to pull apart. They tried first to get us Democrats to go into a caucus with them and run things in the Council with seven Democrats agreeing to let the four combine Democrats dictate what should be done. Well, we saw that scheme quick enough. They wanted to get us down and get up themselves, and wanted to get an easy way of lifting themselves. We didn't go in, of course. Then they went to the combine Republicans and tried to get them to caucus, telling them that the Democrats were going to caucus, and that they ought to do the same thing to protect themselves. The Republicans didn't fall into the trap, either. Oh, no, there's no fear of Walbridge. He's all right."

"What do you think of his position on the held-up nominations?"

"We are not holding up the nominations," said Councilman Anderson, quizzically. "We are investigating them. We will report them all, after a while."

Assembly Legislation.

Councilman Wehner has introduced a bill making fortune telling unlawful, the penalty being a fine of $500.

The new bill of Manager Robert McCulloch, consolidating the Cass avenue, Northern Central and Union lines, has been introduced in the Council. It provides for no transfers and leaves out the Seventh street track that was to be built.

The ordinance appropriating $6,000 for Poorhouse repairs will be acted upon at the Council's next meeting.

The House has refused to concur in the Council amendment of the garbage bill, by which the salaries of the Inspector and weighers were reduced and the appointments made subject to the Council's approval. The Council refused to accede, and a conference committee will be appointed.

The House adopted a resolution asking the Board of Public Improvements to make the Iron Mountain Road take up the tracks it has laid illegally over city streets.

The Council Committee on Public Improvements has reported unfavorably the bill providing for a statue of Gen. Sherman in front of the new City Hall. The members of the committee say it will be time enough to think of that when the hall is built.

The Council last night defeated the bill putting granite on Chestnut street, between Twentieth street and Jefferson avenue. The bill was a part of Gen. Turner's granite system. It was opposed, as all of these bills are, by the property owners, ex-Councilman C. D. Comfort and Harry M. Snyder among them, and Street Commissioner M. J. Murphy said it would be just as well to put asphalt, which is cheaper, on the street.

Couldn't Prevent the Sprinkling.

The sprinkling bill will go to the Council from the House almost as it came from the Board of Public Improvements. Delegate Tom Kaye has made a hard fight to have the committee that has the bill cut out the Gravois road and the Clayton road, but he had Chairman Huber and Delegates Alt, Haggerty and O'Brien against him on every vote and had to give up. The Gravois road, without sprinkling, would be one cloud of dust every summer. There are several cemeteries on it, and a dozen funeral processions pass over it every day. The property which will have to pay the sprinkling tax, however, is owned principally by people who do not live on the road, and they protested strongly against the sprinkling. So did the owners who will have to pay for sprinkling the Clayton road, which is a park drive over which hundreds of pleasure parties pass every day.

The committee struck out that clause of the bill that provided for sprinkling the Columbia Bottom road as far out as the Chain of Rocks, and made the sprinkling stop at a saloon on the other side of Baden.

Mr. Scullin Need Not Transfer.

Having received an opinion from City Counsellor W. C. Marshall that the Assembly cannot make one street railway transfer with another, the House of Delegates has abandoned its intention of compelling Manager John Scullin to transfer passengers from the Jefferson avenue road to the Union Depot and Mound City lines. Before his bill allowing him to change the power of the Jefferson avenue line is passed, however, some of the members will try to make him provide to extend the line to Arsenal street. This is the pet project of Delegate Henry Siegmund and all the other delegates from the southern part of the city are inclined to help him carry his point.

WHY HE WAXED INDIGNANT.

Mr. Perry McCarthy's Grievance Against the Knights of St. Patrick.

Mr. Perry McCarthy, a nephew of the late Bernard Kernan, the well-known real estate agent who died in Liverpool two months ago, and whose remains were brought here for interment, was in a very irate frame of mind when he called at the office of President John D. Finney of the Knights of St. Patrick. Mr. Kernan it appears was a member of the Knights of St. Patrick, which has a time-honored custom of turning out in regalia at the funerals of departed members. This was not done at Mr. Kernan's funeral, and there was some talk in consequence which was by no means pleasant to the family and relatives of the deceased. One of the reports, it appears, was that Mr. Kernan had lost interest in the Knights and had allowed his dues to lapse for two years.

This morning Mr. McCarthy made a discovery that entirely upset his usual placid disposition. Looking over his late uncle's papers he found receipts showing that his dues were paid up to March, 1892. The receipt was signed by Treasurer Michael Callahan for '91-92 and by Patrick Burns for '90-91. These dues it seems were reported not paid. Armed with the receipts Mr. McCarthy called at the office of President Finney and used some expressive language concerning the Knights of St. Patrick. From all accounts he doubly anathematized that justly famed organization the Knights of St. Patrick and its time honored customs. President Finney explained that an unfortunate mistake had occurred somewhere, that he knew nothing whatever about. He said it was a matter to be regretted, but this did not satisfy Mr. McCarthy.

Seen by a POST-DISPATCH reporter Mr. McCarthy said: "I would not give the matter any notice whatever if it had not been reported that the Knights failed to participate because my uncle was in arrears. That was a false and unjust story as these receipts I hold will testify. Understand we do not feel offended because the Knights did not participate, but only on account of the impression given out to account for their failure to act as an escort to the remains. There is something about the management of that organizations which, to say the least, is very rank."

WERE MARRIED AFTER ALL.

How Henry Weis and Katherine Nugent Executed Their Elopement.

Young Henry Weis of 4448 Easton avenue and Miss Katherine Nugent of Garfield avenue an account of whose love affair was given in yesterday's POST-DISPATCH, succeeded, after all, in overcoming the obstacles that the young man's mother placed in the way of their union. This morning the young lady announced that she was no longer Miss Katherine Nugent, as a ceremony performed at Carrollton, Ill., on Wednesday last had made her Mrs. Henry Weis. The young couple kept the affair quiet, it appears, until Thursday evening, when they let Mr. Weis' objecting mother into their little secret. So it appears that they were man and wife Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Weis was in the middle of her plans to prevent their elopement.

In conversation with a POST-DISPATCH representative this morning the young bride said: "Mr. Weis and myself were made man and wife Wednesday morning over in Illinois and when we returned the same day we received congratulations from our immediate friends whom we notified of our marriage. Mr. Weis and myself were schoolmates and we have always loved one another. We became engaged some time ago and nothing could prevent our marriage. It's true we tried to get a license last Tuesday in the Recorder's office, but Mrs. Weis had been there ahead of us to stop it. Then we decided to go elsewhere, and we did so. I am sure Mrs. Weis does not feel badly about it. Really the best thing she can do is to give us her blessing. We intend to go to housekeeping soon, when we will receive our friends and their kind wishes."

The bride is a rather pretty blonde, and has many friends in the neighborhood of her home. She is a daughter of the late James S. Nugent, who was in the contracting business for years.

Societies and Orders.

The Employment and Business Committee of the A. O. U. W. Labor Bureau on last Wednesday night held their regular monthly meeting at Mount Olive Lodge Hall. The report of the various officers gave gratifying assurance of the complete success of the effort of the Ancient Order of United Workmen "to help a brother to help himself" by the practical application of business principles to fraternal aid.

Between the last two meetings the following lodges have joined the movement and paid their contribution: South St. Louis, Lafayette, Schiller, Enterprise, Paragon, Elk, Blackstone, Oriental, Helvetia; making the total number of lodges in the movement fifty-five out of the seventy-four city lodges.

The report of the agent shows the total number of applications for work during the three months past to have been 205.

The number for whom situations were found during the same period 154.

During November sixty-nine applications; forty-five secured work.

Brother Wm. Woerner, Elk Lodge, son of Judge Woerner, spoke eloquently of the advantage of fraternal co-operation in securing work for members of the order.

Grand Recorder Richardson, since the bureau has demonstrated its usefulness, has become quite an enthusiast and is lending his aid and encouragement.

Brothers Dickinson, McCarron, Judges Lansing and Bass, the Executive Committee, have worked night and day. The result is success. Brother O'Neil of Mount Olive is a zealous friend of the bureau.

Bro. Gregory, the agent, states the country lodges are very anxious to join. The meeting seems to have been of the opinion that they will have to be taken in, if not now at some future day. Since success has crowned the work, and the necessity and usefulness of the bureau established, the big lodges that stood back are coming forward and voluntarily joining.

Grand Master Workman Miller sent a letter congratulating the committee on the satisfactory results so far accomplished.

President Bass' photo graced the first page of this number of the Overseer.

Gen. Lyon Post No. 2., G. A. R., at the regular meeting elected the following officers for 1892: P. C., Philip Coplin; S. V., John Blumer; Q. M., W. Dubois; J. V., Ed Knecht; Surgeon, Ph. Krieger; Chaplain, Hy Sterlin; Off. G., Ph. Herwig; O. G., J. W. Irven; Trustees, Joe Maurer, H. Kotzendorfer, D. B. Castile.

Members of Anchor Lodge No. 1173, Knights and Ladies of Honor, are requested to attend the next meeting on Tuesday evening, Dec. 1. The newly elected Grand Protector is expected to visit us on that evening.

The next meeting of Eureka Council, No. 57, Royal League, to be held next Thursday evening, promises to be unusually interesting, the special occasion being the election of officers for the ensuing year. A programme of musical and literary exercises will be presented, to be followed with a banquet, at which every member of the council is expected to be present.

The charter list for the new council of the Royal League, to be located at Anchor Hall, Park and Jefferson avenues, in the hands of James H. Roach, is receiving daily accessions and is nearing completion. A meeting for temporary organization will be held within a few days.

Says the Gold Cure Failed.

DWIGHT, Ill., Nov. 28.—Henry M. Munroe has brought two damage suits against Dr. Leslie E. Keeley and his inebriate cure company of Dwight in the Circuit Court of Livingstone County. The first suit is to recover $150, which Munroe paid to get cured of the drink habit, the Keeley people guaranteeing to cure, but failing. The second suit is for $12,000 damages for injury to Munroe's health sustained by reason of taking the gold-cure treatment. Munroe also claims that he secured work in Dwight, and that Dr. Keeley forced the man employing him to discharge him, also forced the woman he boarded with to discharge him from the house. The case will come up during the January term of the Circuit Court.

All's Well That Ends Well.

MACON, Mo., Nov. 28.—Macon's latest sensation has concluded to the satisfaction of all concerned. Miss Effie Fulton charged Frank H. Polly, a railway mail clerk, with being the father of the infant she had left on a door step a few days ago. Mayor Richardson of this city was called on to arbitrate, and so well did he perform the delicate duty that Mr. Polly and Miss Fulton were married at 1:30 a. m. yesterday in the Wabash depot.

Deadly Duel in a Chicago Suburb for a Lady's Hand.

ONE OF THE LOVE-MADDENED CONTESTANTS FATALLY WOUNDED.

Carlisle N. Greigh Eloped With a Stage Dancer—Financier Ives Will Cage a Song Bird—Carmencita Denies It—Crazed by the Divine Passion—Marie Goslin's Experience.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—A special from the village of Five Points, twenty miles north of this city, says the neighborhood is all torn up over a sensational duel which took place near there yesterday. Baron Wheatredge and Godfrey Haver, two young farmers, were in love with the same young lady. They fought a duel, with the proviso that whoever was defeated was to cease his relations forever with the young lady. The fight raged desperately. Wheatredge was having the best of the fistic struggle when Haver drew a revolver and fired at his rival. The bullet entered the breast and ranged upward, producing a dangerous and perhaps fatal wound. Several parties were attracted by the shooting, and Haver, seeing that he was in danger of being apprehended, skipped. The injured man was taken home. The affair created a tremendous sensation and is the talk of the hour.

ELOPED WITH AN ACTRESS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—According to an Albany dispatch almost everybody in Albany remembers Carlisle N. Greigh. During his residence there he was very prominent in business and church circles, for years having been the choir master of All Saints Cathedral and one of the organizers of Albany's popular social club. Some few years ago Greigh decided to go West and settle in Glenmound Spa, Colo. He established a bank and in two months had become its president. Later he opened a real estate office in Denver and last winter he took charge of the New York branch of his Colorado Land Improvement Co. He brought his wife and two children with him and, it is said, has been devoting much of his time in cultivating the acquaintance of actresses. Now it is said that he has eloped with Miss Ray Allen, one of the dancers in "La Cigale," and that the couple are on their way to Europe. Greigh's people are well-known and highly respected Albanians and profess to have no information about the matter. His friends do not believe the story of his elopement.

WILL CAGE A SONG BIRD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A Lockport (N. Y.) special says: That "Napoleon in finance," Henry S. Ives of New York, has been here for the past few days. He has endeavored to keep his movements quiet, but it is generally known that he is paying attention on Gertrude Sears, the handsome singer, formerly with the Bostonians, and a year ago with J. C. Duff's company in New York. Mr. Ives has been very attentive to Miss Sears for the past two years. She returned this summer from Paris, where she has been studying for the grand opera stage. She was taken quite ill in New York and returned home here, where she has been convalescent. Miss Sears and Mr. Ives take drives together when the weather is favorable. Mr. Ives comes down every morning from Buffalo, where he is stopping, returning in the evening. His smooth, boyish face and glasses make him look like a stylish college professor.

CRAZED WITH LOVE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Inspector Byrnes' detectives have arrested Louis Armand, a crazy Frenchman, who has been annoying Mrs. Harriet Alexander, wife of Charles B. Alexander, a wealthy lawyer of this city, living at 41 West Fifty-eighth street. Mrs. Alexander is the daughter of Millionaire Crocker of San Francisco. Armand has been a source of annoyance to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander for years. He was arrested several months ago and committed to Ward's Island Insane Asylum. Within a few months friends secured his release, and he again persisted in paying attentions to Mrs. Alexander. He followed her when she went out, made repeated attempts to see her and finally threatened her husband. He became so persistent that Mr. Alexander asked Inspector Byrnes to arrest Armand, and he was committed to-day for examination as to his sanity. The story of Armand has been told before. He is about 35 years old and well educated. Mrs. Alexander was a young girl in San Francisco and Armand was engaged as her French tutor. He taught Miss Crocker French lessons, and when his time was up he was dismissed. It was then that he first began paying his attentions to her.

MARIE GOSLIN'S EXPERIENCE.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Marie Goslin came to this country three months ago as maid to the wife of Senator McMillan of Detroit. She tired of Detroit and moved to New York. She had $1,300, and becoming lonesome, advertised in a New York paper for a husband. She got eight applications, and selected James C. Taylor. Alderman Cornelius Flynn married them Nov. 1 at the New York City Hall. Taylor said he had a ranch near San Diego, Cal., and he had come East to sell horses. The couple started for Taylorville, Cal., via Niagara Falls. They arrived at the Falls Tuesday morning. He took charge of her money. He admired a diamond ring and she let him wear it. Tuesday evening he suggested that they put all their money and valuables in the hotel safe. She consented. Taylor went out Wednesday morning on some plausible errand and did not return. Mrs. Taylor suspected that she had been victimized and soon learned that he had never deposited any money in the safe. She has started for New York to place the matter in the hands of Inspector Byrnes.

OVERCAME ALL DIFFICULTIES.

DECATUR, Ill., Nov. 28.—George Vandyke of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Florence E. Howell of Decatur were married at 11 o'clock Thursday night at the home of the bride's father, George N. Howell, five miles out in the country. Two previous dates for the marriage were postponed. Vandyke bought his wedding suit in Louisville and expressed it here. He and his bride waited Wednesday evening for the last train and it failed to arrive. She agreed to marry him in his ordinary outfit. Vandyke fell headlong into a cellar in coming out of the Circuit Clerk's office. On the drive out to the country, the singletree broke and the team ran away, leaving the bridal pair, the 'Squire and their friends in the mud. They hired a rig and reached the Howell place at 11 o'clock and the marriage was performed.

CARMENCITA DENIES IT.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Carmencita has just heard the story telegraphed from somewhere in the West to the New Press that she had been married during the summer to Senor Pablo Escheparo. Carmencita is provoked. She declares "there is no reason or excuse why the falsehood should be spread. Ask Jennie Joyce—but Jennie is not here. But she would say that I am not married. Telegraph Koster & Bial. They will deny it, too." Senor Escheparo is in the same company here with the dancer but they have separate apartments at the hotel. He is the chief of the Spanish students who play for Carmencita while she dances. They appear to be good friends, but that is all.

DROVE 100 MILES TO MARRY.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 28.—L. H. Cornett and Miss Belle Johnson drove in a hack from Greenville, Ky., 100 miles to Clarksville where they were married Thursday night by Esquire S. E. Smith, who has married more runaway couples than any one in the neighborhood.

REMARKABLE SURGERY.

A Boy's Knee Cut Out and the Bones of the Leg Nailed Together.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 28.—One of the most unique bits of surgery ever chronicled is reported by a local paper. A boy, 12 years old, was afflicted with white swelling at the knee. It was decided by the surgeons that to relieve the sufferer it would be necessary to completely excise the knee joint and bring about a resection of the bones of the leg.

The proper antiseptic preparations having been made, the chief operator laid open the knee-joint, the patient being first placed under the influence of an anesthetic, the incision being from one condyle to the other transversely. The knee-cap was carefully removed from the constricting muscles and the joint proper was exposed to view. This was found to be structurally disorganized, the disease being of about nine months' duration. The joint being opened, it was found that the ends of the bones meeting there were eroded and covered with a tubercular deposit resembling fungus growth.

A bone scoop was seized and the fungus was carefully removed until the sound bone was seen. The wound was flushed out with an aseptic preparation and the operation resumed. A fine saw was introduced and the heads of the femur, or thigh bone, and tibia, or shin-bone, sawed off cleanly. The sawed ends were brought together and firmly held. Then came the peculiar part of the operation. Dr. Linn seizing a hammer and two sharp-pointed nails about three inches in length, drove them from the outside surfaces of the leg through both bones in an upward direction in the style.

The child's bones being soft, the nails went through as easily as though they were being driven into soft pine. This had the effect of making a rigid joint. Two drainage tubes of rubber were inserted on either side behind the bone and the flaps made by the incision brought together and fastened with catgut. While this was going on the most minute aseptic regulations were observed. The closed gash was dressed with iodoform in powder and with iodoform gauze. A splint was adjusted, secured with bandages and the whole covered with plaster of paris, which at once hardened, forming a rigid brace.

The boy was then removed to the Ohio Hospital, not far away, and two days afterward was taken home in a cot placed in a spring wagon.

The surgeons say the wound will heal and the boy will become strong. The leg will be shortened by three-quarters of an inch, and but for the rigidity of the knee-joint the deformity would never be noticed.

MISSOURI MATTERS.

Personal Notes and General News From Interior Cities.

FARMINGTON, Nov. 27.—No less than four weddings, were celebrated in this immediate vicinity yesterday.

The meetings conducted by the Rev. W. H. Clagett closed last Wednesday evening, and Mr. Clagett left Farmington yesterday.

The campaign for the county offices which are to be filled next year is being quietly discussed; and, although no open announcements have been made, several aspiring citizens are diligently feeling the public pulse, and laying the foundations for what they hope will be certain success when their claims come before the people.

Warren Summers was arraigned in the Circuit Court to-day under a charge of burglary and larceny. Summers' case is a peculiar one. He is a bright looking, prepossessing boy, 14 or 15 years old. He was arraigned at the last term of court on a similar charge, and the Judge, on account of his youth, sentenced him to a very short term in the County Jail. But Summers was no sooner out of jail than he began to depredate again. He committed the crime for which he was arraigned to-day within a few weeks of his release. Judge Fox, being unwilling to send so young a boy to the Penitentiary, commuted his sentence to five days in the County Jail.

NOTES FROM ST. CHARLES.

ST. CHARLES, Nov. 28.—Miss Addie Owen has returned home from St. Louis after a pleasant visit of several weeks.

Invitations have been extended to the marriage of Mr. J. Kirk McDearmon and Miss Bertha Jordan of St. Louis. The ceremony will take place Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride, 1812 Bacon street, Dr. Marsden of the U. M. E. Church officiating.

Misses Mary and H. Lizzie Powell are visiting Dardenne friends.

Mr. Albert Spiers and mother spent Thanksviving with friends in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Draper and daughter of Jacksonville, Ill.; Dr. Lucien Walton and wife of St. Louis and Mr. Fred Walton of St. Louis County were here yesterday to attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Emma C. Walton.

Mr. John T. Powell arrived home to-day to make a short visit.

DON'T BE CAUGHT

by "cut prices." Don't buy spurious imitations of Dr. Pierce's medicines at less than the regular prices, and think that you're saving money. You would be, if you could get the genuine guaranteed medicines in that way. But you can't. The genuine medicines are sold only through regularly authorized agents, and always have been, are, and always will be sold at these prices:

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (the remedy for all diseases arising from a torpid liver or impure blood), ... $1.00 per bottle.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription (for woman's weaknesses and ailments), ... $1.00 per bottle.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets (the original and best Liver Pills), ... 25 cents per vial.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, ... 50 cents per bottle.

And they're worth that—they're worth more than that. They're the cheapest medicines you can buy, at any price, for they're guaranteed in every case to benefit or cure, or you have your money back. You pay only for the good you get. No other remedies of their kind are, or could be, sold on these terms.

Dealers not authorized to sell Dr. Pierce's genuine medicines may offer dilutions, imitations, or substitutes, at less than the prices given above. Beware of them.

SHERIFF'S SALE Under Deed of Trust—Whereas, John Busso and Mary Busso, his wife, by their deed dated the 2d of March, A. D., 1886, and recorded in the Recorder's Office of city of St. Louis, in book 755, page 121, conveyed to Samuel Pepper in trust the following described real estate, situate lying and being in the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri, to wit: Lots numbers 12 and 13 in block number 6 of Stramford's Addition, city block number 1811, said lots having an aggregate front of 47 feet 9½ inches on the north line of Caroline street by a depth of 120 feet to an alley 15 feet wide. Bounded north by said alley, east by lot numbered 14 and south by Caroline street, being the same property acquired from Mary Hunt, by trustee, per deed dated August 6, 1875, and recorded in book 529, page 263, of the Recorder's office of the city of St. Louis. Which said conveyance was made in trust to secure the payment of eleven certain promissory notes in said deed described. And whereas four of the said notes remain due and unpaid, and the said Samuel Pepper, said trustee, has removed from the city of St. Louis and State of Missouri, and is absent from the city of St. Louis without having completed the performance of the duties imposed on him by said deed of trust, now, therefore notice is hereby given that, at the request of the legal holder of said notes, and in pursuance of the provisions of said deed of trust, the undersigned will on MONDAY, THE 21ST DAY OF DECEMBER, 1891, between the hours of 10 o'clock in the forenoon and 4 o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the east front door of the Court-house in the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, proceed to sell at public vendue to the highest bidder, for cash, the above described real estate to satisfy said notes and the costs of executing said trust.

THE CORN HUSKERS.

Information of Interest to the Owners of Maize.

SOME FACTS CONCERNING HUSKERS AND THEIR METHODS.

How the Corn Should Be Gathered From the Field—Proper and Improper Methods of Husking—A Division of Labor That Will Save Much Time—How to Save the Hands.

MARISSA, Ill., Nov. 28.—The corn crop in this section is very heavy, much above the average, and the question of husking and the best methods of doing this work is of interest to all farmers.

With gloves a man cannot husk corn so fast as without them, and he cannot husk so fast in December or January, when his bare fingers often will be numb, as he can in November, when the weather is more agreeable and the days are longer. When two men are at work, it is best to drive over a row, each man taking his turn on the "down row." The horses should be muzzled, not on account of the corn they eat, but because they waste it. When there are two men at work, have two wagons, then one man can husk while the other puts the load in the crib. If the man remaining in the field throws the corn on the ground it must be handled again and thus effort is wasted.

Some men are much faster huskers than others, and this is largely owing to the better way in which they grasp the ear. If the corn is to stand in the crib for some time the silk should be taken off as well as the husk. The silk favors mice and mold more than the husk, and detracts much from the appearance of the ear. If the silk is to be removed grasp the ear at the point with the left hand; pull back the husk with the right hand; catch the point of the ear with the same hand; shove the left hand, grasping the silk and under husks, to the butt of the ear, and break off the ear by a quick upward movement of the right hand.

Many prefer a steel or bone husking peg, slightly curved in front of the hand. It should be half an inch broad, else it will blister or callous the hand. The best preventive of cracked fingers is thorough washing in rain water with castile soap and anointing with glycerine, rubbing it in well. The best cure is shoemaker's wax put on a bit of cloth and pressed over the crack when warm.

SPRINGFIELD JOTTINGS.

Items of Interest Gathered in the State Capital.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 28.—As car No. 33 on the Monroe street line of the City Railway was coming north, a broken joint in the track at Eighth and Allen streets derailed the car. It was running at a moderate rate of speed, which probably avoided a fatality, as there were a number of passengers on board, who were, however, considerably shaken up and frightened.

A west-bound car on the People's Electric Railway line ran off the curve, corner of Allen and Walnut streets. The car ran a short distance from the track and sunk in the mud almost over the wheels. There were several lady passengers, in the car, who were badly frightened, but no damage was done.

One Samuel Smith was arrested on complaint of Elmer T. Mason, proprietor of the Transient House, No. 811 East Washington street, charged with obtaining board and lodging by fraud. Smith is a railroad man who was hurt on the road some time ago.

Hon. Alfred Orendorff, Hon. E. L. Merritt, Mr. H. W. Clendenin and Col. Henry Davis, Jr., left for Washington, D. C., via Chicago, where they will be joined by a number of other Democrats, including Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson of Bloomington, Judge Lambert Tree, Speaker Crafts and others of Chicago; Judge Mueller of Shelbyville and Judge Green of Cairo. They go to Washington in the interest of Hon. Wm. M. Springer's candidacy for the speakership, and will be absent a week or so.

Col. N. B. Wiggins of the Leland Hotel was the recipient of an elegant silver souvenir badge of the silver anniversary or the twenty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which was recently held in Detroit, Mich. The presentation was made by Col. Henry M. Duffield of Detroit, who was on the staff of Gen. Alger during the late war, where he formed the acquaintance of Col. Wiggins. The badge is attached to a solid silver pin bar, on which in raised letters is the word "Michigan," by an orange silk ribbon, in which is worked a miniature flag of thirteen stars and stripes. The medal bears on the front a likeness of the late Gen. W. T. Sherman, and on the reverse side the coat of arms of the State of Michigan.

The hare and hound chase was quite an interesting event. The start was made about 9 o'clock from Sixth and Cook streets, and was witnessed by a good many people. The hares were Will Oden and Latham Souther, who were mounted on safety bicycles. They were given a start of five minutes, and were to run for an hour and a half without being captured. If they had accomplished the feat they would have been awarded a prize. The hounds were Dr. Ed Vincent, Roy Donaldson, Charles Guest, Jerome Leland and Stevens, Calvin and Foster. After the start some very fast riding was done on both sides. Jerome Leland was the first captor and caught Souther near Koky's mill, about six miles west of the city, in thirty-eight minutes. Oden was the last hare captured, riding about a mile farther. The scent of the hares was kept by pieces of paper, which they dropped at intervals along the way. The run made by the boys is a very good one considering the roads, which are not in the best condition. A permanent organization will soon be made to keep up this healthful outdoor sport, and another chase will take place in the near future, with Jerome Leland and Will Oden as the hares.

A reception was held at the Asylum of Elwood Commandery, which was attended by about one hundred people. The reception was largely attended by the members of the commandry and their families. A number of musical selections were rendered. Light refreshments were served, and the occasion was greatly enjoyed.

The people residing on South Fifth street witnessed a runaway, when a horse and two-wheeled road cart came dashing down the street from the north without a driver. In the vehicle was strapped a large trunk. The rig apparently belonged to a farmer, and when last seen was making fast time for Woodside.

An alarm of fire at 11:45 a. m. called the fire department to the corner of Eighth and Mason streets, where the residence of Bernard Friedman, the second house east of the corner, was in flames. The blaze, which was confined to the roof, was caused by a defective flue, and was easily extinguished by the chemical engine. The loss will not exceed $40, and is entirely covered by insurance.

Not a Dishonest Transaction.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 27.—In your issue of yesterday you describe a swindling scheme by Manning and Richardson at Jacksonville, Ill. Said scheme purported to be unearthed by the National Safe Co. The charges are false. Mr. Manning acted as manager for Mosler, Bahmann & Co., at 49 Wabash avenue, Chicago, from May 1 to Sept. 19, and resigned in consequence of his health being somewhat impaired, to travel again. Previous to May 1 Mr. Manning had business connections with Mr. Hartford, the Chicago local manager of the National Safe & Lock Co. It seems for reasons suited to Hartford's convenience he refused to give Mr. Manning a statement of his entire business with Hartford. Mr. Manning subsequently sold a national safe to Mr. Stringham of Jacksonville for $100 and his old safe, which was sold to Mr. Moore of Jacksonville for $40. Both Stringham and Moore dealt with Mr. Manning personally. Mr. Manning ordered the safe, delivered it and received the money, for which he receipted agreeable to his proposition to Mr. Hartford when he wrote for the safe to be shipped to Mr. Stringham. Now all Mr. Hartford has to do in order to get a settlement from Mr. Manning is to make out a full statement of accounts of all previous transactions between Hartford & Manning. Messrs. Stringham & Moore do not recognize anyone but Manning in this matter, who is at present (when health permits) selling the products of Mosler, Bahmann & Co., and who can be found at any time with his family at his residence at 2492 Archer avenue, Chicago. Why don't Hartford send and have me arrested, why does he want to frighten Stringham into putting me to some expense? Mr. Richardson has a contract with Hartford which justifies him in every transaction he made at Jacksonville, and he can settle his business matters strictly according to his contract.

Yours respectfully,
J. A. MANNING.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Ten Thousand Dollars' Worth of Cotton Destroyed by Fire—Other News.

Ten thousand dollars' worth of cotton went up in smoke at the Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City freight house on the island in a very few minutes this morning. The fire broke out at 5 a. m., and at one time threatened all the cotton in the house, about 200 bales. By hard work it was extinguished after twenty bales had been destroyed. The value of the cotton was about $500 per bale. It is claimed that the huge pile of bales was on the open platform, wholly unprotected from the sparks of passing engines.

Detective Dennis Ryan and C. F. Quick, a detective of the Furlong Agency, employed by the United Elevator Co. of St. Louis, to-day arrested four men on the charge of stealing grain from cars consigned to the company's elevators on this side. Jacob Kruse, Edward O'Shea, Wm. Shannon and Joseph Stinger are the men under arrest. Stinger furnished the detectives with considerable information and is only held as a witness. The others will have a hearing before Justice Medart of Belleville this evening. Kruse and O'Shea have been living in shanty boats near the elevators. Shannon was arrested at East Carondelet. The detectives claim to have found out where numerous sales of stolen grain were made.

Mayor Stephens, City Clerk Schuetz, City Treasurer Wolf, City Engineer Weber, Special Collector Zackiesch and a number of Aldermen left this morning for Union, Franklin County, Mo., to inspect the gravel beds near that place. The officials have been experimenting with various materials for street dressing, and so far have found the Elco flint gravel to be the best, but it is claimed by the owners of the Missouri beds that their gravel is superior to that of the Illinois bottoms.

The police station was visited to-day by several relatives of the late Ernest Hickman, who asked for information regarding a scandalous report which they said was in circulation. Ernest Hickman, it will be remembered, fatally injured his wife and killed himself a few days ago, and the report alluded to by his relatives was to the effect that he had been driven to suicide by the mortification of arrest for complicity in the outrage on Miss Lena Reippe a few weeks since. What the inquirers wanted to know was whether Hickman had been arrested on such a charge. They were informed by Sergt. McGrath that there was absolutely no foundation for the report. The sergeant was directed by them to inform the various newspaper representatives of their visit and the result of their inquiries, and to request that a denial be published.

Detective Connell of Louisville, Ky., arrived here this morning to take charge of Louis Seidel, who was arrested for embezzling $258 from the N. U. Walker Clay Manufacturing Co. He will take Seidel back to Louisville this evening.

Misses Maggie Dowling, Kate Driscoll, Lizzie Fogarty, Mary Queen, Lillie Farley, Maggie Sullivan, Nora Dalton, Maggie Querney and Alice Fitzgerald have been appointed a committee of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's parish to secure banners to be used in the ceremonies at the dedication of the new church next month. Thomas Doyle, Wm. Bayne, James Bartley, John Ward and Leonard Bartley have been appointed a committee of the Young Men's Sodality to perform a similar office.

Dr. H. J. De Haan is making preparations for an extended tour through Egypt and the Holy Land. He expects to start about the 1st of February.

F. W. Kraft has recovered his horse, which was thought to have been stolen last Monday. The animal was found near Centerville Station.

Illinois Lodge, No. 268, K. of H., will initiate twenty-three new members this evening.

Miss Fannie Abry has returned from a visit to relatives in Wisconsin.

Herman Leveling has placed a forfeit of $50 for an oyster-eating match with John Goetz, to take place at 312 North Tenth street, where the money was put up. The match will probably be arranged to take place to-morrow evening.

Nicholas Spannagel has returned from a trip to Europe. He has been away since the 1st of August.

Belleville.

Louis Drochter, who was recently sent to Chester for a burglary committed in this county, is said to be the largest man that has ever entered the Penitentiary. He stands 6 feet 3½ inches in his stockings, weighs 240 pounds, and wears a No. 15 shoe.

Mike, alias "Irish," McLaughlin had a hearing before Justice Needles yesterday on the charge of stealing $25 from John Gallagher. He was held for the Grand-jury and committed to jail in default of bail.

The condemnation case of the Belleville & St. Louis Railway Co. against Peter Gass, which was set for trial by a special jury next Monday, has been dismissed, a compromise having been effected.

The personal property of the Crescent Mill Co. is being sold at public auction under a decree of the courts.

The Duquoin Globe has suspended publication.

The front of the Post-office building is being decorated with a coat of paint.

Taylorville—Teachers' Institute.

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Nov. 28.—The November session of the Christian County Teachers' Institute was held in the High School building and will close to-night. There is an unusually large attendance, despite the inclement weather. County Superintendent R. W. Orr prepared an excellent programme as follows:

"Division of Work Under the Manual and Guide System," which topic was introduced by Prof. Oliver DeMotte, principal of the Grove City School, and discussed by D. O. Witmer, J. F. Fribley and L. F. Sabine.

"Music in Our Public Schools" was introduced by Mr. N. M. Beaman, and discussed by T. N. Lakin, Misses Flora Oakley and Eva Traylor.

"Steps in the Process of Learning" was introduced by Prof. R. R. Reeder of the Northern Illinois State Normal University, and discussed by L. S. Ham, R. E. Selby and W. W. Demming.

Exercises concluded with the discussion of "Local Government in the United States," which was introduced by Prof. W. T. Gooden of Pana and ably discussed by John Hanon, C. F. Evans and John A. Cheney.

Prof. Reeder of the State Normal delivered a lecture before the teachers entitled "The Rights of the State, the Rights of the Child and the Rights of the Parent in Education."

Mrs. Fannie Crooker is visiting her brother, Mr. Thayer, at Waverly, Morgan County.

Miss Mabel Cromwell of Stonington attended the Thanksgiving ball at the Opera-house Thursday evening.

There has been so much rain here during the past two weeks that the roads leading into town are almost impassable, consequently trade is very dull with our merchants.

Senator and Mrs. H. P. Shumway were in Chicago the first of the week.

Greenfield—Obstreperous Hoodlums.

GREENFIELD, Ill., Nov. 28.—The hoodlum element in Hettick, a small town east of here, turned up-side down all the sidewalks and drowned a dog in the city well.

The Sunday-school class of Miss Annie Clark of Rockbridge, south of here, made her some valuable presents last night, it being her 18th birthday.

Miss Julia Edwards was a St. Louis visitor this week.

Alton—Funeral of James Kennedy.

ALTON, Nov. 28.—The funeral of James Kennedy took place from St. Patrick's Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock and was largely attended. The deceased was well known throughout the city and was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and of the Knights of Pythias.

There were about thirty persons present at the meeting of the Law and Order League at the Council chamber last night. After considerable discussion as to the best means to be used in closing the saloons on Sunday the meeting adjourned without any definite action.

The funeral of Mrs. Addie Smart will take place from the M. E. Church on to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Capt. John Hamilton, father of the deceased, J. V. Beamis and wife, and D. Hamilton of Lincoln, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Smith and Miss Betty Williams of Macon City, Mo., are here to attend the funeral.

The following officers for the new year have been elected by the Unitarian Church: President, A. K. Root; Vice-President, D. R. Sparks; Secretary, Frank Fisher; Treasurer, Mrs. D. R. Sparks.

The number of cases of scarlet fever in the city is increasing, and Mayor Joesting has been asked to appoint a health officer, whose special duty it will be to enforce the sanitary laws.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Fruainte of Chicago are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Clawson of Upper Alton.

Mr. W. H. Hildebrand and daughter have returned from Bloomington, where they have been visiting friends.

Misses Sadie Loomis and Lucy Matthews of Carlinville are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Dorsey.

Mt. Vernon—In Male Attire.

MT. VERNON, Ill., Nov. 28.—Chief of Police Former arrested Celia Murphy who was promenading the streets in company with two men. She was arrayed in male attire and all three were under the influence of liquor. She was fined for the offense.

Walter Jones, a colored boy, was fined in Justice Ragan's court for hitting a white boy over the head with a club. Jones said he committed the deed because the white boy called him a "nigger."

The water mains which lead from the reservoir to the car shops are being laid at a rapid rate, and will be completed in a few days.

Reports from various parts of the country indicate that there will be an immense crop of wheat next year. The continued rains of late have done much to bring out the wheat.

Mrs. John Cochran is dangerously ill and no hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Misses May Miller, Kate Spiece and Metta Watson are being entertained by friends in Ashley.

Al Wall is in Centralia visiting relatives.

Mr. Roger Courtney and Miss Gussie Satterfield were married by Father Day of the Catholic Church. They will take a short bridal tour, when they will return here to reside permanently.

Richard Buckham of Memphis, Tenn., is in the city for a few days.

Will McDowell of Portsmouth, O., is in the city on business.

O. G. Patterson, the Air Line tie man, is in the city.

There is to be a gymnasium started in this city in the near future.

Monticello—Teachers' Institute.

MONTICELLO, Ill., Nov. 28.—The Piatt County teachers' annual convention and institute is being held at the Court-house in Monticello. There is a large attendance of the prominent teachers and educators of Central Illinois. Prof. S. M. Ingles of the Southern Normal of Carbondale, Ill., delivered a very able address on "Life's Practical Workshop." Supt. Allen B. Martin is conducting the convention.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Mr. Elmer C. Wood of Lorington, Ill., a well-known musician, and Miss Montie M. Bridges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bridges, prominent society people of Bement, Ill. The wedding will occur Dec. 2.

E. E. Edwards of Piatt County has been appointed Grand Marshall of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. of Illinois, the first time that Piatt County has been honored by the Grand Lodge.

Tents sufficient to hold 5,000 old veterans will be secured for the grand encampment during the World's Fair.

There was a grand camp fire and entertainment given by the members of Franklin Post, G. A. R., at their hall on Tuesday evening. Addresses were delivered by Commander J. E. Andrews, Col. E. F. Lee and Dr. J. W. Coleman. The Imperial Quartette and String Band furnished the music. The ladies of the Relief Corps served refreshments.

Miss Laura Pearl Pinehard, the promising young prima donna, gave a grand musical concert at Clinton on Thanksgiving evening.

Old Mr. Rohle was found dead in the cornfield near Iresdale. He was 83 years old.

Cairo—Fruit Trees Blighted.

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 28.—The fruit growers about Villa Ridge have reason to believe that the pear crop next year will be very scant, if there is any yield at all. The crop this year was phenomenally large and included all varieties. Since the fruit was gathered the trees have blighted from the top downwards, in many instances involving threefourths of the tree. The varieties that show greatest blight are the Bartlett and Clapps favorite.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Woolton, a storekeeper of Barlow City, Ky., formerly of Cairo, died of pnemonia, aged 60, on Thursday last at 3:03 o'clock p. m. A strange coincidence is that she was married on Thursday afternoon, and her husband died in 1883 on Thursday at 3:40 p. m.

United States Engineer Gyrcla was here yesterday and received the United States Custom-house from the hands of the contractors, Aisthorp & Halliday, who have just completed extensive repairs on the building and grounds.

The Board of County Commissioners will to-day receive from the contractor the houses on the Poor Farm purchased a year ago. The plan is to make this farm a source of income while caring for the county poor. This year $700 was realized off the wheat crop of the farm, and a large amount from corn, potatoes, etc. Next year better results are anticipated.

Ramsey—School Election.

RAMSEY, Ill., Nov. 28.—The next School Directors' election here will be fought on the issue of a new brick school building suitable to accommodate our rapidly increasing population.

Miss Jennie Hamilton returned to her home at Eureka yesterday.

A regular professional burglary was attempted and almost consummated here Thursday night. The Illinois Central office was entered by prying open an outside and an inside door, admitting the burglars to the safe of the American Express Co., where Mr. Hager keeps the express and railroad money. Mrs. Hager is Postmistress and deposits her official funds and stamps in the safe, so that there were at the time about $600, at least, in the safe. Four holes were drilled and charged and set off with a fuse, but fortunately for Mr. and Mrs. Hager, the explosion was not quite sufficient to break the holdings, and no booty was obtained. But the screws in the lining on the inside of the great iron door were drawn and the sign plainly showed that a very little heavier charge would have laid the money within the grasp of the robbers. This is the third burglary that Mr. Hager has had. The Central office at Assumption, thirty miles north, was entered also the same night, but no money or valuables obtained. No clue to the perpetrators.

Quincy—Christian Endeavor Convention.

QUINCY, Ill., Nov. 28.—The second annual convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, including the counties of Adams, Brown and Pike, met in this city yesterday. The meeting was largely attended, and the exercises opened in the Second Baptist Church. Most of the morning was given to the reception of the delegates, and the afternoon session opened with a song service and devotional exercises. Welcoming addresses were made by the Rev. W. S. Peace and Mr. C. Arthur Brown of this city, and responses were made by the Rev. Mr. Vanderhoof of Clayton. After the roll-call and various reports Miss Anna Bridgman read a paper on "Picket Duty," and Miss Anna Schermerhorn one on "Christian Endeavor Music."

The evening session opened with a praise service, led by Prof. C. A. Heinzen, and after the usual devotions Miss Serita L. Stewart read a paper on "First Principles," and Miss Nona L. Denison one on "St. John, the Aged." The Rev. J. K. Black, D. D., delivered the address of the evening.

Staunton—A Mining Accident.

STAUNTON, Ill., Nov. 28.—The horse race between Albright's and Eaves' horses was very exciting from start to finish, Eaves winning by three feet.

Mr. Tom Blair attended the State Convention of Fourth Class Postmasters at Springfield, Tuesday, as representative from this county.

Miss Carrie Jageman of Barnett spent Thanksgiving with Staunton friends.

Two breaks occurred on the compressors at Mine No. 7, the first part of the week. They were promptly repaired and work in the shaft was not delayed for any considerable time.

Mr. Gustav Schoen of Girard, formerly of this city, was a few days ago married to Miss Julia Sutherford of Girard.

Mrs. C. R. Wall and Misses Elgin Patrick and Hattie Wall spent the first part of the week in St. Louis.

Several changes have been made by the Consolidated Coal Co., and will go into effect the first of the month.

Mr. Otto Hefer, formerly top boss at Mine No. 6, has been given a similar position at No. 7. Mr. Williams takes the place vacated by Mr. Hefer at No. 6.

Misses Mamie and Kate Bray and Lena Gaur spent Thanksgiving with Mt. Olive friends.

The public school was closed for Thanksgiving on Wednesday evening, and the teachers and pupils given a rest until Monday morning.

Dwight—Did Not Cure Him.

DWIGHT, Ill., Nov. 28.—Mr. Henry M. Munroe, through his attorneys, Messrs. Harding & Ament of Pontiac, has brought two damage suits against Dr. Leslie E. Keeley and his inebriate company of Dwight, in the Circuit Court of this (Livingstone) county. Munroe was a patient at the institution and the first suit is to recover $150, which he paid to get cured of the drink habit, they guaranteeing a cure, but failed. The second suit is for $12,000 damages for injury to his health, sustained by reason of taking the gold cure treatment, and Munroe also claims, he being a carpenter, securing work in Dwight, and that Dr. Keeley forced the party employing him to discharge him, also forced the party he boarded with to expel him from the house. The cases will come up during the January term of the Circuit Court, and are looked upon with considerable interest. Dr. Keeley has the entire city of Dwight in a tumult at present, as the citizens did not carry out the agreement with him to put in sewerage, pave the streets and build water-works. He told them that he would have to move the institution to the city where he could have all those improvements.

Champaign—A Ghastly Find.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 28.—Champaign has another unpalatable sensation and one which is likely to bring some poor wretch to the bar of justice. While several young men were out on a stroll they found a suspicious looking box on the bank of Beisser's Ditch. Upon being opened a ghastly sight was disclosed to view. It contained the body of an infant with the head severed from the body. The head and body were each wrapped in a white sheet of linen. The box also contained a small quilt and part of a newspaper, which was entirely covered with blood. By the aid of a microscope it was found that the paper was a part of the Champaign Times, which offers the only clue for the detectives. This find has created considerable excitement, for a similar find was made a short time ago.

Several sneak thieves entered the Guiick & Co. tailoring establishment and carried off a large quantity of valuable goods. They also broke open the money drawer with a fire poker and secured the cash it contained. Several suspicious looking characters were in town, but have disappeared. The police are on the lookout for them.

Mascoutah—High School Entertainment.

MASCOUTAH, Ill., Nov. 28.—The High School alumni will present the drama "Hickory Farm" at the Opera-house during the holidays. The proceeds will be used for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the High School commencement class of '92.

Hon. Philip H. Postel, Mr. Julius Postel, Miss Lizzie Postel and Mrs. John Winkler left Denver, Colo., Thursday night for home. They will reach here to-day.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Holtcamp and daughter, Miss Ottilie, spent several days of the week with Attorney Holtcamp and family of St. Louis.

The Mascoutah teachers will hold a meeting at the school building to-day. The following is the programme: "Class Exercise in Language," Miss Sophie Schubkegel; "Gymnastics," Mr. Simon Kruse; "Review of Southward's Grammer," Mr. Jacob Bachman.

Mr. George Rentter, a prominent merchant of St. Libory, was here yesterday.

Mrs. George Heinrich attended the Stolberg-Harszy wedding in Stookey Township Thursday.

Salem—Shot an Eagle.

SALEM, Ill., Nov. 28.—Mr. J. B. Brokaw a few days since shot and killed a golden eagle three miles north of here. When killed it was in the act of seizing a 50-pound pig.

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the season here was the celebration of the silver wedding of Capt. and Mrs. Robert Martin at their residence in the Third Ward on last Thursday evening. Upward of 200 of their friends were present, including some from Chicago and from other places less remote. Elaborate preparations had been provided for the comfort of the guests, a feature of which was the magnificent banquet. The exercises consisted of recitations, vocal and instrumental music, and the whistling of Miss Lou Badolet captivated all. At a late hour Prof. Earnhardt's cornet band appeared on the premises and serenaded Capt. Martin and lady and their guests.

Virginia—A Girl Missing.

VIRGINIA, Ill., Nov. 28.—The whereabouts of Maggie Wilkinson, who it is supposed eloped with John Norris last Friday night, is still a mystery. No trace of her can be obtained. John Norris, who shot at her father last Saturday evening, was tried to-day and held in the sum of $200 to appear at the next term of court. The girl's parents are very much worried that their daughter can not be found.

The hunt for pearls in the bed of the Sangamon River near Chandlerville goes along with uninterrupted success. Charles Carteck and a man named Sargent have recently added a number of valuable pearls to their accumulation. Sales aggregating $1,000 have been made within the last two week to Chicago and St. Louis dealers.

McLeansboro—City Marshal Removed.

McLEANSBORO, Ill., Nov. 28.—N. A. Utley was removed from the office of City Marshal and John Smith was appointed in his stead by Mayor J. W. Marshall. The cause of removal is not generally known as Mr. Utley had made a very efficient officer.

Mrs. Elliott returned from Chicago where she had been endeavoring to arrange for a business location in that city, but did not succeed.

John C. Hall, our enterprising real estate man, will move to Chicago early next year to live during the World's Fair. His oldest daughter, aged 14, is at Nashville, Tenn., attending school.

Quincy—Adams County Teachers.

QUINCY, Ill., Nov. 28.—Articles of incorporation of the Blaney-Heitz Implement Co., capital stock $15,000, and the Leader Incubator & Brooder Co., capital stock $2,000, were filed to-day for record in the Recorder's office.

The annual convention of the Adams County Teachers' Association is in session here this week.

The second annual convention of the Quincy District of the Society of Christian Endeavor opened at the Vermont Street M. E. Church.

A number of Quincy Catholics will attend Father Kenrick's golden jubilee which occurs Monday at St. Louis.

Monmouth—Warren County Teachers.

MONMOUTH, Ill., Nov. 28.—The annual institute of the teachers of Warren County began here to-day. Prof. McDowell of Monmouth, President of the institute, delivered the opening address. The attendance is large. Several prominent educators from different parts of the State are in attendance. Prof. Green of Peoria addressed the institute on "Music in the Schools." Hon. Henry Raab, State Superintendent, delivered a very interesting speech to the teachers.

Fairfield—A Big Blaze.

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Nov. 28.—The storeroom occupied by Humphrey & Walters, produce dealers, was discovered to be on fire. The building was the property of George H. Newton. The building and contents burned, but surrounding property was saved. There were 1,000 dozen eggs, seventy-five bushels of hickory nuts and other articles and Mr. Walters' household goods in the building. The firm was doing business for a large produce dealer at Flora. The loss is total, there being no insurance on either the building or the stock. Nothing was saved.

Mt. Carmel—Secured a Verdict.

MT. CARMEL, Ill., Nov. 28.—Some months since J. H. Dixon, a brakeman in the employ of the "Big Four" company, lost a hand while in the discharge of his duty by having it mashed in a defective coupler. Mr. Dixon brought suit against the railroad company for damages in the sum of $5,000. The case was tried in the Circuit Court here, and the jury brought in a verdict awarding the plaintiff the full amount asked for.

Marion—Religious Revival.

MARION, Ill., Nov. 28.—Revival meetings are being held in the Christian and Southern Methodist Churches in this city. At the former Elder H. R. Tricket, quite a noted divine, conducted the services, while Rev. Howell has charge at the latter place. About forty converts reported, and among them are men far advanced in life and who were heretofore known as leaders in society not found among church workers. The interest and crowd increase at every coming together.

Galesburg—Epworth League.

GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 28.—The Epworth League Convention of the Galesburg District elected these officers: President, Rev. G. J. Lucky, Galesburg; Secretary, Miss Libby Homshear, Monmouth; Treasurer, Miss Nellie Miller, Macomb. The reports showed a gain of six chapters, four junior chapters and a total membership of 2,500. Dr. J. W. Berry, Chicago, delivered the annual address.

Macomb—Cigarmakers Strike.

MACOMB, Ill., Nov. 28.—The striking cigarmakers are still out at the Macomb Cigar & Tobacco Co.'s shops. The strikers will not accept the new scale of $8 per 1,000, and have issued an appeal to sister organizations for financial aid until the company accedes to their demands, or till they can find employment elsewhere.

REAL ESTATE INTERESTS.

Opposition to the British Syndicate—Sales of City and Suburban Property.

Sons of the local brewers who sold out to the British syndicate under an obligation not to engage in the same line of business again are gradually buying and building brewery plants which promise to incite a fierce competition in this line of traffic. Since the sale to the British syndicate was made there have been a half dozen or more new brewery concerns started, and while the names of the old managers do not appear to be connected with either of the new enterprises, the sons of the men who built up the brewery interests of St. Louis are identified with the new industries that are being started. Yesterday the old Bavarian Brewery on Marine avenue, between Miami and Chippewa streets, which Adolphus Busch purchased about ten years ago, was sold for $175,000 to Theodore Herold, whose father owned the Cherokee Brewery, and Tony Stuever, whose father, F. L. Stuever, was part owner in the Schilling & Schnider Brewery Co., both of which concerns were bought out by the Britishers. It is said that Mr. Busch expended about $100,000 in refitting the old Bavarian Brewery, intending at the time to utilize it in meeting the growing demand for his beer, but now that the capacity of the main plant is being increased sufficiently to meet all probable requirements for several years to come the "annex" was no longer useful to the present concern.

SOUTHWESTERN SITES.

John S. King reports the following sales:

Humphrey street—Lot, 50x125, on north side, between Morgan Ford road and Bent avenue; from Griesbauer Bros. to Thomas Hardy, for $12 per foot.

Koskiusko street—A lot, 35x125, on the northeast corner of Guthrie street, for $11.50 per front foot; from Max Stoehr to Prentiss J. Batchelor.

St. Vincent street—A lot, 85x125, on the northeast corner of Nebraska avenue, for $40 per front foot; from M. Moyle to Patrick Fitzsimmons.

Connecticut street—A lot, 50x125, on the north side, between Morgan Ford road and Bent avenue, for $12 per front foot; from F. L. Stemme to Wm. H. Shea.

WEST END SALES.

Love & Sons report the sale of an eight-room stone-front dwelling and 26½x100 feet of ground at No. 4066 Cook avenue, south side, near Sarah, for $4,300, from W. A. Geraldin to Mrs. M. A. Luney.

Bradley & Quinette report the following sales:

Cote Brilliante avenue—South side, near Spring, a five-room brick dwelling and 25x130 feet of ground, numbered 3640, from Lemuel R. Wilson to Edward Zausch for $2,400.

Delmar avenue—South side, 60 feet east of Pendleton, a 50x143-foot lot at $70 a foot from Miss Emilie Munford to Isaac N. Miller.

SUBURBAN.

L. D. Picot reports the sale of 70x162 feet of ground in Bellevue place, a new subdivision recently opened just west of Benton, at $9 a foot, from Conde L. Benoist to Mrs. Ellen L. Paterson, who is going to improve the site with a two-story frame residence.

THE TOWN OF MADISON.

The firm of McNair & Farish report the sale of the Macon farm, a tract of 48 58-100 acres, located due east of the new industrial town of Madison, on the other side of the river, opposite the northern section of the city. The property, owned by L. G. McNair and others, was sold for $38,800 to a syndicate of St. Louis gentlemen, who are having the land subdivided in about ten thousand front feet. Grading and other improvements are now under way preparatory to putting the property on the market as soon as possible. The subdivision will be known as McNair's addition to the town of Madison. Mr. Farish says it is the only large tract available, in that locality, to home seekers which is not controlled by the Madison Land & Improvement Co. The town of Madison promises to be another Pullman. On the site where there was nothing but wheat and corn fields a year ago, can now be seen the Madison Car Works, giving employment to 2,000 hands, and the extensive refining works of the Standard Oil Co., affording employment for 400. A grain elevator is about to be built over there for the accommodation of Eastern railways that use the Merchants' Bridge, and a very large iron works is expected to be located there shortly, where work will be given to 1,500 more men. Among the other projected industries for Madison, there is a Cleveland (O.) roofing concern, which has already purchased a site for its plant, and expects to break ground for building during the winter. Under such conditions of present and prospective industrial development dwelling houses are in great demand at Madison. An army of mechanics now working over there have to return to St. Louis every night, whereas they would reside over there if builders would erect dwellings for them to live in.

INSTRUCTING THE YOUNG.

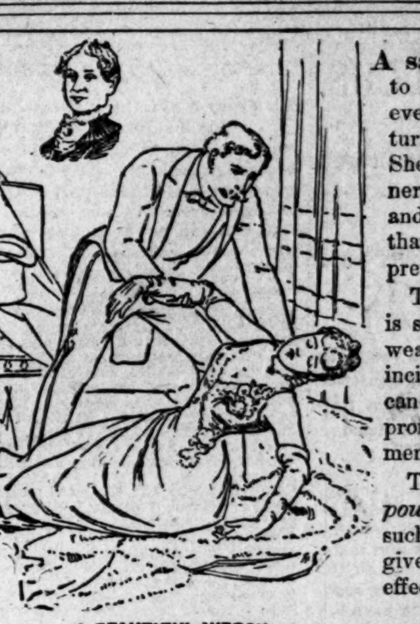

Object Lessons Discussed by the Teachers at Their Meeting This Morning.

There was an interesting meeting this morning of all the first and second grade teachers of the public schools in the large lecture-room on the third floor of the University building (formerly Foster Academy) on the northeast corner of Sixteenth and Pine streets. There were 400 teachers present and the principals of all the schools. The exercises opened with drill work by the primary class of the Irving School under the direction of the teacher, Miss Elizabeth E. Fishwick, and supervised by the principal, Mr. J. H. Rabe. Miss Fishwick employed a collection of objects placed upon colored boards. She asked the size, color, form and use of each thing, obliging the pupils to use proper language and having the others correct any scholar who made a mistake. The little tots, thirteen in number, did very well, but occasionally lapsed into the vernacular of the street. One little girl made a mistake, but before she could be corrected she said, "I aint through yet." This caused a ripple of laughter to pass over the assembled teachers and the little one cried.

The exercise was followed by a discussion of the best way of teaching beginners the form, size, color and use of objects. Some advocated method or imitation, having the children to do nothing but repeat the words of the teacher. Others maintained spontaneity, which threw the scholars entirely on their own resources and left them to find out facts for themselves. Mr. Long closed the discussion with an address, in which he advocated spontaneity and method combined. He also told the teachers that he was in favor of them using their ingenuity and individuality in class. He closed with an instruction upon the manner in which the teacher should help along the scholar in the study of objects.

USE POND'S EXTRACT FOR CATARRH

WHAT THE DOCTOR SAYS:

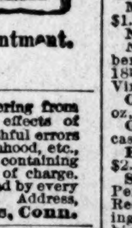

A WELL-KNOWN NEW YORK PHYSICIAN GIVES THIS ADVICE IN CASES OF CATARRH:

"The mucous membrane being relaxed an astringent is required to restore it to a healthy condition. POND'S EXTRACT is such an astringent. Used as a gargle, wash, or injection it is exceedingly beneficial."

WHAT THE PATIENT SAYS:

"I have been a constant sufferer for years (from about Nov. 1st until the following June) from severe colds in my head and throat; in fact, the whole mucous tissue from the nose, down to and including the bronchial tubes, were more or less affected. It was fast developing into CHRONIC CATARRH. I had tried most known remedies, and was finally persuaded last March to use POND'S EXTRACT. I snuffed it up my nose and inhaled it; gargled my throat with it and swallowed it. It relieved me wonderfully and has effected almost a radical cure. I have used it for burns, bruises, and sprains, and believe it invaluable in such cases. I believe also that no family should be without it in the house, feeling as I do that it comprises a whole Pharmacopœia within itself."

Mount McGregor.

Gen. Palmer, the Commander of the G. A. R., says that he has recommended that the Government buy Mount McGregor for a sanitarium for consumptive soldiers, and that they take the cottage where Gen. Grant breathed his last for their headquarters. This is a good idea. A still better one is to look after these old soldiers and see that they do not get lung trouble in the first place. If they will take Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure they will never be troubled with this malady. It is the best thing for colds, coughs and similar maladies, all growing out of colds, that was ever offered to the American people. No one who has taken it faithfully has ever failed to be benefited by it. Every old soldier ought to use it. It is especially recommended for croup and pleurisy, while for bronchial difficulties it has no equal. Ask your druggist for it, and see that you get it.

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain.

Wheat—There was little in the market this morning—trading, action or news, and the latter fact is the main accountable for the stagnation. Later on prices weakened off and the close was ⅛c below yesterday. The opening saw a rather lively buying spurt that paid ⅛c more than the highest figures of yesterday, but this demand soon subsided, though the selling did not for some time increase. Firm cables and Liverpool ½d higher, cold weather and some outside buying orders caused the early firmness, though a distinctly nervous feeling among shorts, more especially those of Dec., was an element of strength locally. Outside markets, however, did not show strength, and this had a repressive effect upon the bullishness felt here.

The export clearances were smaller than the week before, and a curious report was out that 10,000,000 bu was tied up at Buffalo that did not figure in the visible. The foreign cables were of a mixed-up variety, some higher and others lower, and not enough change indicated to cut any figure on this side. It was a dull and featureless market, but the latter part of the session was dull and heavy, as all other markets were weak, and there was not much demand.

FUTURES—Dec. opened at 94c and sold to 93⅝c, and sold to 94⅛c and sold to 93⅝c and closed at 93⅝c bid. May opened at $1.00⅛ and sold to $1.00⅜ to 99⅝@⅝c to $1 to 99½c and closed at 99⅝c bid.

SPOT GRADES—No. 2 red held up well in price, regular selling at 93½c and special houses at 93⅝@93¾c, but otherwise the market was dull, weak and lower. No. 3 red sold this side at 89½@89¾c and E. side offered at 90c. No. 4 sold at 84c. Rejected offered regular at 75c, bid 72c, and for E. side 75c bid. No. 2 hard winter sold at 85¼@85½c; No. 3 do at 83@83½c; No. 2 hard spring at 85c; No. 3 do at 83c; No. 3 soft spring at 83c.

Sales: No. 2 red—12,891 bu and 13 cars regular at 93½c, 1 car E side, 1 in St. L., 2 in Cdlt. and 300 bu and 19 cars in C at 93⅝c, 6 cars in Cdlt. at 93⅜c. No. 3 red—1 car this side and 2 in Cdlt. at 89½c, 3 in C. at 89⅝c. No. 4—1 car in St. L. at 84c. No. 2 hard winter—1 car in C. at 85½c, 1 in C., 3 in St. L., and 4 E. side at 85½c. No. 3 hard winter—1 car in St. L. at 83c, 1 E. side and 1 in St. L. at 83½c. No. 2 hard spring—9 cars E. side at 85c. No. 3 hard spring—8 cars E. side at 88c. No. 3 soft spring—2 cars E. side at 83c.

SAMPLES—Receipts, 98 cars and 1,742 sacks. Light offerings and a poor demand. Market very dull for anything but choice samples. A few lots of fancy sold at a shade better prices. The lower grades very dull and difficult to dispose of without making concessions. Sales: Special bin—1 car rejected at 81c, 3 cars No. 3 hard spring at 82c, 1 No. 4 winter at 85½c, 1 No. 2 soft spring at 86½c, 2 No. 4 winter at 87c, 2 No. 3 red at 90c, 1 do at 90½c. Track this side—1 car No. 4 winter at 89c, 1 No. 2 red at 94⅛c. Track East side—1 car rejected hard at 81c, 1 No. 3 red at 91c. Sacks—88 at 75c, 41 at 86c, 48 at 91½c, 75 at 94c, 184 at 94⅛c, 194, 241 and 300 at 95c.

Corn—The market was easier and declined on the cold weather and in sympathy with declines elsewhere, but there were no large amounts of sale. Near months suffered most loss, the year declining 1⅛c and closing only ⅛c above the bottom. Jan. closed ⅝c and May ⅛c lower.

FUTURES—Year opened at 40⅛c, sold off to 39⅝c, back to 40c, closing at 39⅞c. Jan. sold at 39⅛c to 38⅞@39c and at the close 39c bid. May sold at 40⅝c to 40⅛c, closing at 40⅛c. Early, 43c bid for Nov., but later offered at 42⅞c and 42⅛c bid.

SPOT GRADES—Lower and slow sale at the decline. There was little demand save for No. 2, which sold regular to speculators at 42¼@42⅛c and E. side to a shipper at 42¼ latter 1⅛c decline. No. 3 E. side ⅛c lower at 42c and offered in M. at 41¾c, bid 41c for regular. No. 3 yellow sold at 42½@42c. No. 2 white at 44c. No. 3 white not offered and 42c bid for 42⅛c for E. side. No. 3 yellow—42c bid for M., 43c for E. side.

Sales—No. 2—1 car in M. at 42⅛c, 2 in Cdlt., 4 regular, 6 in U. and 7 E. side at 42¼c, 12 regular at 42¼c. No. 3—10 cars E. side at 42c. No. 2 white—3 cars in U. at 44c. No. 3 yellow—1 car in M. at 42½c, 1 do at 42c.

Oats—Not a future trade was made. The market was weak and lower along with wheat and corn. May offered at 32⅝c, bid 32½c.

SPOT GRADES—A decided lack of the demand that has been taking all the mixed for shipment, the fact of an interruption to river navigation holding buyers off, and market weak and lower in consequence. No. 2 declined 1⅛c, selling this side at 32½@32⅛c, but for E. side 33c bid. No. 3 white sold ⅛c lower at 32c and more offered at that without buyers. No. 2 white offered regular at 33⅛c, bid 32½c; No. 3 at 31½c, with 29½c bid for M. and E. side.

Sales: No. 2—1 car in M. at 32⅛c, 1 in M. at 32⅛c. No. 3 white—1 car in M. at 32c.

SAMPLES—Dull at a decline of 1@1½c. Some few fancy offerings of white and color sold within ⅛c of yesterday's prices. Northern was in good request, and if here would have sold well up to yesterday's figures. Sales: Special bin—1 car poor, 3 color, at 30⅛c, 1 No. 3 at 30⅛c, 1 No. 3 white at 32c, 1 do at 32⅛c, 1 No. 2 at 32⅛c, 1 No. 3 white at 33c, 1 No. 2 color at 33c, 1 fancy No. 3 white at 33⅛c, 1 car northern mixed at 35c. Sacked lots on orders 36@37c.

Rye—The only grade offered was No. 3 in C at 84c and the best bid was 82c for regular. For No. 2 this side 87c bid.

Barley—Quiet. Sales: Minnesota—5 cars at 58c, 1 at 65c. Iowa—5 cars at 60c.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 28.—Barley quiet. Cash, 58c; Dec., 58c.

Flour and Feed.

Hay.

Receipts, 397 tons; shipments, 73 tons. Receipts available for this market continue light and demand for all grades good at full prices. Prairie scarce and a further advance was made to-day of 25@50c per ton, the little offering finding ready sale at the advance. Timothy and mixed very firm at steady prices. Sales this side: Mixed—1 car at $9.50; 1 do at $10. Timothy—1 car slightly stained, 1 about prime at $10.50, 1 car prime at $11, 4 strictly do at $11.50, 3 choice at $12, 4 strictly do at $12.50, 2 strictly fancy at $13. Prairie—2 cars choice at $9.50, 2 fancy at $10.50. East side—Timothy—1 car choice at $11.50, 1 fancy at $12, 1 gilt edge at $12.50.

Provisions.

Market very quiet and a shade easier for dry salt meats. Sales: 2 cars 10@15-day salt c'ribs, 45 lbs average, at 5¼c, 1 caresully cured, 55 lbs average, at 5¾c; fully cured 70 lbs average offered at 5.90c; no bids. The order demand for bacon good, but prices unchanged.

ON THE STREET.

[The Post Dispatch quotations are for lots in first hands, unless otherwise stated. Orders are filled with choice goods and are charged higher.]

Fruits.

Apples—Received, 1,713 bbls; shipped, 755 bbls. The market continues depressed under pressure of liberal arrivals. There was a light inquiry for choice large fruit, while small, inferior and slack-packed fruit was as plentiful and as dull as ever. Geniting range at 90c@$1.10 per bbl for small and poor, $1.15@1.25 for fair and at $1.35 for choice; Ben Davis at $1.40@1.60 for poor to $2.00@2.10 for fancy; winesap at $1.40@1.80; other Western varieties at $1.25@1.50 for good to $1.75@2 for fancy. Eastern Greening at $1.75@1.90, Baldwin and other choice varieties at $2@2.10. Sales: 70 bbls Geniting at $1.35, 1 car Eastern Baldwins at $2.

Grapes—The demand was only fair, the light offerings being fully ample for all requirements. Concords sold at 16@22c; Catawbas, 18@22c, with an occasional small lot of Ives and Isabellas at 16c ₩ 9-lb basket.

Quinces—Very little demand, with the offerings fully equal. Sales were made in a small way at $1@1.25 ₩ bu in bulk. In shipping order higher prices were charged.

California Fruits—Offerings were not excessive, but fully equal to the demand.

Winter Nellis	$2 75@3 00

Alemiria, per bbl, fancy	8 00@12 00

Grape Fruit—Large offerings, while the demand was light, sales ranging from $3@3.50 per box.

Oranges—The movement shows considerable improvement, and at the present reasonable prices all dealers are looking for a steady increase. Dealers are holding the well-known marks very firm at 50@75c per box above the unknown, nameless sorts liable to show irregular packing which are liable to show decay. We quote:

Mexican	$2 75@3 00

Florida, russets, as to size, ₩ box	1 60@1 80

Lemons—New Messinas are now in the market. Demand while not urgent was good. We quote:

Messina and Palermo, good, ₩ box	$4 00@4 50
Choice to fancy, ₩ box	4 50@5 50

Bananas—Fancy bunches are billed out on orders at $2@2.25 and choice at $1.50@1.75.

Coconnuts—On orders, $3.75 ₩ 100.

Dates—Persian, Hallowe'en in boxes sell at 6c; Star at 4½c ₩ lb; Fard, 60-lb boxes, 6½c; 10-lb boxes, 9c.

Cranberries—Cape Cod sell at $8.50@9 per bbl and at $2.75@3 per box for choice, and at $7.50@8 per bbl for common; New Jersey at $2.50@2.75 per box. In a small way from store and on orders 50c per bbl higher.

Dried Fruit—A weak feeling prevails and the demand was not so urgent as of late. Apples hold about steady, while peaches were decidedly dull.

Nuts.

Pecans—Buyers are going slow as arrivals keep increasing and the feeling was weak, with a downward tendency. Western and Territory range at 7@7½c ₩ lb; Texas at 8@9c.

Peanuts—Firm. The range is from 2¼@2¾c for common, 3@3½c for choice and 3¾@4c for fancy.

Hickorynuts—Shelbark, 85@90c ₩ bu; large, 35@40c.

Walnuts—Quotable at 35@40c ₩ bu.

Hazelnuts—Quotable at 2@2½c ₩ lb.

Chestnuts—Choice, 10c ₩ lb; wormy and woolly, 5@8c.

Vegetables.

Potatoes—Received, 6,792 bu; shipped, 3,108 bu. Movement very light, both offerings and demand being limited. Dealers have ample stocks on hand, while business is confined to the wants of the local trade. Considerable stock now coming in is touched with frost. Fair quotable at 25@27c per bu, choice at 30@32c and fancy at 35@37c; frosted, worm eaten and small stock less. Light sales of new from Florida were at $2.50 per bu box. Sales: 1 car rose at 30c ₩ bu on track, 1 car burbank at 35c on track.

Onions—Received 4,399 bu, shipped 912 bu. Firm, with a light movement. Fair red quotable at 65@70c and choice at 72½@75c per bu and at $1.75@1.85 per bbl, yellow at 65@70c per bu, small, soft and inferior stock at 50@60c. Spanish sell in a small way at $1.60@1.75 per crate.

Cabbage—There was more offering. Considerable of the receipts, however, was frosted, and had to be sold at a large discount. Choice to fancy was salable at $10@11 per ton, while frosted sold at a discount, according to condition. On orders $1.25 per crate was the billing price.

Turnips—Home-grown salable on orders at 75c per bbl. Very little consigned offering.

Celery—There was a good, active and unsupplied demand for home-grown, which caused the northern poor to move more readily at slightly advanced prices. We quote: Fancy home-grown 75c@$1.25, medium 40@50c, northern at 25@50c per doz.

Cauliflower—The condition of the offerings was generally poor. For choice and fancy offerings there was a fair demand at $2@2.50 per doz., while frosted or otherwise undesirable was almost unsalable.

New Beans—Fair offerings of new, which were salable at $2.50 per case.

Lettuce—Fair offerings and demand at $1.25 for Southern and $1 for home-grown ₩ box on orders.

Rutabagas—Dull at 20c ₩ bu bulk and del. On orders, $1.25 ₩ bbl. Sale, 1 car in bulk at 20c.

Horseradish—For select stock there was a good active demand at $4.50@5.00 ₩ bbl of 100 lbs net weight.

Hubbard Squash—Salable at $5@6 ₩ 100 on orders in shipping condition; $1 ₩ doz.

Parsnips—Fair demand at $2.25@2.50 ₩ bbl on orders.

New Peas—Light offering and demand. Sales were made at $2.50 ₩ crate.

Squash—White summer salable at 40@50c ₩ doz.

Sauerkraut—On orders; new city make at $3 ₩ bbl and $1.75 ₩ half bbl. Extra brands of hand made 50c ₩ bbl higher.

Beets—Fair demand at $1.50 ₩ bbl, with offerings fairly ample.

Tomatoes—Slow demand at 75@90c per bu on shipping order.

Sweet Potatoes—Fair offerings, while the demand was only moderate. On orders—Choice home-grown yellow and red Nansemond was salable at $2.25@2.50 for yellow and $2.50@2.75 for red.

Eggs.

Received, 854 cases; shipped, 104 cases. There was a steady, fair inquiry for fresh gathered stock at 22c ₩ dozen, with the offerings not large of such. There is, however, a great deal of ice-house and otherwise held stock on sale, which ranges 2@5c ₩ dozen lower, according to quality.

Butter and Cheese.

Butter—Received, 37,804 lbs. Arrivals light and demand light. Trade always does slacken up toward end of the month. There is no surplus of any description save Elgin creamery. Sales ranged:

Creamery, fancy near-by, Neb., Iowa and Wis.	28
Creamery, firsts	26@27
Creamery, seconds or gathered cream stock	24@25
Dairy, fancy	25

Cheese—Unchanged, with a light movement. Wisconsin full cream—Twins, 12c; singles, 12⅛c; Young America, 13⅛c; Southern Wisconsin and Western, 11@11½c; skims and near-by make, 7½@8½c; centrifugal, 3@5c. Brick, 12½@13c, Limberger, 11½@12c. Swiss—Choice, 13@14c; No. 2, 10@11c; low grade, 6@8c.

Poultry and Game.

Dressed Poultry—A steadier feeling manifest, though demand was only fair. The offerings were not large of choice, fresh stock, which sold off fairly well, but there was still some rough inferior held stock on sale that was not wanted even at low prices. We quote choice stock:

Turkeys	10 @11
Chickens, choice	8
Chickens, large and rough	6 @ 7
Ducks	9 @10
Geese, choice fat	7 @ 7½
Geese, red and poor	5 @ 6

Live Poultry—Dull and weak. Supply generally in excess of the wants. Prices about the same, though chickens were ruling very dull.

Chickens, mixed old and young	6½@ 7
Chickens, old roosters	4
Turkeys	7½@ 8
Ducks	6½@ 7
Geese	4½@ 5

Game—Receipts of all kinds, particularly rabbits and venison, were large. The market was in an overstocked condition on the former. Undrawn quail was in fair request at unchanged prices, but drawn was dragging. All others, while not moving brisk were in fair request. The condition of arrivals was generally good. Choice, sweet stock we quote:

Quail, undrawn, ₩ doz	$1 25

Live Veals—Offerings not large, but fully equal to the demand. Choice small fat was selling slowly at 5c; medium, 4½c; heretics rough and thin, 2½@3c per lb.

Dressed Veals—Light offerings and demand at 6c per lb.

Sheep—Salable at 3@3½c and lambs at 4½@5c ₩ lb.

Roasting Pigs—Considerable offering for which there was a fair demand at 75c@$1.25 each.

Dressed Hogs—Fair offerings, while the demand was limited: medium-sized were salable in a small way at 4@4½c ₩ lb.

Seeds and Castor Beans.

[Flaxseed and castor beans are sold subject to inspection and inspector's weight.]

Grass Seeds—Firm. Demand fair, but offerings light and little doing. Clover ranges at $3.90@4.10 for trashy and weedy to $4.35@4.45 for good; timothy at 90c@$1 for inferior, $1.05@1.10 for fair, and $1.12@1.15 for good bright seed; German millet at 50@55c; Hungarian at 35@40c; red top at 25@30c. Sale: 13 sks timothy at $1.11½.

Flaxseed—Nothing doing. Salable at 89c this side and 90c East side.

Hempseed—Steady, but quiet at $1.35, pure test.

Castor Beans—Quiet and unchanged at $1.77 for prime.

Furs.

More doing with prices ruling steady. Arrivals increasing and the quality improving.

Wool.

Received to-day 136,978 lbs, during the week 245,631 lbs; shipped to-day 19,545 lbs, during the week, 516,968 lbs. There is an increased movement noticeable in all the principal markets of the country, which, however, is mainly due to concessions in prices, and is therefore an evidence rather of weakness than strength. A sale in the East of 500,000 lbs Montana fine medium wool at a price equivalent to less than 18c net cash in St. Louis is an evidence that holders have decided to accept best offers obtainable. The London sales opened with a decline of 5 per cent on inferior stock, though the better grades were fairly well sustained.

Commercial Notes.

Barge shipments to New Orleans, 56,900 bu wheat.

Weather: Snowing: 28 deg. at 12 o'clock. Local forecast: Clearing and colder.

The advices from New Zealand are very favorable, the wheat being particularly promising.

A cable from Buenos Ayres states that the wheat crop will be larger than last year, when the production was unusually abundant.

A private Liverpool cable quotes wheat ½d higher, with holders firm and buyers indifferent.

The net exports from Austria-Hungary in August were 240,000 bushels of wheat and 54,000 sacks of flour, against 408,000 bushels of wheat and 40,000 sacks of flour in July.

Owing to the rush to get grain out of Odessa before the ukase went into effect, grain freights were as high as 40s, to load immediately, while the Danubian rates at the same time were 20s to 25s.

The planters of Sea Island cotton in South Carolina have organized a union to secure the passage by Congress of a tariff on long staple cotton. A similar union will be organized in Georgia and Florida.

The English farmers' deliveries of wheat during the past week were 74,194 quarters at an average price of 39s 1d, against 87,104 quarters at 38s 9d last week.

Advices from the Northwest indicate there are about 1,000,000 bu wheat afloat on Lake Superior that may not be able to get through the straits owing to the freeze up.

The flour output of Minneapolis mills for the week was 161,000 lbs, against 205,000 the previous week and 184,000 the corresponding week last year. Poor water supply is the cause of the falling off.

Exports of flour and wheat from both coasts past six days were equivalent to 4,080,000 bu, where they were 5,383,000 bu for preceding seven days and 1,912,000 bu for same week last year. For twenty-two weeks they have been 91,480,000 against 41,-480,000 bu for corresponding period last year.

After last week's fall down in their guess on the visible of wheat, the Exchange statisticians were wary in their estimates on the next change, but the general opinion was the visible would show a small increase. One year ago wheat increased 338,000 bu and corn decreased 1,184,000 bu.

The clearances from four Atlantic ports for the week were 2,527,950 bu wheat, 211,900 pkgs of flour, 359,150 bu corn, 293,500 bu rye, 441,650 bu oats. A decrease of 888,750 bu wheat, 13,120 pkgs of flour and 292,150 bu corn and an increase of 92,-200 bu oats and 92,220 bu rye. For corresponding week last year they were 237,550 pkgs flour, 119,350 bu wheat, 369,900 bu corn, 126,700 bu oats.

Chicago Tribune says: "An elevator man said yesterday that the deliveries on Dec. wheat contracts would be very light. There has been an impression in the trade that the elevator people had a lot of wheat which they would dump the first of the month, but it is more than likely that about all the contract wheat will be carried over by the elevator men themselves. He said fully 3,000,-000 bu. had already been turned over into May and would therefore not be delivered on the first. There are 3,000,000 bu. or so floating around that will probably come out, but he believes the trade generally will be surprised at the lightness of the deliveries."

Correspondents at Bennettsville, S. C., report that but little cotton is left. Columbia County, Georgia, looks for a crop equal only to half of last year's. The acreage will be considerably reduced. Palmetto, Georgia, makes higher estimates than previously sent, and now believes in as much cotton for this section as last year and possibly more. In the opinion of Savannah operators the present situation will continue until after Feb. 1 cotton will advance 2c. At Eubanks, Ga., the farmers are badly demoralized over present prices and will turn their attention to grain. A reduced acreage of one-third is expected next year. Fully 72 per cent of the crop has been marketed at Rome, Ga.

Special Market Letter.

By Private Wire to J. P. Grier:

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The trade in wheat has been light to-day and the market weak. Dec. opened at 93c and closed at 92⅝c. May about 7c higher. We must have more foreign demand and better local buying to sustain prices with the volume of receipts. May wheat around $1 looks low compared with all other countries, but without inspection we cannot have any advance. One feature in the market that must not be lost sight of is the fact that No. 3 wheat, weighing from 57 to 59 lbs to the bu, is selling from 9c to 14c under the contract grade is no bull agreement. It is poor judgment to sell on such a decline as we have had, but conditions are changed. At 98c for Dec. we had a big foreign demand, which has fallen off at about this price. We had no rain in the winter wheat belt and the plant was sickly. Then we have had needed rains and the prospect now is for a fair crop. But all that could be overcome if it were not for the constantly increasing visible supply. We look on the market as weak and think it will go lower.

The gimp is out of corn. November sold as high as 70c and closed at 68c, after selling as low as 66c. Year and May are unchanged. Gossip says there is a large short interest in year, and sellers are scared and shorts nervous. We believe year too high. May is worth 43c.

Liquidation in Dec. pork caused lower prices in all product. There was no pressure to sell distant options. The market closed weak at inside prices.

Estimated receipts for Monday 48,000, and 240,000 for next week. Stocks for Dec. 1 are estimated at 215,000 bbls old pork, 20,000,000 lbs ribs and 31,000 tierces lard.

Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 380 cars; corn, 430 cars; oats, 275 cars.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 28.—The markets were all dull and steady to-day. In view of the fact that it is Saturday and so close to the end of the month traders were disinclined to take on new lines. Wheat was actually stagnant during the first hour and a half of business, Dec. selling only at 93c and 93⅛c, the former being the closing price yesterday. Then some longs undertook to market a little of their holdings and the price sagged to 92⅝c. Corn was actually steady, May selling throughout the morning at 43c and 42⅞@43c. There was not a single trade in Nov., though 74c was asked, against 74c at the close yesterday. Provisions were inclined to weakness, in view of the large stocks of old pork on hand. Jan. pork started at $11.30, against $11.27½ at the close yesterday, and gradually sagged off to $11.22½ at 11 o'clock.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 28.—Wheat lower, quiet; No. 2 cash, 96¼c; Dec., 96⅛c; May, $1.04⅛. Corn quiet; No. 2 cash, 52c; No. 3, 48c; No. 4, 45c. Oats neglected; cash, 34c. Rye quiet: cash, 94½c. Cloverseed lower, quiet; prime cash, $5.15; Jan., $5.20; Feb., $5.25.

BUFFALO, Nov. 28.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.04½; No. 1 Northern, $1.03; No. 2 red, $1.02. Corn, 57c. Receipts—Wheat, 793,000 bu; corn, 108.000 bu. Shipments—Wheat, 440,000.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—11 a. m.—The stock market was extremely dull, even in the opening dealings, this morning, and all life seemed to have departed from the trading, no activity of movement being apparent except in Chicago Gas, which was weak. The opening prices were all higher, the gains over last night's figures extending to ⅛ of 1 per cent, but no life was seen in the transactions, and prices were held at the opening figures for the greater portion of the hour, when the weakness in Chicago Gas had the effect of forcing a few insignificant declines. Chicago Gas dropped to 59⅞, against 61 last evening, and no rally occurred. The late dealings still remained intensely dull and entirely featureless, the market at 11 o'clock being steady at insignificant changes from the first prices.

Noon—Money closed easy at 3 per cent. Bar silver 94⅛. The stock market displayed no change in its temper after 11 o'clock, but Chicago Gas made no further drop after reaching 59 and after the issue of the bank statement with its very encouraging exhibit, a stronger tone was shown though as before the fluctuations were insignificant among the general list. The market in the late trading remained firm, but without feature and the close was dull and firm at insignificant changes from first prices.

PAXSON'S DOCKET.

Several Offenders Served With Justice in the Second District Court.

Ed Burns was fined $10 and costs in the Second District Police Court this morning as a fitting reward for the rumpus he raised with his family last night at the family home, 2311 Maiden lane. Burns is a huckster who howls out vegetables of various kinds and qualities during the day, and at night continues the torture for the sole benefit of his family. He broke the table last night and made things so interesting generally for his wife and step-daughter that they finally summoned Officer Kroner, who arrested him.

Lulu Hening bears traces of former beauty that not even the ravages of dissipation have destroyed. Her coal-black curly locks fall upon her shoulders in profusion, and her pretty eyes have not yet lost their attractiveness. Officer Maloney found her fighting drunk last night at Sixth and Carr streets. She claimed she had taken morphine, but she was fined $3 for her disturbance.

Joseph Clark was fined $20 for driving a mule with a sore shoulder. The animal belonged to James Sullivan, and Special Officer John P. Walsh prosecuted the case.

Jackson Larow, a newspaper vender, was prosecuted by Susan Stern, "born in 1802," and a peddler of notions. They live at 1126 Collins street, and whenever things are dull they arouse interest by having a little disturbance. The old lady told a woful tale of a beating Larow gave her with a base ball bat, and used abusive language to her. He denied that he struck her, and called up his two daughters. They proved to be charming young ladies, richly dressed in black silk and fur-lined cloaks. They denied that their father did anything to interrupt the even tenor of the old lady's way. The court fined him $5 and costs.

Robbed on the Street.

George Burroughs of Grand Tower, Ill., scheme yesterday afternoon near Sixth street and Washington avenue. He was approached by two boys who asked him to give them two nickels for a dime. He pulled out a well-filled purse which one boy knocked from his hand and the other picked up. Both lads escaped. The purse contained $290.

WHERE can you leave the "Diamond Special" in Chicago? Answer—At Hyde Park, foot of Thirty-ninth street, Twenty-second street, Van Buren street or Lake street. Van Buren Street Station is right in front of Auditorium, Richelieu and Leland Hotels, and very short walk from the other hotels of the South Side. Vandalia and Illinois Central is the route of "Diamond Special."

Suit and Counter Suit.

A warrant was sworn out yesterday against Dan Holland, a collector for Conroy Bros., charging him with embezzling $27. Holland is in Paducah, Ky. He will be looked after by the police as soon as requisition papers can be procured. Holland, it is said, has filed a counter suit charging the firm with defamation of character.

DON'T run the risk of your cold getting well of itself—you may thereby drift into a condition favorable to the development of some latent tendency, which may give you years of trouble. Better cure your cold at once with the help of Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, a good healing medicine for all coughs, sore lungs and throats.

Wanted Here.

The police are looking for a man who is wanted on a charge of fraud. He is said to be a very smooth individual. A short time ago he formed the acquaintance of Theodore Simmons, who was prevailed upon, so the story goes, to advance him $300. Since the money was handed over the man has not been seen. The police say they have located him in Chicago.

A Freight Collision.

TOO MUCH SOCIETY

The Cause Assigned for Harvard's Defeat at Football.

SOCIAL SWELLS AND NOT ATHLETES REPRESENT THE COLLEGE.

A Boston Writer's Criticism of Athletics at Harvard—Stagg to Be Given Charge of Athletics at Yale—The-Go-as-You Please Contest for Christmas Week—Sporting News Generally.

Now that the foot-ball game is a thing of the past one naturally wants to know just how Harvard lost, says "Fairfax" in the Boston News. The best way to explain this is that Yale had the best team. At the same time, however, Harvard was not near as strong as it might have been. There was a brilliant opportunity to make Harvard stronger in the center. It did not require more than one minute of play for McClung to make up his mind just where Harvard was weak. He improved the opportunity, and Harvard lost the game.

"The great difficulty," said an old Harvard man to me, "is that there is too much society attached to our college. If a man is not in the first ten of the 'Dickey' he is not supposed to be in it, either in foot-ball, base ball or anything else. This is not the case at Yale. There a man is accepted for his worth, and for his worth alone. It makes no difference to a Yale man whether or not he belongs to the crack societies. If he is an athlete that is all they want to know. It is not a case of society with Yale; it's ability. When Harvard learns this lesson we will win more than one game in fifteen years. Until this lesson is learned, well—Harvard will continue to be in the soup."

Harvard sporting men are also expressing very freely their disapprobation and dissatisfaction with the way their team has been coached this fall. The control of the team is, of course, nominally in the hands of Capt. Trafford, but actually it has been governed pretty nearly as George Adams, whom Trafford secured as a coach, wished, for it is understood that Adams made it a sine qua non of his accepting the position that he should have no rivals.

When Cumnock returned from abroad to take a hand, as every one confidently believed, in the coaching of the team, to the surprise of everybody but an enlightened few, he contented himself with some unobtrusive coaching on the field and some private instructions off the field. People have been wondering also why Dean, the best quarterback in the country, used to watch the Harvard team practicing, without himself taking a hand at the coaching, but if he were asked he would make the same reply that Cumnock would, that he did not wish to interfere where he was not wanted—where he was even told he was not wanted. Such has been the narrow policy of those in authority, and the instructions of men who play the game of foot-ball according to the idea of to-day have been slighted, while the material in the team, which proper coaching might have developed into an invincible eleven, has been sacrificed to personal feelings.

HEFFELFINGER FOR CAPTAIN.—The custom of electing a captain of the Yale foot-ball team immediately after the game on Thanksgiving Day was not carried out by McClung and his kickers yesterday. It is said that the reason for not electing a captain for next year was that big Heffelfinger has announced that he will probably take another year in the law school, and if he does he will undoubtedly be the captain.

STAGG'S NEW POSITION.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 28.—It now looks as though Alonzo J. Stagg, Yale's famous athlete, will not go to Chicago to assume charge of the Department of Athletics in Dr. Harp's University. Stagg, himself, is reported as having said that he has received a better offer from Yale, and that he will probably accept it. The establishment of a department of athletics is included in the scheme, and this, according to the report, will be carried out by the faculty as soon as they receive formal acceptance from Stagg. It is said that Stagg's work in coaching Yale's foot-ball champions prior to the recent big game, had something to do with the faculty's action.

BASE BALL.

Billy Joyce stated to a POST-DISPATCH representative yesterday that he did not sign a Chicago Association contract to play there next year. "I had a talk with Pfeffer over the matter, and he made me a splendid offer. I presume that he had previously notified the Boston Association management who, as is well known, have reserved me, and secured their consent to do so. My answer was the same as I gave to President Prince, namely: That I did not care to sign until next spring, when I think the business will be in a more settled condition than it is at present." From the above it can be seen that the Boston Association folks are afraid that Brooklyn will secure Joyce, and sooner than allow him to go to the League they have given their consent to Chicago making an effort to secure him. The Boston management would like to have Joyce play there, but do not like the idea of paying him what he demands, which is in all probability around the figure Brooklyn has offered him.

TAYLOR AND JENNINGS JUMP CONTRACTS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—First Baseman Taylor and Shortstop Jennings, late of the Louisville American Association Club, will play with the rejuvenated Gotham Giants next year despite the fact that they have both signed contracts with the Louisville Club. In a word, these two young men have deliberately jumped their contracts with the Association. They have yielded to the blandishments of the local management and their signed contracts are in the New York Club's strong box. Taylor and Jennings offer as an excuse for their desertion that the Louisville Club had changed owners and that they consider that they are justified in making the change. The New York directors will neither deny nor affirm the report that Taylor and Jennings have signed. But it is a fact nevertheless.

BASE BALL GOSSIP.

Frank Bancroft may be engaged to look after the financial interests of the Cincinnati club.

Billy Earle, the Sioux City catcher, has, it is said, signed with Washington. Anson was after him.

There is no solid reason why the League should oppose the Association in putting a club into Chicago.

Mike Kelly says he would have to play ball every day in the year to get enough money to keep him alive in England.

Jimmy Ryan, the Chicago League club outfielder, and Billy York are soon to go to St. Augustine, Fla., with a view of organizing a four-club league in that city, Gainesville and Jacksonville for the winter months.

Architect John Addison, who has been engaged to draw the plans for the stands of the new Association club, Chicago, during the days of the Players' League was President of the organization and was the designer of the South Side grounds, Chicago.

THE RING.

Though Ted Pritchard easily whipped Jem Smith, the mis-named "champion of England," as well as Jack Burke, "the Irish lad," he seems very much disinclined to tempt fate in an encounter with Bob Fitzsimmons, says Macon McCormick. He can get $10,000 if he can do "Lanky Bob" in this country, but up to date the cable does not report any movement on his part looking toward the purchase of a ticket for this land of the free and home of the brave. This week the story is revived that "Brooklyn Jimmy" Carroll intends sailing for England shortly for the purpose of meeting Mr. Pritchard before one of the London clubs, I know that Jimmy has a firm belief in his ability to best Mr. Pritchard, and he had made up his mind some time ago, as I announced in these columns, to go to England for the purpose, but he abandoned his trip for the time being when Jack McAuliffe went traveling with Hyde & Behman's show. Now we are told that McAuliffe intends giving up his $250 a week for the purpose of accompanying Carroll to England. I don't think McAuliffe is anybody's fool, and he would be very foolish, indeed, to give up his easy money snap. If Carroll is wise he will get some London club to hang up a $5,000 purse for his contest with Pritchard before he takes passage across the ocean. If he does not he may find it very difficult to get a big purse after his arrival in Albion. Our "English cousins are very fond of fistic sport, but they are very frugal in their ideas of payment therefor. One of the London clubs has just made haste to cable a contradiction of the story that in had offered $5,000 for a contest between Pritchard and Fitzsimmons, and I feel sure that Jimmy will find it very difficult to get as much offered for a "go" between himself and Ted, unless he plays his cards very cleverly before he leaves this country.

THE SLAVIN-JACKSON CONTEST.

"Parson" Davies feels absolutely certain that Peter Jackson will defeat Frank Slavin. He declares that the men are to fight with four-ounce gloves, which is just what Jackson wants. Then he says: "I will doubtless go over with Jackson about March, and I think it probable Lord Lonsdale who thinks a good deal of Peter, will allow him to spend a time on his estate, where Jackson will train. The change will do him good, and I don't doubt that he will be in fine condition to fight when the time comes. I don't believe in taking a man direct from an easy life and putting him into hard training. He should have some little time in which to build himself up. Jackson is confident about the result but never boasts about anything. He will do his best with Slavin and is not afraid of the latter at all. He can easily get into good trim, and I want him to be in the very best condition."

ACTON THROWS FITZSIMMONS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 28.—At the Occidental Club last night "Bob" Fitzsimmons and Joe Acton wrestled a catch-as-catch-can match for $1,000, the winner taking $750 and the loser $250. Fitzsimmons was a foot taller than Acton, but both weighed about 150 pounds. Fitzsimmons got the first fall, Acton winning the second and third and the match.

After this there was a fight to the finish between "Soldier" Davis and "Jack" Wilson, middleweights. It was a rather stubborn fight, both showing considerable science. Davis bled profusely. In the seventeenth round Wilson led and knocked his man out. Davis was badly punished.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

News has been received at San Francisco by steamer from Australia that George Dawson, the light-weight Australian champion, was knocked out in four rounds by Tom Williams of Melbourne.

Suit has been commenced in San Francisco against John L. Sullivan and John W. Barnett to secure the payment of a note of $1,460. This note was given to J. & C. McMahon in Melbourne, Australia, while Sullivan was there and no part of it has yet been paid.

The funeral of Dan Daly will take place to-morrow at 1:30 p. m. from the residence, 1518 Cass avenue, to St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church, and thence to Calvary Cemetery. There will be eight pall-bearers, selected from the most intimate friends of the deceased. The friends of the family have been invited to attend.

THE TURF.

Joseph B. Heideger, the well-known trainer of trotting horses, now in Germany, in an interesting letter to a friend in Pittsburg, says that the trotting season has closed in Germany. Joe states that he has made quite a good sum of money this year with his horses and had intended to visit Pittsburg during the winter, but he has such a large number of colts to attend to that he cannot possibly get away.

He has resolved to send Gipsy Queen, 2:19¼, back to this country, as she has done no good this season. Blue Bell, 2:21¼, Joe says, has won him lots of money. In his letter he adds that two [illegible] season, and next season American trainers will have to give the German trainers twenty-five meters start in every race where their horses compete against each other. The Germans claim that the Americans are too slick for them, and Joe says he can steal about twenty-five meters easily in any race.

THE LOCAL RACES.

An attendance of about 1,500 people were at the races at South Side Park yesterday afternoon. Favorites won in all but one race.

First race, selling purse, six furlongs—Mean Enough 103, first; John G. 112, second; John Morris 108, third. Time, 1:40.

Second race, purse, four furlongs—Col. Cox 122, first; Frank Lilly 122, second; Bald Eagle 117, third. Time, 1:03.

Third race, purse, six furlongs—John G. 110, first; Pat King 110, second; Envy 91, third. Time, 1:38.

Fourth race, selling, five furlongs—Hoodoo 97, first; Frank Lilly 100, second; St. Paul 103, third. Time, 1:18.

Fifth race, selling, four furlongs—Jack of Diamonds 91, first; Col. Cox 91, second; Warren Lewis 91, third. Time, 1:00.

AT GUTTENBERG.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The programme at Guttenberg held the attendance down considerably yesterday. The track was heavy and holding. The results were as folows:

First race, one mile—Catlan 111, first; Sir George II. 110, second; Peralto 116, third. Time, 1:44.

Second race, four and one-half furlongs—Hedge Rose 103, first; Mollie Davis 100, second; Knickknack filly 103, third. Time, :58½.

Third race, one mile—Esquimau 105, first; Bohemian 92, second; Granite 95, third. Time, 1:47½.

Fourth race, five furlongs—Tringle 86, first; Tormentor 115, second; Busteed 115, third. Time, 1:03.

Fifth race, six furlongs—Rialto 94, first; Tioga 119, second; Derango 108, third. Time, 1:18¾.

Sixth race, six and one-half furlongs—Onaway 117, first; Gloster 123, second; Florimor 112, third. Time, 1:26.

GLOUCESTER RACES.

GLOUCESTER, N. J., Nov. 28.—Yesterday's races at the Gloucester track resulted as follows:

First race, one mile—Charles Reed, first; Lancaster, second; Hot Scotch, third. Time, 1:54.

Second race, four and one-half furlongs—Pretender, first; Money Maid, second; Copeland, third. Time, :59¾.

Third race, seven-eighths of a mile—Bravo, first, Xenophon, second; Boodle, third. Time, 1:37¼.

Fourth race, one and one-eighth miles—The Forum, first; Sequel, second; Birthday, third. Time, 2:07¾.

Fifth race, four and one-half furlongs—Maid of Blarney, first; Censor, second; Hawkeye, third. Time, :59.

Sixth race, six and one-half furlongs—Repeater, first; Climax, second; Algonquin, third. Time, 1:28¼.

ON THE CHICAGO TRACK.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 28.—The results at Garfield Park yesterday were as follows:

First race, five furlongs—Profligate, first; Receiver, second; Diamond Dick, third. Time, 1:06¼.

Second race, one mile—Highland, first; Bankrupt, second; Adelina, third. Time, 1:51.

Third race, five furlongs—Katurah, first; Dolly Nobles, second; Queen Isabella, third. Time, 1:05¾.

Fourth race, four furlongs—Prince William, first; Bozelle, second; Sea Foam, third. Time, :52.

Fifth race, five furlongs—Lord Tom Himyar, first; Dan H., second: Pow Wow, third. Time, 1:06¼.

AT LEXINGTON.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 28.—George Brownfield, one of the best known trotting horsemen in Kentucky, died yesterday of heart disease. He had retired from the horse business some time ago and had invested in mines. He brought out the sire of Direct, the great pacer; Lulu May Queen, Roslyn and many other great ones.

Commodore Wilkes, the noted stallion, got out of his paddock yesterday at Lexington, Ky., and was kicked in the shoulder by a brood mare. The shoulder is badly fractured and may necessitate his being killed.

THE MANCHESTER HANDICAP.

MANCHESTER, Nov. 28.—The Manchester handicap of 1,315 pounds, cut course, one mile and six furlongs, was run to-day and won by Lily of Lumley, with Catarina second and Mme. D'Albany third.

TRACK TALK.

Winter racing still continues to be popular in the East.

Goodale still heads the list of winning jockeys at Garfield Park.

It looks as if there will be more money for horses to run for next year in this country than during any previous year.

The fast gray pacer Guy, 2:11¾, whom Gel Curry won so handsomely with in the Southwest, is owned by a Mississippi minister.

Frank B. Whipple, so many years manager of Algeria for the late Hon. W. L. Scott, will have a small and choice racing stable next year.

John A. Logan, Jr., and Chauncey Andrews have sent a man to Italy to pay $40,000 or more for Atlantic, 2:18½, bought five years ago from J. Davis of West Williamsfield, O., by Andy Welch for $3,400 and sold to Italians by Welch for $17,000.

There is a boom in the price of thoroughbred stallions all over the world, apparently, for it is reported that Mr. Hordern has refused £20,000 for Nordenfeldt, one of the best of Musket's sons, and winner of the Victoria Derby and the Australian Jockey Club Derby of 1885.

GO AS YOU PLEASE CONTEST.

Prof. Bill Clark says that he has secured nearly all the best men in the country for his professional six days go-as-you-please contest to be given at the Natatorium from Monday, Dec. 21, to Saturday, Dec. 26, inclusive. The following is a list of the men and their best records, whom Mr. Clark states have already agreed to participate:

John A. Glick, record 532 miles; Dan Herty, 605; Peter Hegelman, 526: H. O. Messler, 526; Wm. Nolan, 478; Thos. Cox, 478; Orie Moore, 553; Wm. A. Smith, 500; D. K. Bennett, 548; Gus Guerrero, 589; John Hughes, 568; George Cartwright, 546; George D. Noremac, 566; Frank H. Hart, 565; Peter Golden, 538; Thos. Howarth, 540; George Connors, 536; Martin Horan, 500; J. J. Engledrum, 450; Old Sport Campana, 510; J. S. Harriman, 520; Norman Taylor, 450. The last named is 61 years old, being a rival of "Old Sport" in that particular. In order to make the contest interesting, each man will have to cover over five hundred miles in order to share in the receipts.

SPORTING NOTES.

At a meeting of the Gambrinus Bowling Club the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: F. J. Dauscha, President, and F. W. Meyer, Secretary and Treasurer.

Funds are being raised in London to train and send James Smart, the champion professional skater of England, to Norway to compete against the champions of that country.

Joe Donaghue, the champion amateur skater, will not make a European trip this season. Fredericksen, Pauschin and Norseng are expected to visit this country this season.

Sam Baldwin is to be the manager of Mussey's old billiard room on Fourth and Pine streets, which is to be reopened by Bookmaker Billy Magrane, under the title of the Jewel Billiard Hall.

The tug-of-war tournament will commence this evening at the Natatorium, on Nineteenth and Pine streets. The order in which the teams will meet to-night is as follows: America vs. Switzerland, Scotland vs. France, Bohemia vs. Italy, and Ireland vs. Germany. The contests will begin at 8 p. m.

Capt. McClung of Yale says of Saturday's game: "It was the cleanest and prettiest exhibition of foot-ball I have ever seen—without a bit of brutality. The credit for Yale's brilliant work is due to the coachers, who have been so faithful. Yale's men were not the Harvard players' equals physically. It was their team work, drilled in accordance to Yale system, that has redeemed last year's result."

Mr. George S. Rhodes, who has been named as referee of the Tug of War match at the Natatorium, stated this morning that the announcement was made without his sanction, as he is unable to act under a recent resolution of the Western Association of Amateur Athletes, of which he is an officer, which resolution forbids members to act for any contest not authorized by or conducted under the auspices of a club in the association.

The Social Problem.

The lecturer of the Ethical Society has been making a study of a few of the opinions of some of the prominent labor leaders this last season. In order to get at their opinions more thoroughly, instead of taking them by hearsay he sought interviews with them, and where he could not reach them by that method submitted questions to them by correspondence. He found that a number of them were most cordial in expressing themselves. Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation of Labor in New York gave him quite a long interview on trades' unionism. "Tommy" Morgan, the famous Socialist of Chicago gave him his views of the questions of the day from the standpoint of socialism. Henry George and Father McGlynn were also seen and talked to in New York. Tom Mann, the great labor leader of London, answered the questions thoughtfully, as did also Father Huntington and Rev. Heber Newton in this country. The lecturer is going to describe these interviews and correspondence, as material for general information in his address to-morrow (Sunday) morning at 11 o'clock at Memorial Hall, Nineteenth and Lucas place. He has extended a general invitation to all persons who may care for such knowledge to be present to listen to the address.

The Prohibitionists.

A meeting of Prohibitionists and W. C. T. U. members will be held at 619 Chestnut street Friday, Nov. 27, to meet Mr. D. Ward King, Chairman of the State Committee of the Prohibition party, and to confer as to future action to promote the cause. Mr. King is State organizer for the party, and this meeting will be held at his request. Upon invitation of the National Chairman the matter of what inducements St. Louis can offer the National Committee to call the National Prohibition Convention of 1892 in this city will be considered.

HIDING IN ST. LOUIS.

Charles Clark, Alias Coleman, the Noted Safe-Blower, Is Here.

HE HAS BEEN SEEN AND RECOGNIZED ON THE STREETS.

The Man Who, in All Probability, Is Responsible for the Safe-Robberies Now Puzzling the Police—The Man Who Robbed the East St. Louis Treasury Vault.

For several weeks past a series of skillful and successful safe-breaking robberies has baffled the efforts of the St. Louis police to discover or bring to justice the perpetrators of the crimes.

The safe-blowing began suddenly, after a long lapse of time, during which that particular form of robbery had been unknown in St. Louis. Successful safe-blowing is the most dangerous shape that burglary in its many serious phases assumes, and with its sudden and unexpected revival in St. Louis the best talent of the detective and police force was at once put to work to run down the man or men who were practicing it.

So far these efforts have been in vain. Besides the self-evident fact that some prominent and daring criminal had invaded St. Louis and inaugurated the revival of "safe-blowing" as a local fine art, the police have discovered nothing.

Yet the POST-DISPATCH is to-day enabled to make the startling statement that for at least two weeks past one of the most famous safe-blowers in America has been in hiding in St. Louis, partially disguised, but nevertheless easily recognizable, and that the safe-blowing in St. Louis began significantly with the arrival in this city of this distinguished leader in that finest art of the professional burglar of the higher order.

The man's name is Charles Clark, alias Coleman, and he is the same expert who was imported from Chicago several years ago to rob the safe of the City Clerk of East St. Louis, a "conspiracy crime" for which Lieut. Duffy of the East St. Louis police and Pat Egan have since suffered conviction and imprisonment.

Two months ago Clark escaped from the San Quentin (Cal.) jail, where he was serving a term for safe-blowing. Three weeks ago at Denver, Colo., he robbed Geo. W. Cook, General Manager of the Colorado Coal & Iron Co., of $5,000 worth of diamonds, was seen and inentified by an old St. Louis police officer now in Denver, escaped, and is still wanted for that crime.

MET HIS FORMER ATTORNEY.

Two weeks ago he appeared in St. Louis, and Thursday or Friday of last week he was met on Olive street, near Seventh, in front of the Delicatessen restaurant by Mr. Marshall F. McDonald, the lawyer who had defended and saved him from punishment for the robbery of the East St. Louis Treasury safe. He was recognized by Mr. McDonald and recognized that gentleman, stopping and talking with his former counsel for some moments, but without giving any very definite account of himself. On Tuesday or Wednesday of this week Mr. McDonald states that he in turn notified one of the oldest detectives on the St. Louis force of the meeting with Clark, but that since that time the police have apparently been unable to locate the famous safe blower.

Clark is well known to every old police officer of every city in the Union, and his photograph is now in the possession of the Finlay Secret Service Agency and also adorns the Rogues' Gallery at [illegible]. McDonald states that it should be an easy matter to identify him on the streets despite the fact that Clark has sought to change his appearance by growing heavy sideburns. Mr. McDonald describes the famous safe-blower as follows: A man just above the medium height, with dark side-whiskers cut a la Talmage, dark hair, light complexion, and of heavy build, weighing probably 185 pounes. When met and spoken to by Mr. McDonald, Clark was elegantly dressed, and his former lawyer states that he could easily be mistaken for a minister or a staid, well-to-do banker or business man. At the time of that meeting Clark was also accompanied by a companion whom Mr. McDonald describes as a smaller man, with light complexion, freckled face and sandy hair. The companion was unknown to Lawyer McDonald.

CLARK'S RECORD.

If Charles Clark alias Coleman is not marking his stay in St. Louis by the series of successful safe robberies that have so significantly occurred since he appeared here, he is going square back on the record that he has established at every point he has visited for years past. When he left St. Louis after the sensational safe robbery in East St. Louis he went West, and starting from the line of the British possessions he perpetrated a series of successful safe burglaries that extended from British America as far south as Mexico. He was captured and served one term in the San Quentin jail. He was afterwards recaptured, and again sentenced for other robberies to the San Quentin jail, from which, as stated, he escaped about two months ago. These facts Attorney McDonald has learned from St. Louis friends of the distinguished criminal. Clark's favorite resorts in St. Louis used to be in the neighborhood of Nineteenth and Biddle streets.

In addition to the suspicious facts of the safe burglaries that have occurred in St. Louis since his arrival here, there is also a reward of $500 offered for his apprehension by the Denver authorities for the robbery of the $5,000 worth of diamonds from General Manager George W. Cook of the Colorado Coal & Iron Co. He is also implicated in a series of gigantic robberies along the line of the Frisco Railroad, and is wanted for robbing the safe of Barley Bros. at Sedalia, Mo., at the time when Officer Fifer killed an accomplice of his in that robbery.

Clark has always stood in the front rank of dangerous burglars of national reputation, owing both to his skill and daring and to a gentlemanly manner and habit of dressing finely that gives him the appearance of anything but a criminal. Strange to say, also, the great safe-blower is stated by Mr. McDonald, who knows a great deal about his life history, to be a graduate of Yale College.

Following the burglary of the East St. Louis Treasurer's safe, Clark was captured at Springfield, Ill. He was brought back, taken to Belleville, kept away from his attorney, and a false confession was extorted from him, clearing the guilty East St. Louis officials, apparently, of any connection with his crime. He afterwards told a straight story, however, which was supported by other evidence, proving that he had been brought from Chicago to rob the safe for the express purpose of concealing a heavy official defalcation. Marshall McDonald prosecuted the East St. Louis officials, but had already been retained to defend Clark, and did so. At that time Clark's wife was in St. Louis, but has since left.

A STRANGE COINCIDENCE.

The fact that such a noted criminal, for whose capture for a recent crime a reward of $500 is out, has been in St. Louis during a series of safe burglaries having all the marks of his handiwork, is startlingly significant.

It is reasonable to assume that the coincidence of his arrival in St. Louis simultaneously with the beginning of that series of successful safe burglaries is a good deal more than a coincidence. With his capture, the safe-burglaries in St. Louis would probably cease with the same strange significance as they began.

Suit to Annul a Deed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A suit has been begun in the Supreme Court by the Fifth National Bank of Pittsburg, Pa., to set aside certain deeds given by John Robinson and his wife, Mary, to Armstrong Bros. & Co. of Pittsburg. Robinson lives at Fort Hamilton. He was a member of the firm of John Robinson & Co., importers of corks, at No. 46 Murray street. The complaint in the suit alleges that Armstrong Bros. obtained a judgment against Robinson for $10,264. They were unable to collect the claim and took a deed to thirteen acres of land at Fort Hamilton, said to be worth $60,000. On the contrary, they allege that the land was valueless, and they want the deed set aside. It is also alleged that Robinson made an assignment in May, 1891, when he gave his assets at a little over $2,000,000, while the real value is only a little over $700,000 and his liabilities are $312,486.

TERRIBLE ITCHING

Used Everything Five Months. In Three Weeks not a Scar or Pimple. Cured by Cuticura.

When my baby was three months old his cheeks and forehead began to break out with white pimples on red surface. In a few days itching commenced, which was terrible. After he would rub it, matter would ooze from the points. In a short time it spread over the top of his head, then scabs soon formed on head and face. We used everything we could hear of for nearly five months. It grew worse all the time. I saw your advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the "Chicago Weekly." We purchased CUTICURA REMEDIES and commenced their use. In three weeks' time there was not a sore or pimple, not even a scar, on head or face. He is nineteen months old now, and has no sign of the disease. His scalp is healthy and he has a beautiful head of hair. (See portrait herewith.)

MRS. OSCAR JAMES, Woodston, Kan.

My infant, 18 months old, was afflicted with skin eruptions on his hips. Bad sores came on other parts. All remedies failed until I procured CUTICURA. Cured a year and no return of disease.

"THE LEAVENWORTH CASE."

Joseph Haworth Scores a Brilliant Success—The Play and Performance.

The performance of "The Leavenworth Case" at the Hagan is chiefly notable for a brilliant and finely sustained piece of emotional acting by Joseph Haworth.

Mrs. Green deserves much credit for her dramatization of her novel. The play is constructed with an excellent degree of skill, and the interest in the unraveling of the plot is thoroughly and absorbingly maintained. The development of the story, however, practically exhausts the popular and interesting elements of the play. The love interest is unsympathetic and unattractive. There is a failure on the part of the dramatist to lay a solid foundation for the conduct of Harwell. His motive is perhaps strong enough, but the reason for his crime is shadowy and illogical. There is a lack also of distinct and entertaining characterization in the treatment of the subsidiary roles.

There are crude points in the play, but none of them present serious faults.

The strong virile element in the drama is the part of Harwell, the murderer, and admirable skill is shown in the treatment of the play with reference to developing subtlety of design and intensity of emotion on his part. After the premise of murder is granted, the conclusion follows through a logical and absorbing emotional process and with irresistible force.

The possibilities of the part are finely brought out by Mr. Haworth. From the resolution to commit murder to the confession of the crime he depicts the haunted, remorseful, fear-stricken criminal with a vividness, force and impressiveness which enthralls attention. His work is charged with mentality, intensity and magnetism. He moulds out of the common-place murderer a type of crime and its consequent horrors.

The support is uneven, Miss Kidder makes the most of the narrowly limited and thankless part of Mary Leavenworth. Miss Marian Abbott must be credited with quiet and effective work in good taste and spirit as Elleanor Leavenworth. Intelligent bits of work are contributed by Misses Lotta Keith and Anna McVeigh. The men of the company range from indifferent to bad with the exception of Mr. Drouet as Raymond, who succeeds in giving a creditable performance. Mr. Lawrence presents a most improbable detective, and Mr. Daily's Thomas has a suggestion of farce-comedy in make up and action.

The staging of the play affords proof of the resources of the Hagan. The scenery is both appropriate and artistic. Several of the sets from the brush of Mr. Thompson are exceptionally attractive.

NOT IN EUROPE

William Henry Hurlburt Has Not Crossed the Ocean.

A Warrant for His Arrest Awaits His Arrival in England.

THE CHAIN OF EVIDENCE IN THE HANDS OF EVELYN'S LAWYERS.

Perjury Said to Be the Charge Upon Which the New Action is Based—Probable Date of the Dissolution of the English Parliament—Balfour's Prediction as to Local Government in Ireland—British Topics.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Interest is very keen in London as to the whereabouts of Mr. W. H. Hurlburt. The newspapers refer to the issue of a warrant for his arrest, without mentioning names, but the references are so cleverly worded as to leave no doubt whatever as to the person intended. There is every reason to believe that Mr. Hurlburt received private information as to the result of the inquiries directed by the Solicitor-General before information that the warrant had been issued was allowed to leak out here.

The severe commentss of the judge when they refused Miss Gladys Evelyns appeal for a new trial, saying that either Miss Evelyn or Mr. Hurlburt had committed a most audacious perjury and that suspicion was resting equally on both until the matter was cleared up, made it almost obligatory for the crown prosecutor to investigate the matter.

The result of the inquiries it is said establishest a complete chain of evidence of Mr. Hurlburt's intrigue with Miss Evelyn even down to the occupation of apartments in Seymour street for a few months before the expose.

Miss Evelyn was summoned to Bow Street last Monday and was compelled to swear to an affidavit containing the allegations upon which the warrant was issued. An application was made at Bow Street to see a copy of the warrant, or to ascertain exactly on what charge it was issued. It was refused, but the charge is probably perjury only, without making any reference to the inciting to a violation of the laws against public decency, as suggested in the obscene letters ascribed to "Wilfred Murray."

An application to the Solicitor-General for information about the details of the warrant was equally unsuccessful, although he said particularly that he did not wish to be understood as denying that a warrant was in existence. Miss Evelyn's solicitors profess to be furious at the premature publication of the news, lest it should keep Mr. Hurlburt away and defeat the personal purposes they have in view. However, there is every reason to believe that Mr. Hurlburt was fully informed for some time past, as to what was in the wind. He never intended to return to England. His hoouse in De Vere Gardens was rented furnished for one year from last month.

It has been cabled that Hurlburt had landed or would soon land at Queenstown. There is no truth in these reports. No one in London can be found who has any tidings of his whereabouts.

Readers will remember that the case of Miss Gladys Evelyn against Wm. Henry Hurlburt was tried before Justice Cave and a special jury in London in June last. The action was brought by Miss Evelyn for alleged breach of promise of marriage. After a trial lasting seven days a verdict was rendered for the defendant, and the appeal was dismissed with cost.

The case excited widespread interest. The defense rested on the existence of a man who called himself Wilfred Murray, and who, Mr. Hurlburt said, had been for many years his private secretary. The only evidence of the existence of any such person as Wilfred Murray was a couple of letters, dated many years back, which bore that signature, and the statement of a servant and club porter that Mr. Hurlburt had received occasional visits from a person who called himself Rollings. The theory of the defense was that this man was identical with the missing Murray whose whereabouts Mr. Hurlburt declared himself unable to discover.

Mr. Hurlburt made an absolute denial of having made any promise to marry Miss Evelyn. He said that he had been taken to see her by the man who was working for him as his secretary, and having heard her recite he gave her a letter to Wilson Barrett. He denied having written certain letters couched in vulgar language.

While the verdict of the jury fully exonerated Mr. Hurlburt from the charge of having deceived the plaintiff under promise of marriage, it left the identity of Wilfred Murray in doubt.

Miss Evelyn, in her statement, said she met Mr. Hurlburt in an omnibus; that an intimacy sprang up between them; that they lived together as man and wife at numerous places and that he promised her marriage, she knowing that he was already married. She produced about 150 letters which she said Mr. Hurlburt had written.

The handwriting closely resembled his. They were extremely indecent. The plaintiff had known Mr. Hurlburt under the name of Wilfred Murray, but Mr. Hurlburt declared that there was a real Wilfred Murray, though he couldn't find him, and contended that he was the author of the letters to the plaintiff.

THE HURLBURTS MISSING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Where is William Henry Hurlburt, and where, too, is Mrs. Hurlburt? Mr. Hurlburt has been missing for several days. Now his wife has disappeared. The most persistent inquiries in New York, Boston and other places have failed to elicit any information about the gentleman. Scotland Yard detectives are waiting for Mr. Hurlburt at Queenstown, but it is surmised that he is on his way to England.

Miss Gladys Evelyn, the actress who sued the aged litterateur for breach of promise of marriage, gave information at the Bow Street Police Court last Monday which resulted in the issuance of warrants for his arrest. Miss Evelyn swore that she was in possession of proof that Mr. Hurlburt wrote the letters sent to her and signed "Wilfred Murray."

He has been stopping at the Lenox House, Fifth avenue and Thirteenth street, with his wife but has not been there for a week. Mrs. Hurlburt said on Thursday that he had gone to Boston on business, but would return in a day or two. Mrs. Hurlburt denied herself to reporters and maintained an
